HOMES QUIZ LAUNCHED

Hoover Hopes to Spur Building

Commission Named to Boost Supply of Capital and Reduce Costs

President Wants to Raise Standard of Dwellings for All Classes

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (Exclusive) — President Hoover launched an undertaking today to provide the American people with more and better homes.

He announced the organization of a nation-wide investigation to accomplish these objects:

(1.) To increase the supply of capital available for home building.

(2.) To reduce the cost of financing the building and purchase of dwellings on the installment payment plan.

(3.) To bring within reach of the most modest means homes of artistic design equipped with every comfort and convenience.

STANDARDS TO RISE

The President looks to the results of this inquiry to point the way to removal of the cause of the present stringency of capital for home building which is aggravating the business depression. He envisages the project as an important economic reform that will raise the American standard of living another notch and go far toward alleviating the present and future periods of hard times.

Mr. Hoover announced the undertaking at the semiweekly meeting with newspaper correspondents, prefacing his statement with the laughing remark that he is appointing another commission.

PRIVATELY FINANCED

The inquiry, which will be privately financed, will be made by what will be known officially as the "White House Conference on Home Building and Home Ownership." It will be organized by a planning committee of which Secretary of Commerce Lamont will be chairman, and the other members of which will be the heads of the American Civic Association, American Farm Bureau Federation, American Federation of Labor, American Home Economics Association, American Institute of Architects, Associated General Contractors, Association of Life Insurance Presidents, Better Homes in America, Chamber of Commerce of the United States, General Federation of Women's Clubs, National Association of Builders' Exchanges, National Association of Real Estate Boards, National Congress of Parents and Teachers, National Farmers' Union, National Grange, Russell Sage Foundation, savings bank division of the American Bankers' Association, United States League of Building and Loan Associations, and the Women's National Farm and Garden Association.

This planning committee will create subcommittees for the study of the question in all its phases in every part of the country.

Mr. Hoover said that the conference will deal comprehensively with the broad question of home con-

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Aug. 1. [To the Editor of The Times:] The Farm Board bought wheat and wheat went down. Now they say if they had left it alone it would have gone up. The stock market climbed for years on paying no dividends, but just selling it to the next fellow at a higher price. Somebody happened to think about dividends and the thing blew up, so they blamed Hoover for somebody demanding dividends. So now let's get this heat thing straightened out. Herbert Hoover is responsible for this; you wouldn't have caught Calvin allowing heat like this. So give us a man that can give us a breeze.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

CAMP PRYOR (Del Monte) Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—The voice of the red-headed boy colonel slashed the stillness like the swish of a saber: "Pa-a-a-ss in review!"

At the right of the long khaki line the drum major raised his baton, the big bass horn went "umpah umpah" — the band blared into a [illegible]. The big drab line broke into column of fours, then swept into column of platoons as 2000 legs flashed past the reviewing officer like a machine on cog wheels. Six companies of infantry; a pause—then, the machine guns with big black Missouri mules, groomed until they shone like ebony, gay ribbons fluttering from their guidons in token of their honors as a prize-winning unit. Behind the machine guns came the cavalry; three bay troops with sabers darting hot flashes in the afternoon sun, at their head a mounted cavalry band with jet black horses and white saddle blankets and a silver kettle-drum so elegant it suggested a durbar.

A long gap—then a battery of field artillery with foam-flecked horses breaking into a spanking

BOMB SNARL INCREASES

Woman Witness Tangles Case

Billings Hearing Recessed Until Monday Amidst New Confusion

Nurse Gives Complicated Motives for Surprise Testimony

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—In a flood of words which attorneys and Supreme Court justices alike found difficulty in stopping long enough to approximate coherency, Estelle Smith, latest entrant in the Mooney-Billings repudiation contest, today added new recantations and undeniable confusion to the case.

A sigh of relief swept the courtroom when Miss Smith left the witness stand and a recess was announced until next Monday morning, when she is due for a cross-examination.

Meanwhile Gov. Young will consider the John MacDonald evidence as it concerns Thomas J. Mooney, in San Quentin for the last fourteen years because of the 1916 Preparedness Day parade bombing. It was announced on behalf of the Governor that he and the advisory pardon board will listen to MacDonald, recanter No. 1, at Sacramento, tomorrow.

STATEMENTS CONFUSED

As before, the Governor's attitude is expected to reflect the recommendation of the Supreme Court, which will follow the present rehearing on the Billings pardon application.

Miss Smith already had startled the justices and attorneys by asserting Billings told her he was engaged the day of the explosion in damaging automobiles by squirting acid on them, and had nothing to do with the bomb which killed ten persons and wounded two-score.

Today she added three more statements which attracted attention:

First, she said she was offered $10,000 by Frank Oxman, bomb-case witness later tried for perjury but acquitted, to testify against Thomas J. Mooney, charged like Billings, and refused.

Second, she repudiated in part the affidavit secured in 1920 by Fremont Older, newspaper editor. The affidavit said the man in her office Preparedness Day might have been Billings's "double." Today she said she was sure it was Billings.

DOPE USE DENIED

Third, she denied the implication in the affidavit that morphine made her mentally incompetent during the Billings trial. She admitted that during the trial she was using a cough medicine containing morphine, but declared the quantity was too small for a nerve sedative.

The witness asserted her health now is excellent, that she does not use drugs, does not smoke or drink, and "lifted a 100-pound sack of sugar the other day." She is married, said her husband was "an army officer," but declined to reveal his address.

Besides Miss Smith, the only witness today was Arthur Hextrum, insurance broker, who was a policeman at the time of the bombing. He testified he knew MacDonald, before and after the explosion, as a newspaper hawker along Kearny street. Following the explosion, he said, MacDonald told him about it, describing the men he claimed to have seen with the fatal suitcase, and the incidents which connected in MacDonald's mind the suitcase, the two men who conferred about it, and the bombing. Hextrum was unable to remember anything in detail but he disposed of a question regarding his judgment those years ago by saying he had not taken MacDonald to police headquarters to make a statement because MacDonald already had been there.

BILLINGS SCORES

Edwin V. McKenzie, attorney for Billings, counted another point scored for his client when he obtained a statement from Hextrum that MacDonald was so excited Hextrum thought he was exaggerating the situation and placed little reliability in his assertions.

Miss Smith had some difficulty in convincing her auditors her pres-

Young Rhode Island Descendant of Roger Williams Wins College Course on Showing in Quiz

WEST ORANGE (N. J.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Arthur O. Williams, Jr., of East Providence, R. I., a descendant of Roger Williams founder of Rhode Island, today embarked on a four-year career as a protege of Thomas A. as A. Edison.

Young Williams, who was graduated from East Providence High School a few weeks ago as valedictorian of his class, was selected for this honor out of forty-nine boys, representing the forty-eight States and the District of Columbia, because he answered most satisfactorily a list of questions asked by Mr. Edison yesterday.

"Williams was so far ahead of all the rest that there could never be any doubt about it at all," Charles Edison, the inventor's son, said today. "His general information is surprising, and his answers to the technical questions were practically perfect. He is a remarkable boy."

FOUR-YEAR COURSE

The winner is entitled to a four-year course in any college he may wish to enter, with Mr. Edison paying all his expenses. His first impulse, after learning he had won, was to plan to enter Massachusetts Institute of Technology, where Wilber Huston of Seattle, last year's winner, is a student. After thinking it over a little, however, he wasn't quite so sure.

"I want to study physics," he said, "and, of course, I'll want to go where I can get the very best instruction in that subject. I'll have to talk things over with my folks and with Mr. Edison before I decide.

"I'd planned to go to Brown, because it's in Providence, and I could live at home. But now, of course, I can go anywhere."

ANSWERS WITHHELD

On advice of a representative of his benefactor, Arthur decided not to reveal his answers to any of Mr. Edison's questions, although Mr. Edison himself discussed them freely today and admitted he hadn't thought out the answer to at least one of them.

Arthur, a good-looking lad 17 years of age, freckled, with gray eyes and dark hair, was, in addition to valedictorian, president of his high-school class. His particular hobby, he said today, is physics, but he also is interested in stage lighting, with a view to producing the greatest possible emotional reactions in modernistic productions. He hasn't yet decided what particular

RAIL LINE TO DAM SITE CONTRACTED

Los Angeles-Salt Lake Railway to Build Road to Boulder Project

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6. (AP)—Construction of the railroad which will carry materials for building the $165,000,000 Boulder Canyon Dam project was contracted for today by the Department of the Interior and will begin at once.

Acting Secretary Dixon signed a contract with the Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad, a subsidiary of the Union Pacific, for thirty miles of track from its main line near Las Vegas, Nev., to the dam site. A portion estimated to cost $1,600,000 of the approximate total of $2,500,000 will be built at government expense, the balance at the cost of the railroad.

The railroad will build and operate 22.39 miles of the railroad from Las Vegas to the summit of the canyon. At the summit it will build one-third of a mile of track for a delivery yard with the government to pay 10 per cent of the construction cost, and one-half of maintenance, repair and renewal costs. It will also build the 7.13 miles of railroad down into the canyon from the summit at government expense, with 10 per cent to be paid to the railroad in addition.

The last seven miles of the road to the dam site, which with the delivery yard is estimated to cost $1,600,000, probably will be a cog railway, necessitated by the precipitous grades leading down to the canyon.

Board Reports on Colorado

Mexico Allocated 750,000 Acre Feet of Water as Maximum

Treaty on "Principle" for Division Urged and Levee Co-operation Favored

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—Recognition of Mexico's right to perpetual use of 750,000 acre feet of water out of the Colorado River was recommended to Congress today in the long-awaited report of the International Water Commission.

This promised amount, it was stated, represents the "greatest amount heretofore used in one year" on the Mexican side of the international boundary and "is all that it is believed the United States should concede."

However, the commission said further efforts should be made to get a general treaty agreement with Mexico upon a "principle" to govern division of the waters of the Colorado, the Rio Grande, and the Tia Juana River as well and hinted that after such a treaty has been entered into it might be possible to allocate additional water to the southern republic for future development of its portion of the Colorado basin. But pending a full agreement, the commission believes the United States should stand firm on 750,000 acre feet so far as the Colorado River is concerned, and serve official notice on Mexico that this is to be her share.

MEXICO WILL BENEFIT

It was emphasized that the Colorado is almost wholly an American river, that Mexico will naturally have full use of the surplus flow and that construction of Boulder Dam will benefit Mexico through elimination of floods and through year-round regulation of the stream.

The report also recommended international co-operation for a levee control system from Laguna Dam in the United States to the mouth of the Colorado in Mexico.

The members of the International Water Commission which disbanded several weeks ago, were Dr. Elwood Mead, Commissioner of Reclamation, chairman; Gen. Lansing H. Beach, U.S.A., retired, of California, and W. E. Anderson of Texas. Their report was filed amid conflicting rumors as to what the ultimate division of Colorado River water with Mexico may be.

RUMOR INVOLVES MORROW

According to some reports, Ambassador Morrow at Mexico City has been hatching a scheme whereby the United States would give Mexico half the water of the river and then buy it back to enable Mexico to obtain funds to settle $750,000,000 of her debts to this country. This would apparently mean that Boulder Dam would assume the burden of paying off Mexico's debts and seems so preposterous as to warrant no credence.

Yet Representative Swing of California formally protested against such a plan which he heard was being discussed and yesterday Senator King of Utah went to the White House to tell President Hoover that if any such negotiations are under way they should be dropped. King also wrote a letter on the subject to Secretary of State Stimson.

Another report has been that the international commission would recommend that Lower California, Mexico, be purchased by the United States as the means of settling for all time the dispute about Colorado River water. Representative Swing, coauthor of the Boulder Dam Act, eagerly embraced this rumor and recalled that the California Legislature some years ago memorialized Congress urging the acquisition of this new territory.

WORK COMPLETED

Some eastern newspapers have carried Washington dispatches to the effect the members of the water commission resigned because

RIDDLE OVER RICHES SOLVE

Hundred-Million-Dollar Wendel Estate in New Yo Metropolis will be Given to Charity

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (NANA)—The riddle of the ultimate disposi of the vast residuary estate of the Wendel family, richest of Manhatt land owners, has been answered. The bulk of the great fortune, excee ing $100,000,000, is to be distributed eventually to charity.

This was disclosed today with the filing for probate of the will of Mrs. Rebecca Wendel Swope, who died July 20. The immediate heir is the sole survivor of the Wendel family, Miss Ella V. Von E. Wendell. It is upon her death that the residuary estate is to go chiefly to charity.

There has been deep interest in the disposition of the Wendel millions not only because of the immensity of the fortune, but because of the eccentricity of the family. The Wendel riches were founded by John G. Wendel, a contemporary of John Jacob Astor. His profits as a fur trader Wendel put into New York real estate, with the stipulation that none of this property was ever to be sold. Its value increased magically.

John G. Wendel was the grandfather of the present solitary representative of the Wendel family, Miss Ella Wendel. Eighty years of age, she still follows the styles of the days of her youth. And her home continues to be the shuttered mansion at Fifth avenue and Th ty-ninth street, a house which been pointed out by bus-me phone men to thousands of visit to New York. The story ran t the Wendels had refused $1,000, for a little strip of yard be the house because they needed to exercise their dog.

The charities to share in residuary estate follow:

Nearly 450 of the 719 passengers who returned to this port today aboard the Cunarder California, completing such a cruise, with Halifax, N. S., the only port of call, shunned throughout the excursion the beverages forbidden under the Volstead Act.

SEA "LUNG" SAVES INVENTOR

Lieut. Momsen and Three Film Men on Submarine Cheat Death in Gas-Filled Chamber

NEW LONDON (Ct.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Lieut. Charles B. Momsen, United States Navy, and three film men today were saved from possible death by asphyxiation in a sealed compartment of the submerged submarine S-4 by the new artificial "lung" of which Momsen is co-inventor.

The four men were trapped for fifteen minutes in a gas-filled chamber of the submarine but all escaped without ill effects through quick use of the "lung." They went down in the submarine this afternoon to a depth of forty-five feet to take pictures of the escape from the submerged craft of ten men through an emergency escape hatch.

As each of the ten left the submarine a certain amount of water poured into the compartment so that when only Lieut. Momsen and the cameramen were left the water in the compartment came to the level of their waists. A sudden lurch of the submarine tilted the craft to such an angle that the water flooded batteries used for the film cameras, resulting in the release of chlorine gas.

By donning the "lungs" the four men were able to withstand the gas until the water could be forced from the compartment and the craft brought to the surface.

The three in the compartment in addition to Lieut. Momsen were Claude R. Collins, film director; John Bockhorst, cameraman, and Arthur Fernandez, in charge of sound apparatus. Fernandez was partly overcome but suffered no permanent ill effects.

reat Hole Torn in Fabric Still Can be Seen

ST. HUBERT AIRPORT (Montreal) Aug. 1. (AP)—The British dirigible R-100, a sailor home safe from the sea, swung gently at her mooring mast tonight, behind her 3500 miles of epic voyage that almost ended in disaster.

Speeding down the St. Lawrence River Valley last night, just 150 miles from St. Hubert's mast and safety, the mighty air voyager was struck by a "cyclonic current" that hurled it 2500 feet straight upward and tore a great hole in her fragile [illegible].

The damage was repaired and the airship proceeded slowly into Montreal, anchoring at her mast at [illegible] a.m., just seventy-eight hours and fifty-one minutes after taking off from Cardington, Eng., on her flight to the new world.

BRUSH WITH DEATH

Officers, told that they were talking for publication, made light of the danger encountered. The men, less constrained, spoke more free-

Over the other side of Quebec, they said, a strong upcurrent of cyclonic force caught the R-100 and hurled it practically standing on its nose, for almost 2500 feet in less than half a minute.

It was during that terrific moment, when all aboard "just crossed their fingers and waited," that a strip of fabric about fifteen by six feet was ripped from the port fin, leaving a hole as big as a barn door into the great envelope, exposing the intricate interior of the greatest airship ever built to the fury of the storm.

REPAIR WORK PERILOUS

The men scoffed at the suggestion that there had been no serious danger and pointed for evidence to the rude patch that but partially closed the jagged opening and almost covered the fluttering tatters of the airship's torn "skin."

They said that from late afternoon until midnight, Assistant Coxswains G. E. Long and L. A. Mon[illegible], with a crew of sixteen men, including every rigger aboard, worked out on the stripped skeleton of the damaged fin, clinging to the metal frame above the waters of the St. Lawrence, and finally stopped the largest opening with a patch of spare fabric.

Even then not all the holes were covered and today, as the great ship swung easily at the great mooring mast in the soft sunshine, hundreds of visitors stood underneath and gazed upward at a still-uncovered opening a few feet distant from the sagging patch over the larger tear.

STORMS DODGED

During the hours that the riggers and other members of the crew were bending all their efforts to closing the gap in the side of the R-100, the ship was dodging about the sky between thunderstorms and at a time even drifting backward as the engines were stopped, either in an effort to make the repair men's task easier, or in fear that further breasting of the wind until repairs were made might increase the damage already done.

There were still five tons of fuel aboard the R-100 when she came on to the mast here.

The most valuable thing learned on the trip, the officers believed, was that the airship was the most [illegible] means of transportation on the course over the North [illegible] they regarded as the most [illegible] for commercial use if larger [illegible] used.

SEVERE TEST

"It was a very good test of the [illegible]ility," Sir Dennistoun Burney, designer of the craft, said. "We ran into one of your thunderstorms last night and rose to 4000 feet to get out of it.

"The chief benefit we derived from the trip was experience. We [illegible] flights to gain the experience in handling lighter-than-air

"The most impressive thing about [illegible] is this: On Monday night [illegible] entertained a party at dinner. If [illegible] been lucky at the latter end of the trip we would have been here in time for dinner last night."

Maj. Scott, captain of the first British airship to fly, inventor of the Air Ministry's method of airship mooring, and one of the greatest of lighter-than-air experts, has developed a new plan for collecting water for ballast while flying.

"When we need more water we just collect it on the fly. We did it all the way across," he said.

"We built a sort of little gutter arrangement along the top of the envelope and collected rain water. The enormous bulk of the ship makes it quite easy. Then we piped the water down, strained it and put it into the pipes.

"We managed to get three tons that way. It doesn't cost anything and works perfectly any time it rains—and, of course, there is always lots of rain around the Atlantic."

struction and home ownership, including such phases as finance, design, equipment, city planning and transportation.

"One of the important questions is finance," said Mr. Hoover. "The present depression has given emphasis to the fact that the credit system in home building is not as soundly organized as other branches of credit. Commerce, industry installment buying and, to a large extent, farm mortgages, all have more effective financial reservoirs.

"There have been months during this depression when shortage of capital available for home-building purposes has been so acute that this branch of construction has fallen off greatly, while other forms of credit have been available throughout the depression.

"In order to enable the purchase of homes on what amounts to the installment plan it is necessary to place first and, often enough, second mortgages. The building and loan associations have performed a great service in this field, but they cannot without assistance carry the burden.

MORTGAGES AFFECTED

"First Mortgages, carried so largely by the savings banks and insurance companies, have been affected by competition with bonds and other forms of investment. Second mortgages, which also are necessary to many people, have, if we take into account commissions, discounts and other charges, risen in rates in many cities to the equivalent of 20 or 25 per cent per annum, all of which not only stifles home ownership, but has added to the present depression by increasing unemployment in the trades involved.

"The finance question, however, is only one of many. Greater comfort and reduction in cost of construction in many parts of the country through improved design and the better layout of residential areas are all of first importance. The expansion and betterment of homes in its bearing upon comfort, increasing standards of living and economic and social stability, is of outstanding importance."

John M. Gries, chief of the division of building and housing in the Department of Commerce, will act as executive secretary of the conference. Funds have been provided privately to cover the entire research and other activities of the conference.

WATER DIVISION FIGURES FIXED

they could not go along with the Morrow plan for giving Mexico half the water of the Colorado. However, its report filed today indicates that it simply completed its work of gathering information for Congress and so passed naturally out of being.

Lawrence M. Lawson has been appointed to carry on the negotiations where the commission left off.

Those interested in Boulder Dam would prefer that the Colorado River question be presented to Mexico on its own merits and not be mixed up with the rectification of the Rio Grande and the comparatively trivial negotiations on the Tia Juana relating to San Diego domestic water supply.

In that part of its report dealing with the Colorado River the international commission stated that it is apparent that the needs in the United States for water from the stream are greater than can be satisfied, and that this being the case and it being essentially an American river, this country should for the present at least recognize no more than Mexico's right to the amount of water which she already has demonstrated she can apply to beneficial use.

As for the Tia Juana, the commission saw no necessity now for an international treaty but suggested that San Diego go ahead and arrange through the State of California for the dams and reservoirs required to bolster the city's water supply, with the promise that any agreement entered into with Mexico would be confirmed by treaty between the two countries later.

In the case of the Rio Grande, the commission recommended an immediate treaty recognizing and perpetuating existing uses of water on both sides of the international line and providing for the joint construction by the United States and Mexico of reservations to regulate the flow of the river and prevent continued escape of valuable water to the Gulf of Mexico. The recommendation also covered joint development of electrical power and suggested that the United States should trade power for water wherever this is agreeable to Mexico.

REDS IN CHINA SEEK NEW SPOILS

British gunboat for Hankow, saying he believed he was the last foreigner to leave Changsha, Lingle continued:

"I am safe at Hankow, but empty handed. I left our premises at midnight Monday only when the city was aglare with ghastly fires. I had been hiding in the mission boys' school since Monday noon.

"All other foreigners boarded the foreign gunboats Sunday night. Being aged, I am slow to catch on to the ways of new China.

"Systematic burning of all government public buildings was begun Monday. Then followed the organized pillaging and burning of mission properties.

MISSION BURNED

"The American Episcopal mission was burned late Monday. The Communists broke into our premises Monday night and began systematic robbery. They were still plundering when, fearing discovery, I was forced to leave.

After being plundered all buildings were scheduled to be burned. I have no doubt it was done thoroughly, the new church almost ready for the roof and all.

"I managed to reach the vicinity of the Yale in China University, near the Siang River, only to be robbed of all my belongings.

"I found native boatmen who agreed to take me five miles down river, where foreign gunboats were anchored in low water which forced them to leave Changsha that afternoon.

NO TRANSPORTATION

"I boarded the American gunboat Palos at 2 a.m. Tuesday. Commander Tisdale and other Changsha friends aboard were glad to see me. They feared I had been captured.

"Tuesday evening I was transferred aboard the British gunboat Aphis with forty-seven other refugees and brought to Hankow."

Continuing, the dispatch from Lingle said:

"There is no transportation from Changsha. The railroad is cut and the river too low for steamer operation. Thousands of Chinese are willing to pay any price to get out of the city.

MOB IN CONTROL

"All form of government has broken down and disappeared. When we left, the mob—Communists, bandits, robbers, call them what you will—were in control."

Presbyterian mission officials here believed their entire property in Changsha is destroyed. It consisted of two churches, eight school buildings and five personnel residences, with a total value of $200,000 gold. Doubt was expressed by missionaries their plant will be rebuilt.

MINISTER TELLS NANKING TO PROTECT PROPERTY

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—American Minister Johnson at Peiping informed the State Department tonight he had suggested to the Nanking government that prompt and effective action be taken for the relief of Changsha to check possible destruction of American property in that city.

Earlier American Consul Butrick at Hankow informed the department he was again urging Americans in the provinces of Hupeh, Hunan, Honan and Kiangsi to withdraw to places of safety.

The Johnson note to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs at Nanking, sent upon instructions of the State Department, asked that any protection possible be extended to Americans in the Changsha area and stated the American government reserved all rights with respect to all losses or injuries already suffered by Americans or which they may suffer by reason of disturbances in Changsha.

Johnson also instructed Butrick to make similar representations to the highest local authorities in his consular district.

In a cablegram dated July 30 at 1 p.m., Butrick said Americans arriving from Changsha reported the fall of the city was due to the defeat of Ho-Chien's troops about two miles outside the city, defection of others within the city and retreat of still others.

The latest information to the American Consulate at Hankow stated Changsha was still burning, with some American mission property known to have been destroyed.

Meantime the Navy Department said two destroyer mine layers, the Hart and Rizal, today were proceeding from Manila in the Philippine Islands to Tsingtao, China.

The Hart and Rizal apparently intended to stop on their way to Tsingtao for they were not scheduled to reach their objective until the 12th inst. Each vessel carries about 110 men.

BILLINGS CASE TANGLE GROWS

ent placing of Billings at 721 Market street in the capacity of a sabotage agent for the machinists' union is motivated entirely by the thought of righting the wrong she may have done.

By dint of gentlemanly perseverance, relieved by some curt insistence, the justices finally discovered a combination of motives, partly a desire to give Billings "a chance," partly a desire to help Fremont Older, publisher, in his crusade for a rehearing, and partly to get the whole mess off her mind and, in her own words, shunt it to the minds of the justices, because she "has had it long enough."

As she managed to frame it:

"You wouldn't like to go through life, mister, having something on your mind. Why, there's nights and nights you can't sleep."

"Are you trying to give this man 'a chance' now?"

"I'm only telling you, mister, then it's up to you. It's been on my mind long enough."

For the present, the court will not issue an order for the personal appearance of Billings. The attitude taken is that he is not necessary now. The matter is left open, however, so he can be summoned if the justices think it necessary.

WALSH'S ARGUMENT

If Billings is called, Mooney may be produced also. Frank P. Walsh, as his attorney, formally placed that request before the court, to allow Mooney also an opportunity to refute testimony never before introduced. Walsh's argument was that the same testimony applies to Mooney that applies to Billings.

Walsh pointed out Miss Smith had accused Billings of sabotage, a serious crime, and he feared, since the cases of Mooney and Billings are interlocked in the public mind, lest this charge cause a reaction against Billings and by inference against Mooney.

"It would be unjust not to permit Mooney to be present to refute the inference he had likewise been engaged in this crime," Walsh said.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1. (AP)—The plant of the Ryan Aircraft Corporation, makers of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's famous Spirit of St. Louis, has been closed. General business depression was given by officials as the cause. The company is controlled by the Detroit Aircraft Corporation, which will determine when and if manufacturing is to be resumed.

BAY RAIL LINE PLAN ADVANCED

Examiner Makes Favorable Report to I.C.C.

Project Connected With New Extension from North

Commission Itself Must Act on Program Next

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—The Interstate Commerce Commission today received a favorable report on the plan of the Western Pacific Railroad to build an all-rail line around San Francisco Bay.

The Western Pacific project is closely associated with the plan already approved by the commission under which the Great Northern Railroad will build down from the north and in combination with the Western Pacific will open new transcontinental routes into California territory.

The Western Pacific to complete the extension program asked the commission to let it parallel the Southern Pacific belt line, which runs around San Francisco bay at present. C. D. Weed, a commission examiner who investigated the proposals, and recorded the strenuous opposition of the Southern Pacific and the Santa Fe, advised the commission to grant the Western Pacific a practically full sanction for its entire extension.

Asserting the need of San Francisco for an additional line is imperative, Weed said in all rail connection with the city is a necessity for the Western Pacific. He added this is because of the "slow and uncertain barge method of crossing the bay by water, which is now available to it."

The commission itself must consider the proposals before final decision.

WOMEN WITH PAY CHECK PUT IMPRINT ON STYLES

PARIS, Aug. 1. (AP)—Paris is trying to placate the working women, who protested when skirts were lengthened, by designing more than the usual varieties of clothes for utility wear.

The well-dressed working woman is going to wear jersey tweed for her hours on duty next winter, whether in the home or in the office. The jerseys are light in weight and dark in color. Black and white, brown and white, dark-gray mixtures, and blues and greens all are important.

Fancy weaves and patterned mixtures are smart. Ensembles combine dresses and jackets or coats and skirts. Coats miss the hem line by a couple of inches. Skirts average ten to twelve inches below the knees.

The three largest houses have announced showings for early next week, and what they say clinches the winter-style trends.

OIL FREIGHT RATES TO PHOENIX WILL BE CUT

PHOENIX, Aug. 1. (AP)—Southern Pacific officials announced today freight rates on crude oil from California points to Phoenix will be reduced 10 cents per hundredweight, beginning the 25th inst.

DERBY LAURELS GO TO GEHLBACH

Former Army Flyer First in 5541-Mile Race

Prizes Totaling More Than $20,000 His Reward

Bayles Second and Meyers Third Among Ten

DETROIT, Aug. 1. (AP)—A former army flyer, Lee Gehlbach, led ten contestants in the all-American air derby across the finish line at the Detroit City Airport today, averaging 127.1 miles an hour over the 5541-mile course to win an award of $15,000.

Setting out from Detroit July 21, Gehlbach, flying for a group of Little Rock (Ark.) business men, led the derby contestants on almost every lap, from Detroit to New York, sweeping down to Houston, Tex., across to Los Angeles and back over the mountains and across the Middle West to Detroit again. Flying a special Command-air plane, he used an elapsed time of 43 hours, 35 minutes and 30 seconds, four hours less than Lowell Bayles, Springfield, Mass., second-place winner. Bayles's time was 47 hours, 36 minutes and 8 seconds, an average of 116.4 miles an hour over the gruelling route.

LITTLE ROCK PROUD OF VICTOR IN RACE

MEYERS THIRD

Third place went to Charles Meyers, Cleveland pilot, who finished with an average of 107.3 miles an hour for a total elapsed time of 51 hours, 34 minutes and 31 seconds. Bayles will receive $7000 and Meyers $3000, second and third-place awards.

Wheeling his plane across the finish line, and into the airport hangar, Gehlbach found his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Henry H. Gehlbach of Beason, Ill., awaiting him and he was handed a telegram of congratulation signed by 556 Little Rock residents. He said the race was a "hard grind" and he is "glad it is over."

Ten of the eighteen contestants who left here twelve days ago, completed the race. Those finishing back of third place will split an award of $5000 offered by the Detroit Board of Commerce, each drawing $714.29 for remaining in the race until the finish. Eight contestants dropped out during the tour. Herman Hamer, La Salle, Ill., led the pack at the start of the race, but fell behind and dropped out definitely when he was forced down near Des Moines, Iowa.

OGDEN FOURTH

Fourth to finish was Lieut. Henry Ogden of Inglewood, Cal., whose elapsed time was 53 hours, 19 minutes and 47 seconds, averaging 103.9 miles an hour. W. H. Cahill, Cleveland, finished in fifth place with time of 55 hours, 57 minutes and 26 seconds, averaging 99 miles per hour.

Other survivors were Cecil Coffrin, Brooklyn, N. Y.; W. H. Holliday, Rapidan, Va.; Lawrence Brown, Los Angeles; Stanley Stanton, Blackwell, Okla., and J. R. Wedell, New Orleans.

Gehlbach, formerly a pilot with the Fourth Pursuit Group at Selfridge Field, Mt. Clemens, Mich., led in the list of winners of lap prizes, offered at the various control points of the flight, swelling his total of prize money to more than $20,000.

"Air-Cooled Cars to be Displayed
After experimenting for several months the Santa Fe is about to install air-cooled cars on its train, the Chief. Two of the cars, a diner and a Pullman, will be displayed publicly here next week, according to James B. Duffy, assistant passenger traffic manager.
The cars, the first of their kind, are expected to prove a boon to passenger travel, especially in crossing the desert areas of the West and other sections afflicted with severe summer heat. It is possible for passengers to enjoy a temperature of 72 deg. or lower, regardless of how warm it is outside."
Welcome to the 72° Club, Santa Fe!
P.S.—We suspect the Railroad President and probably our friend Mr. James B. Duffy of having become "sold" on air-cooling by lunching or dining here.
P.S. No. 2—Imagine what a difference this innovation will make in crossing the desert in midsummer. The same comparison is true of our Restaurant.

FACTS TO GUIDE NEW DRY DRIVE

Woodcock Planning to Steer Clear of Propaganda

Groups for Prohibition and "Antis" will be Ignored

Research Bureau Findings to Aid in Operations

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—The Federal Prohibition Bureau under the direction of Col. Amos W. W. Woodcock purposes to steer a course independent of the Anti-Saloon League, the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment and all other organizations and agencies aligned one way or the other on the prohibition question.

The result of the new policy, it is believed here, will be largely to put an end to wet and dry propaganda and give the country, perhaps for the first time in ten years, an unbiased view of the prohibition situation as it actually exists.

It was officially announced this afternoon from Col. Woodcock's offices that the bureau of research which has been set up to ascertain all pertinent facts relative to prohibition enforcement, particularly whether consumption of alcoholic beverages is increasing or decreasing, will disregard information offered from "interested sources."

FACTS TO BE PUBLISHED

Moreover, it was stated that after finding the facts from unprejudiced and independent sources the bureau will publish them, whether favorable to prohibition or otherwise.

The aim of the research bureau will be simply to get the facts, be they good or bad. In case they are bad they will be interpreted as indicating a deficiency in the prohibition enforcement machine and will be the signal for a tightening up. Military precision will rule and results rather than excuses are to count.

In response to a direct question as to whether data will be sought or accepted from such sources as the Anti-Saloon League and the antiprohibition organization, it was stated on behalf of Col. Woodcock that these obviously are "interested" organizations and their findings will be disregarded.

PRIOR DECLARATION

Col. Woodcock made a somewhat similar declaration of independence two days ago, when he announced that he will observe civil service regulations in letter and spirit in selecting his agents. This if carried out means that the enforcement work will be completely divorced from political patronage and agents will be hired on merit alone. Other directors have not succeeded for long in like attempts to ignore Senators, Representatives and party leaders in making up their pay rolls, but with the support of President Hoover, Col. Woodcock is said to believe he can carry out his plan.

Woodcock today rounded out his third day of conferences with his regional lieutenants by discussing ways and means for getting at the "big fellows" in the illicit liquor traffic with the twelve special agents whose duty it will be to direct 200 picked operatives in a drive on the "higher-ups." The new director expects to emphasize the work of this group in connection with his plans to operate exclusively against commercial violators of the prohibition laws.

RELIEF FOR COURTS

This limiting of Federal enforcement to the larger cases, it was brought out today, may lead to a reduction in the number of prosecutions and hence to at least partial relief of the Federal court congestion which has been a matter of such concern. With Federal agents avoiding "picayunish" prosecutions it is believed more can be accomplished with less court work than formerly.

Although intending to ask for an increase of about 500 in his force of agents, Col. Woodcock is prepared to carry on for the next year with his present personnel. It is regarded as doubtful that Congressional action on the proposed increase can be obtained earlier.

Commissioner Doran of the bureau of industrial alcoholic concluded a two-day meeting with his twelve permit supervisors today by issuing a statement saying that the purpose of his work is to end diversions of industrial alcohol to illegal channels while at the same time safeguarding concerns engaged in legitimate operations.

Hoover Invited to Aerial Races

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—Two women flyers, Phoebe Omlie of Memphis and Blanche Wilcox Noyes of Cleveland, today presented President Hoover with an invitation to attend the Chicago air races this year.

The invitation was in the form of a large wreath of roses and was brought here from Chicago by air by the two women.

PRODIGIES' FATE DECIDED

Guardian of Boy Violinists Gets to Keep Them Until First of Year by Judge's Order

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—Supreme Court Justice Valente today ruled that Ruggiero and Giorgio Ricci, violin prodigies, should remain in the custody of their guardian, Miss Beth Lackey, at least until January 1, 1931. He set December 15 for further hearing on the habeas corpus proceedings brought by the boy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pierto Ricci of San Francisco.

Although calling the habeas corpus proceedings "an unwarranted attack upon the conduct of a young woman to whom they should have been deeply grateful," Judge Valente said he could not overlook the parents' prior claim to the custody of their children.

"My views are therefore," he continued, "that the children should be returned to the custody of their parents after the first of the year and that meantime they should continue under Miss Lackey's direction, with such right of free visitation by the parents as will not interfere with their education, and after proper provision for their training in the faith of their parents."

Taking cognizance of the charge of the parents that Miss Lackey was teaching the boys Christian Science, whereas they wished them to be raised Catholics, Justice Valente appointed Rev. John J. Hartigan, a Catholic priest, to supervise their religious training. Miss Lackey had placed the boys under his guidance several weeks ago.

Miss Lackey, a graduate of the University of California and a violin instructor under Louis Persinger, teacher of Yehudi Menuhin, took charge of Ruggiero three years ago when the parents brought him to Mr. Persinger for instruction.

Later she obtained guardianship papers in California and also took the care and training of Giorgio, who is 8 years of age, one year younger than Ruggiero.

MOTHER GIVES LIFE TO SUCCOR ILL SON

Mrs. Walter Johnson

BASEBALL STAR'S WIFE SUCCUMBS

Mrs. Walter Johnson Dies from Illness Caused by Care of Sick Son

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—Mrs. Walter Johnson died today after a brief illness.

Weakened by a long vigil at the bedside of a son, the wife of the veteran Washington baseball player fell ill two days ago after a heat-ridden motor trip from her husband's former home at Coffeyville, Kan.

At first it was thought a long rest would enable her to recover, but her condition became serious yesterday while her husband was at the baseball park preparing to lead his second-place Nationals against the league-leading Philadelphia Athletics. He was called by physicians and remained at the hospital until the end early today.

A growing mass of flowers at the Johnson home gave evidence tonight of the wide sympathy with the man who as "The Big Train" became known from one end of the country to the other, among them being a wreath from President and Mrs. Hoover. The game of the Washington team with the New York Yankees on Monday was postponed to permit his teammates to attend the funeral.

The two were married when he was at the pinnacle of his fame, sixteen years ago. Mrs. Johnson was 36 years of age, and a daughter of former Representative E. E. Roberts of Nevada, now Mayor of Reno.

She leaves her husband and five children.

NORTHCOTT WOULD LIVE TO PREACH

Doomed Slayer of Boys Claims Conversion and Sends Plea to Young

SAN QUENTIN, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—Saying he has found God and wants his life saved so he can carry the message of his "conversion" to the world, Gordon Stewart Northcott, sentenced to hang here October 2, next, for the slaying of three boys on his Wineville chicken ranch, appealed today to Gov. Young for executive clemency. In a signed statement forwarded to Sacramento Northcott said Larry Newgent, Los Angeles evangelist, has "converted" him.

According to the statement, Newgent will go to Sacramento tomorrow to add his plea that Northcott's life be spared. He will take with him a brief prepared by Northcott in condemned row.

Northcott lost his appeal to the State Supreme Court and was resentenced to hang. His mother, Mrs. Sara Louisa Northcott, serving a life sentence for complicity in the same crimes, started a fight to save her son's life several days ago.

Coast Screen Actor Marries St. Louis Girl

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 1. (AP)—The marriage Wednesday night of Miss Gertrude Dorothy Mathes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mathes of St. Louis, to Don Terry, a motion-picture actor, became known here tonight.

Terry met his bride while she was visiting in California.

Eleven to Face Swindle Trial

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—Eleven persons must stand trial for their part in a $40,000 swindle of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company as a result of seventy-three indictments handed up by the Richmond county grand jury today. The eleven are members of a ring the State charges forged signatures of doctors, nurses, undertakers and cemetery custodians to bogus death certificates in order to collect on policies of Staten Island residents. The policy-holders were unaware that claims had been paid on their insurance.

BAN ON RUSSIAN PULPWOOD OFF

Treasury Decides Loading by Convicts Not Vital

Paper Makers Enter Strong Protest on Embargo

Product First of Four Score Shiploads to Come

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—The ban on Russian pulpwood imposed by the Treasury a week ago was lifted tonight by Assistant Secretary Lowman, who issued orders to collectors of customs to admit to this country seventy-nine shiploads of the product.

Pulpwood from Archangel was barred under a section of the Tariff Act, which prohibits the importation of goods, merchandise or material produced in a foreign country in whole or part by convict labor. The embargo was laid down when the Treasury received information convicts had been used in loading the lumber.

CHARGE NOT SUSTAINED

Lowman said the evidence had not been found sufficient to establish the pulpwood was produced by convict labor.

The Amtorg Trading Corporation, official Russian commercial organization, sold $4,500,000 worth of pulpwood to the International Paper Company, the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company and the Racquiett River Paper Company, all of whom, together with shipowners and charterers, protested against the embargo.

The chief fight against the embargo was carried on by Kenneth Gardner, counsel for the Spanish American Lines, who had chartered thirty-four vessels to carry pulpwood from Archangel to this country.

SUPPLY NECESSARY

At a hearing today officials of the Amtorg, together with the International Paper Company and the steamship lines, testified convict labor was not used in production of the pulpwood, which was cut last winter, and urged an immediate decision. Officials of the paper companies said their plants would have to close down unless they received it or could replace it from other sources.

Six ships loaded with pulpwood have arrived in this country and Canada, while eleven are en route and others already have been loaded.

EX-FILM ACTRESS IN CENTER OF ROW

Sally Rand

THEATRICAL TRIO RELATE FIST BATTLE

Hammerstein, Brother of Sally Rand and Director Wear Bandages in Court

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (Exclusive) Through the portals of West Side Police Court today passed some of the most beautiful chorus girls in the world and the most battered (a) theatrical producer, (b) stage-dance director and (c) chorus man in New York.

Jack Haskell, the wounded dance director for Arthur Hammerstein, who came to grief at the strong right arm of Harold Rand, recent Kansas City (Mo.) high-school graduate turned chorus boy for "Luana," the new Hammerstein show now in rehearsal, weakly ascended the witness stand to tell Magistrate Simpson all about the assault charge he brought against Hammerstein and Rand.

Haskell's face was all but concealed in yards of bandage. In the defendants' row was the dignified-appearing Hammerstein, his left hand with its three broken bones in a splint, and beside him, young Rand, with his broken right hand in bandages. Harold's blond 23-year-old sister, Sally Rand, former De Mille film player, member of the "Luana" company, was excluded from the courtroom because she will be a witness, and a bevy of other Hammerstein beauties also trooped out into the corridor by request, for the same reason.

The battling occurred back stage and in Hammerstein's private sanctum Wednesday afternoon, interrupting a rehearsal Haskell was conducting. The dance director had a run-in with the Rands, whom he termed "those two hicks from Kansas City," and fired them.

Arguing with 19-year-old Harold, Haskell testified, some smoke from his cigarette drifted toward young Rand's face, and when he moved to fan it away with his hand, Rand walloped him in the eye.

Shortly afterward Hammerstein reinstated the brother and sister, and Haskell, barging into the producer's private office, waxed wrathy, was fired or resigned and, it is charged, swung a wild haymaker in Hammerstein's direction, to which the producer replied with a left that cut a gash on the dancing master's brow that required several stitches to close.

Rand testified he struck Haskell only in self-defense. Arguments will be heard next Wednesday.

Rumanian Town Fears Pogrom

ATHLETE DIES HERO'S DEATH

Al Lassman, ex-Grid Star, Gives Life for Charges; Garbled Account of Affair Laid to Rival

PORTLAND (Me.) Aug. 1. (AP)—The duty to his charges, three young boy campers, uppermost in his mind, Al Lassman, former New York University football star, gasped out "hang on to the canoe," and sank beneath the waters of Long Lake, near Harrison, on July 6, an investigation by County Attorney Ingalls disclosed today.

The giant football player was able to give aid to but one of the boys after the four were tossed from the canoe as they tried to turn about to avoid rough water, according to the story of the boys.

Ingalls's investigation was started by the statement by New York University authorities yesterday that Lassman was not alone in the canoe when he drowned, as was reported by Isadore Zarakov, head of Camp Zakelo and former Harvard football player, at the time of the accident.

Zarakov, in a statement from Boston late this afternoon, said details surrounding the drowning were not made public "to save unnecessary worry" to the parents of the three boys.

The boys, Jack Wynd of Brockton, Mass.; John Shapiro of Brooklyn, N. Y., and Maurice Halpern of Brookline, Mass., and others were questioned by Ingalls and Atty.-Gen. Robinson.

At the close of the questioning Ingalls said the State's investigation was at an end and related Wynd's story as the account which Shapiro and Halpern agreed was correct.

Wynd said the four of them started out in the canoe, all of them paddling, with Lassman at the stern. As they reached a point off Camp Ropioa. Lassman ordered them to turn the canoe about as "it is too rough."

As the canoe was swung around it overturned and hurled them into the water.

Lassman ordered, "Hang on to the canoe" and made for Shapiro, who had gone under. He grasped the back of the boy's head, pushed him toward the canoe and then sank.

"Then he came to the top," Wynd said. "He went under again and came to the top again and then disappeared." The boys said Lassman made no outcry and said nothing except the order to hold on.

NEWS OF SOUTHERN COUNTIES

VETERAN FETED ON NATAL DAY

Last Survivor of Cavalry Troop 83 Years of Age

Frederick Stampfly Fought in Twenty-one Battles

Only Civil War Soldier in Foreign Wars Body

SANTA ANA, Aug. 1.—The last survivor of a gallant company of Union soldiers today celebrated here his eighty-third birthday. Frederick Stampfly, an active member of Sedgwick Post, No. 17, G.A.R., is the only surviving member of D Troop of the Forty-seventh United States Cavalry that went through the entire Civil War. Stampfly himself was wounded several times during the twenty-one general engagements in which he participated, and bears several scars.

He is still extremely alert mentally and is keenly interested in modern politics. The last of eleven brothers and sisters, he has made his home with his daughter, Mrs. C. Farrar of 1052 West Pine street, for seven years, since coming from St. Louis.

Messages, gifts and flowers from friends all over the country were received by the veterans today, and many friends visited at the Farrar home to enjoy the birthday cake [illegible] by Stampfly's daughter.

[illegible] his most remarkable experience was in going with a small [illegible] of cavalry on an expedition into Mexico to capture the escaped Confederate leader, Gen. Jos[illegible] Shelby. This act gave Stampfly membership in the Veterans of Foreign Wars last year, and he is believed to be the only existing veteran of the Civil War who fought on foreign soil.

"I don't feel particularly noteworthy," said the old soldier simply. "This birthday anniversary seems just like any other to me. I don't even feel older, but I am glad that my friends feel that I have done something to make them feel proud of my fighting days."

Ontario May Get Flying School

ONTARIO, August 1.—Recognizing the strategic position of Ontario Airport at the edge of the Los Angeles county fog belt, officials of Western Air Express are considering the establishment of a flying school on the local field, according to Jesse R. Phillips, in charge of the airport.

Phillips said today that Lee Flannigan, chief pilot for the Standard Flying Schools, a subsidiary of Western Air Express, has visited the local field and surveyed all conditions essential to a successful flying school. W. W. Stevens, director of the local field, Phillips, manager of the field, and Flannigan are expected to arrive at a definite decision soon regarding establishment of the school.

There are no training schools in San Bernardino county now and the school here, if decided upon, will be the only one to be installed by Western Air Express in this county, Phillips said.

Western Air Express ships use the local field when the fog over Los Angeles is too heavy to permit the ships to continue to the field at Alhambra.

TREE SITTER "SITTING PRETTY"

Small Brother "Refuels" El Monte Boy

Conklin Murray and His Brother Walter

EL MONTE, Aug. 1.—El Monte's tree sitter, Conklin Murray, at 6 p.m. today passed his 243rd hour in the walnut tree in the rear yard at his home at 425 Mt. View avenue, where he is endeavoring to break the world's record.

"I'm not at all tired," he said enthusiastically, "and I am going to stay up as long as I can, even after I break the record."

LAD NEVER LONESOME

There is slight danger that Conklin will be lonesome or lack amusement and companionship during the contest. Geese, ducks, doves, bantam hens, white rats, zebra finches, guinea hens, parrakeets, guinea pigs and mud turtles occupy pens surrounding the tree. A lively mongrel pup adds to the excitement. While Conklin is the center of attraction, the menagerie basks in reflected glory.

Nine pet pigeons keep the tree sitter company at all times and do not leave their place except for food and drink. They occupy a neat little bird house in the upper branches, having taken up their vigil there Tuesday of last week when Conklin went aloft to break the world's record and, incidentally, to win a complete Boy Scout uniform.

The 13-year-old boy, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Murray, proudly displays his bunk, built in the spreading branches of the tree, and snaps on an electric light installed so that he may read at night.

DEVICE TRANSPORTS FOOD

Walter Murray, sole member of the refueling crew, demonstrates the intricacies of a device for transporting food in a basket from the kitchen door to the perch in the tree. Pulleys and ropes, as manipulated by the tree sitter's small assistant, lift the basket easily and safely.

More than 100 visitors have called at the Murray home since the contest began and Conklin keeps a daily record of his callers. The names in the large book are entered by the boy and he insists he will be able to read the writing, "even in a hundred years." Among his most faithful callers are the members of Boy Scout Troop No. 2, of which he is a member.

"Conklin," asserted a youthful caller, "sure is sitting pretty."

Registration in Great Increase

EL CENTRO, Aug. 1.—Showing an increase of 36 per cent over the registrations for the Presidential primary in 1928, Imperial county will have 15,059 voters qualified for the State and county primaries, according to announcement of County Clerk Cal Mousseau.

The voting strength of the valley is divided about equally between the town and rural districts. Registration of town voters amounted to 7619 and the rural area to 7440. No figures have been compiled as yet as to the party affiliations.

Mousseau attributed the big increase in registrations to the population growth in the valley during two years, when the Imperial area has remained a white spot on the business map, and to unusual interest in the political contests this year.

REPORT OF ONTARIO IN NEW HANDS

Crombie and H. L. Allen Dispose of Daily Paper to Frank B. Appleby

ONTARIO, August 1.—Crombie Allen and H. L. Allen, owners and publishers of The Daily Report for twenty years, today announced sale of the paper and job printing business to Frank B. Appleby, recently of La Grande, Or.

Appleby is a young man, member of the American Legion, and an experienced newspaper publisher. He is the son of a Congregational minister. Following his graduation at Grinnell College, he served as a lieutenant in the infantry in France, and following the war conducted a newspaper at Washington, Iowa. Five years ago he sold it and bought the Evening Observer at La Grande. As a publisher he served as president of the Oregon Press conference.

Since the Daily Report moved into its new home at B street and Lemon avenue, less than two years ago, it has been visited by scores of California and out-of-State newspaper publishers.

Appleby was among the casual visitors to the plant several months ago, and was so impressed with the arrangement of the structure he began negotiations at once to become its owner.

The Allen brothers will remain in this city, they declared in their announcement made today.

Angeleno Asks Aid in Finding Wife Who Cooks

UPLAND, Aug. 1.—Arthur Thomas of Los Angeles is modest in his wants. He doesn't care for anything except a wife who can cook.

In a letter to Ernest C. Mehl, City Clerk, Thomas makes known his wants for a wife, and asks Mehl to lend him a hand in finding the woman of his requirements.

He wants a "good, true, kind and loving, plain, old-fashioned girl that don't smoke cigarettes or use rouge to extreme."

He said—"I want a plain cook and housekeeper and one that is not extravagant and willing to live in the country or city, and a girl that is congenial, that is fond of music, baseball, theaters, beaches and other outdoor sports."

Thomas complains that all the girls he knows smoke cigarettes, or use too much lipstick. He himself doesn't care for dancing, he is 40 years of age, of German descent, Protestant, and a plain, industrious workingman of good character.

If Thomas finds his wife of these requirements, Mehl wants to get a look at her. He thinks they may exist, but either in the movies or an old-time story book.

POOR BARGAIN FOR CITY

Pasadena Falls About $8000 Short of Getting Top Price for Fruit

PASADENA, Aug. 1.—This city has paid more than $8000 to learn the fine points of the orange-marketing business this summer, it was learned today at the City Hall. In the belief that he was making a smart coup, a city official contracted early in the summer to sell the city farm's crop of 8000 boxes of Valencias and navels to the E. F. Spence Fruit Company of Los Angeles at a price on the trees of $2.15 a box. At the time the crop was picked current prices for the same quality of fruit were quoted at from $3 to $4 a box, so that Pasadena received approximtely $17,200 instead of $25,000 to $30,000.

Despite the low price received, profits from the municipal orange orchard were three or four times as large as in any previous year because of the unexpected shortage and failure of the Florida crop.

The sale of the fruit to an independent concern aroused the wrath of members of the Pasadena Orange Growers' Association, of which Pasadena, through designated representatives, has been a member for several years.

Officials of the association charged that the city had broken its agreement to market its oranges through the association, but decided not to sue Pasadena for the penalty of 25 cents a box for infraction of its rules.

Robert L. Daugherty, chairman of the Board of City Directors, asserted this afternoon that the city employee empowered to sell the fruit was unaware of the old contract with the association and entered into the contract early in the season with the idea that "a bird in the hand was worth two in the bush."

Last year, the city's orange crop was of such poor quality that it brought about 50 cents a box, but since that time improved methods of culture resulted in such surprising improvement that the grove netted a handsome profit.

With their diplomas in a short course in orange marketing already framed, the City Directors hope that with favorable conditions, Pasadena ultimately may receive $50,000 annually from the orange crop.

Tujunga Agog Over Building of New Theater

TUJUNGA, Aug. 1.—This little mountain city is agog with excitement as the great stage and rustic theater for the Summer Festival of John Steven McGroarty plays approach completion.

Hundreds of automobiles attracted from Michigan avenue, the state highway, as well as the cars of the hill people are jammed around the live oak trees at Mr. McGroarty's home watching with intense interest the progress of events.

The Southern California Edison Company, the McKinney Electric Company, the United Tent and Awning Company, the Westminster Chimes Manufacturing Company and other organizations co-operating with McGroarty in his civic adventure are busy these days to make the Summer Festival of the plays a success.

As an evidence of the widespread interest, the headquarters ticket booth in the lobby of the Pacific Electric Subway Terminal Station, is daily thronged with people making eager inquiry as to the playing dates of each play and the manner of reaching Tujunga.

Another source of active co-operation with McGroarty comes from the Motor Transit Company and their various ticket offices in Southern California. The Motor Transit will run special stages to each of the plays and will arrange with special parties transportation at reduced rates.

REDLANDS, Aug. 1.—Beneficiaries in the will of Edwin S. Townsend, late husband of Mrs. Ann Kitching Townsend, formerly of this city, who died in Long Island recently, have been named. The will was filed with the Surrogate Court of Nassau county by a brother, J. Allen Townsend of New York.

Servants in his employ for more than a year will each get $1000.

Walton, and two children of her deceased son, James W., and Margaret England. The estate, amounting to $100,000, was left in trust.

At the death of her beneficiaries, the estate is to continue to their children and the principal is to be divided among the grandchildren's heirs, twenty-one years after the death of the survivor of each group of them. Several trust funds were also left to nieces and friends, amounting from $15,000 to $5000.

Bad Boys Put Tree Sitters in Valley Up a Tree

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 1.—Boy tree sitters of North Hollywood who already have 219 hours to their credit seem to be "up a tree" both literally and figuratively. Boys in the neighborhood have become envious of whatever record the tree sitters are endeavoring to make and are using various means to tumble the contestants from their perch to the ground.

The boys are Jay Gates and Wayne Wilson and the tree is at Dilling street and Tujunga avenue. So far as is known the boys are second in the tree-sitting fad to two East St. Louis (Ill.) boys, who, according to today's dispatches, have more than 300 hours chalked up.

An attempt was made yesterday by an unknown boy to cut down the tree in which the boys are perched and thereby end their chance of championship. Charge and counter-charge of negligence from the boys above ended in the entire ground crew being dispensed with and a new one organized in its place. The new crew is composed of Merlin Wilson, brother of one of the contestants, and Bob Neckell.

Last night when both the ground crew and the tree sitters were asleep someone tried to saw through the trunk of the tree and nearly succeeded in cutting it down before being run away. A prop has been placed under the platform to guard against the danger of the tree crashing. The boys, however, are not worrying. Local confectioners and drug store men are furnishing them with malted milks, ice cream and other foods.

Another merchant here has offered the boys a silver loving cup apiece if they stay up twenty-four days longer. According to both boys, they intend to stay up the tree until September, when school will end the contest all over the country.

SUNDAY DANCE BAN ASKED

MAYWOOD, Aug. 1. — Members of the Baptist Church to the number of fifty, have signed a petition asking that the City Council pass an ordinance prohibiting dancing in this city on Sundays. The Council has prepared an ordinance to this effect which has been given its first reading, and second reading will be given at the meeting next week. It is understood that about half the persons signing the petition reside in East Huntington Park or Bell, but are members of the church here.

FOUR EXPRESS LINES SOLD

Pacific Freight Lines Company Acquires Control of Routes Plying from Oxnard and Ventura

VENTURA, Aug. 1.—Purchase of the controlling interest in the Ojai-Ventura and Los Angeles Express, the Los Angeles-Oxnard Daily Express, and two other motor freight express lines in Southern California, by the Pacific Freight Lines Company of Los Angeles, was announced here today. The new owners of the two Ventura county companies assumed control of the firms Thursday, it was learned.

According to information here, $80,000 was the price paid for the Ojai-Ventura and Los Angeles Express, which was owned by the Lang Transportation Company. No announcement of the price paid for the Oxnard line was made. The latter line was owned by the Fleischer brothers.

With the purchase of the two lines the Pacific Freight Lines Company gained the motor freight franchises for the counties of Ventura and Santa Barbara.

On April 1, this year, the Pacific Freight Lines Company purchased the properties of the Red Line Express for a sum reported to be $350,000.

The company will maintain its two present offices here until some unannounced future date when one main warehouse and office will be maintained.

The Red Line began operations here about eleven years ago, while the Ojai-Ventura-Los Angeles line started here twelve years ago.

Magic Wand to Sweep Santa Barbara

Old Spanish Days Procession at Old Mission

Annual Old Spanish Days Fiesta at Santa Barbara will open next Wednesday evening with a reception to be given by the monks in the stately old mission that overlooks the city. The gala festival will last for three days of colorful celebration.

SANTA BARBARA, Aug. 1.—A magic wand will sweep over this fair city, transforming it from a beautiful modern city to an equally beautiful, but ancient, Spanish "ciudad" next week.

For on Wednesday evening, with a reception given by the good monk fathers in the stately old mission which overlooks the city, the annual Old Spanish Days Fiesta will be ushered in.

The gala festival, which attracts thousands of visitors to Santa Barbara each year, is not unlike the Passion Play as presented in Oberammergau, the whole population of the city joining in the presentation of a mammoth, spectacular entertainment.

SPANISH COSTUMES WORN

Solid business men, bankers, bellhops and bus boys, as well as the women of the city, dress in gay Spanish costumes during the three days of the colorful celebration, the 7th, 8th and 9th inst.

There are bands of musicians strolling up and down the streets of the city, stopping at intervals for impromptu serenades. There is street dancing. There is a spectacular parade depicting the history of Santa Barbara—all topped off with the nightly presentation of a pageant in which hundreds of Barbarenos appear.

The pageant is staged on a revolving stage set in the large high school athletic stadium and consists of nine episodes.

Each is colorful and made more enjoyable by the singing of beautiful Spanish lyrics and the dancing of fantastic old Spanish dances. And in addition there are innumerable side attractions, all of which blend in with the happy three-day carnival.

Streets are decorated with gay bunting and the business buildings of the city, most of which are of the mission type of architecture, are draped with brilliantly colored shawls and serapes and long strings of maize and red chili.

The transformation is complete in every detail and visitors are offered a unique visit indeed.

An army of carpenters now is at work completing the pageant stage, temporary dance floors, framework for parade floats and booths in which Spanish exhibitions will be displayed.

PLAYERS REHEARSING

Hosts of amateur actors and actresses are busy rehearsing scenes for the pageant and officials of the Old Spanish Days Fiesta Association are bustling about completing arrangements for and putting the finishing touches on the plans of the celebration. All civic clubs, fraternal and military organizations and women's societies are co-operating and, from all indications, the 1930 celebration will be complete in every detail.

Already the city is taking on the Spanish atmosphere and hotels are reporting that they are turning back requests for reservations daily, while Chamber of Commerce officials are scurrying hither and thither to find more housing accommodations in private homes for the host of pleasure-seekers expected to swarm the city.

A complete program of sports, including polo, yacht and power-boat races, swimming contests and baseball games—as well as deep-sea fishing and deep-sea gambling—rounds out the schedule of entertainment.

Motions Denied for Nonsuit in Edison Case

VENTURA, Aug. 1.—Motions for nonsuit were denied attorneys for the defense late yesterday in the trial of the five consolidated damage actions brought against the Southern California Edison Company for asserted losses in the Sulphur Mountain fire on September 16, last.

The motions followed the closing of the plaintiffs' side of the case, the trial of which began in Superior Court here exactly one month ago. The five plaintiffs are asking for a total of $124,180.40. They are the Richfield, Pyramid, Ojai and Santa Maria Crude Oil companies, and the Merchants' Fire Assurance Corporation of New York. The trial adjourned late yesterday to reconvene Tuesday morning.

"Y" SECRETARY NAMED

ONTARIO, Aug. 1.—Chester A. Warren, manager of the local branch of the Bank of Italy, has been appointed treasurer and a member of the board of directors of Ontario Y.M.C.A., it was announced today. Warren will fill the posts of treasurer and director in place of the late George McCrea, who held both positions at the time of his death.

CITRUS FRUIT IN DEMAND IN MEXICO

Exchange Official Declares Untold Opportunities for Marketing Product

REDLANDS, Aug. 1.—There are untold opportunities for the marketing of citrus fruits grown in California in Mexico, Bruce W. McDaniel, general counsel for the Mutual Orange Distributors, and editor of Citrus Leaves, magazine of the distributors, after an interesting journey through Mexico. For he visited every principal locality in Mexico, had exceptional opportunities to study conditions and has notes from which he will prepare a voluminous report on the buying power of the southern republic, listing all the marketing centers, distributing and agencies, and analyzing the problems that will have to be faced in developing Mexico for city marketing.

He was much impressed by the richness of Mexico, and said no one can study the country without wishing with all his heart that the government might be completely stabilized and every effort made to develop natural resources and markets.

"I was particularly interested in the agrarian revolution which has raged since the death of President Diaz without much of the publicity that has accompanied the more spectacular political upheavals," said McDaniel. "The center of the bitter contest in which every agriculturist has to be vitally interested is Article 27 of Mexico's political constitution. That gives the government the right to confiscate agricultural property. It is a tender subject which should not be commented upon too promiscuously. It is something with which one can afford to spend months of study."

As San Bernardino county chairman for the Veterans Fitts-for-Governor Club, McDaniel plans to busy himself politically from now until the primary election.

As the retiring chairman of the Republican County Central Committee McDaniel promised to have something to say at a later date relative to the policies that he has pursued leading to a unification of the party in Southern California and looking toward an equitable Congressional reapportionment.

New York Trains Puzzle Parcher

TUJUNGA, Aug. 1.—Carroll W. Parcher, prominent Kiwanian, publisher of the Tujunga Record-Ledger, and the paper's columnist, has just returned from his vacation in New York City, Washington and other eastern cities.

"While in New York," Parcher says, "I found everybody polite, including the bellhops, taxi drivers, trolley-car conductors, the policemen and the people standing on corners to whom I talked. It was interesting to watch eyes the moment I said I hailed from California. Immediate interest was shown. I don't believe I talked to anybody who didn't wind up with the statement that some day or other they intended to sell out and head this way.

"The queerest thing in New York is the railroad time tables. They change every hour, it seems. I never caught a train according to any schedule given to me. The only way New Yorkers meet trains is to go to the station and wait around till the next train comes in or pulls out. Trains run in and out of New York like trolley cars and everybody in Gotham seems to understand and like the system."

FRIENDS CONTRIBUTE TO BAND'S SUPPORT

UPLAND, Aug. 1.—Although two-thirds of the voting public have cast their ballots against municipal band concerts next summer, at the recent municipal election, they will enjoy the weekly concerts, nevertheless. The defeated one-third has pledged sufficient money to continue the concerts next summer. Upland's municipal band, under leadership of Fred Wilding, Jr., is one of the outstanding assets of Upland community, and the defeated one-third deplored the action of the voters in banning future concerts.

But rather than mourn the passing of a good band, the minority passed the hat, and the concerts will go on.

IRWIN ASSIGNS HIS PROPERTY

President of Closed Bank in San Diego Takes Action

Personal and Mixed Holdings Given to Trustee

Howard Throckmorton will Handle Conveyance

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 1.—With a personal indebtedness believed to approximate $800,000, much of it unsecured, I. Isaac Irwin, who as president of the California Savings and Commercial Bank, is asserted to have caused its failure by misappropriation of funds, has assigned his personal and mixed property to a trustee, it became known today.

The property assignment is "for benefit of his creditors," according to the document as filed with the County Recorder yesterday. Howard Throckmorton of 756 South Spring street, is trustee. Under the agreement entered into jointly by a number of banks and financial firms, the trustee must file a $100,000 faithful-performance bond with First National Trust and Savings Bank of San Diego.

Curtis Hillyer, who appeared as counsel for Irwin when the latter was arraigned by Township Justice Arthur L. Mundo on a charge of grand theft of $50,000 of the Irwin bank's funds, admitted today he had heard of the agreement and assignment but had not seen it. He said he intended to familiarize himself with its contents. While this agreement lies in possession of the recorder's office, Irwin is under $50,000 bond for appearance in Township Court September 4 for preliminary hearing on the grand-theft charge. He is reported recovering at his home on Point Loma from a fit of despondency which attacked him coincident with closing of the California Savings Bank two weeks ago.

Included in the property transfer are the grain business of Irwin & Co. of San Diego, National City, El Cajon, Chula Vista and Tia Juana, together with an 82½ per cent interest in the Citizens' Syndicate, of which the First National Bank is named as trustee. The assignment was made, "because of Irwin's financial difficulties," it states. Mention is made of conveyance to Mrs. Irwin of "certain property," in consideration of which she released claim to Irwin's real estate holdings, the latter going to Throckmorton as trustee. Identity of the creditors is not divulged by the agreement. The banks subscribing to the agreement are as follows: Bank of America of California, the Farmers' and Merchants' National Bank of Los Angeles, Wells Fargo Bank and Union Trust Company, First National Bank of Oceanside, First National Trust and Savings Bank of San Diego, San Diego Trust and Savings Bank and United States National Bank of San Diego.

Parents Sue for Death of Son

CHINO, Aug. 1.—Seeking to recover damages for the death of their son, Frank Compos, in a traffic accident, Mr. and Mrs. John Compos of Chino have filed suit in Superior Court for $50,510 against Earl and Mr. and Mrs. B. Butler La Baw.

According to the complaint, the accident occurred at the intersection of Central and Phillips avenues June 8, last, and resulted in the fatal injury of Frank Compos, who was assertedly knocked from his bicycle by a car driven by Earl La Baw, minor son of the other two defendants.

The complaint asserts that Frank Compos was violently thrown against the side of the automobile after it had collided with his bicycle. He was the only son of the plaintiffs.

TRUCK BOULEVARD PLAN NOT FAVORED

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Aug 1.—Members of the North Hollywood Chamber of Commerce have gone on record as not favoring the establishment of a traffic plan that will designate which shall be "truck boulevards" in this section of San Fernando Valley.

In a resolution passed it is stated "we do not believe that the present territory of North Hollywood has advanced to a stage where certain highways should be set aside for truck traffic." At a meeting held here a map relative to the truck boulevards was presented for perusal. It was shown that within a short course of time it was probable that truck highways will have to be established not only in this section but in the Van Nuys district and other areas of the valley. It was the consensus of votes of members present that the chamber was going a little too fast in a premature effort to segregate the various sorts of traffic passing through and adjacent to the North Hollywood townsite.

SUNSET BEACH, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—Two prisoner porpoises in the lagoon here caused much commotion today. The huge fish came in with the high tide and were trapped when the water receded. Fishermen set out to spear them, but their boat was overturned and they had to swim for shore.

The fish are expected to escape to sea on the next high tide.

WOOD CONQUERS VINES IN SEABRIGHT FINALS

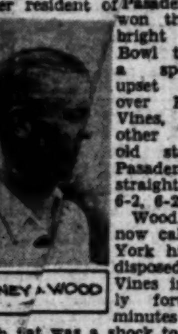
TRIMS FOE IN STRAIGHT SETS

Lanky Pasadena Boy Takes Only Four Games

Former Local Ace Displays Smart Offensive

California Women Capture Doubles Laurels

SEABRIGHT (N. J.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Sydney B. Wood, Jr., 18-year-old former resident of Pasadena, Cal., won the Seabright Tennis Bowl today in a spectacular upset victory over Ellsworth Vines, Jr., another 18-year-old star from Pasadena, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-2, 6-0.



SIDNEY B. WOOD

Wood, who now calls New York his home, disposed of Vines in exactly forty-seven minutes in a match that was a shock to the experts who had picked Vines as an almost certain winner.

Vine's rating as an overwhelming favorite was due to his triumphs over Frank Shields and Frank Hunter in the metropolitan turf-court championships last week and his successive victories over Shields, Richard N. Williams and Hunter in the Seabright invitation.

But today Vines made more errors than he had scored placements in previous matches. From the outset Wood played a calculating game that had Vines baffled. Wood's "soft" shots forced Vines into frequent nets and outs.

GALLERY STUNNED

The gallery was stunned by the lack of sensational rallies and many wondered if Vines had played too much tennis the last two weeks.

But the real fact of the matter seemed to be that Wood would give his rival no chance to set the pace. He himself laid the plan of hitting easy shots in order to baffle Vines. He succeeded so well he allowed the metropolitan turf-court champion only four games in three sets.

Before the match young Wood told the Associated Press he had hopes of winning, but expected a hard afternoon. When he had completed the job in straight sets he remarked:

> "It was much easier than I expected. I planned to play my shots soft because I know enough about my own game to appreciate that my drives might have been set-ups for Vines."

Young Wood, who has played on foreign courts and on the center court at Wimbledon, took his victory easily and seemed to enjoy the admonitions of photographers and the pleas of eager autograph hunters.

The women's doubles title went to Edith Cross of San Francisco and Mrs. L. A. Harper of Los Angeles, who played superb tennis to overwhelm the Palfrey sisters, Sarah and Mianne, of Brookline, Mass., in straight sets, 6-4, 6-2.

Mrs. Harper and Phil Neer of Portland, Or., gained the final round of mixed doubles by eliminating Josephine Cruickshank of Santa Ana, Cal., and Edward W. Feibleman, New York, 3-6, 6-3, 8-6. They were joined in the championship round later by Miss Cross and J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J., who defeated Virginia Hilleary, Philadelphia, and Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, 5-7, 6-3, 9-7.

Tomorrow finals in women's singles, men's doubles and mixed doubles will be played. Miss Cruickshank will face Mrs. Harper in the women's singles, and Richard N. Williams and Hall battle Wood and Frank Shields.

BENEFIT PROGRAM AT HOLLYWOOD GROUNDS

With a brilliant program including a wild west rodeo and two fast polo contests, the Hollywood Polo and Hunt Club will stage a benefit program for the family of the late Ben F. Dobbins, champion all-around cowboy, tomorrow at 1:30 on the Ventura Boulevard field.

In the feature turf contest, the Movie City mallet swingers will clash with the Glendale four in an attempt to avenge themselves for a 9-to-8 defeat suffered two weeks ago. Ace Hudkins, noted fighter, has offered his services for the day to the Glendale team, and will hold down the No. 3 berth.

RECOGNIZE THESE ATHLETES?

Well, the one at the left is Hec Dyer, the speedy Stanford sprinter, and the other is husky Charley Seaver, future Stanford star who dallies with golf, volleyball, baseball, basketball and football. Young Seaver attended Hun school, Princeton's preparatory institution, the past year, but plans to enter Stanford next Christmas. Dyer goes East with the L.A.A.C. track team next month, and he and Seaver get away from the regular routine by putting on the boxing gloves under the eagle eye of Clayton Frye, L.A.A.C. boxing instructor. Here we have 'em in a regular John L. Sullivan pose.

YACHTSMEN HEAD FOR NEWPORT HARBOR

Combined Pacific Coast and Southern California Championships Prove Magnet for Skippers; Regatta Opens Monday

BY FRANK ROCHE

Newport Harbor straight ahead—that's the cry of yachtsmen today as the San Francisco, San Diego, Santa Barbara and Los Angeles fleets head for the scene of the combined Pacific Coast and Southern California sailing championships which open Monday morning. The Los Angeles boats, representing the bulk of the racing craft entered in the classic, will sail from off No. 2-A buoy for Newport at high noon today. The San Francisco racing-craft are due at Newport this afternoon. San Diego's fleet will cast anchors at Newport Harbor tomorrow.

Pacific Coast and Southern California yachting officials are confident that more than 100 sailing craft will participate in the five-day racing program. Besides the boats entered in the regatta, Newport Harbor will be the goal of hundreds of other pleasure craft during the running of the sailing championships.

BEN WESTON

Newport Harbor Yacht Club officials aver the turnout for the classic will outstrip anything in the history of the sport on the Coast to date. Accommodations at Newport are expected to be at a premium both on water and land throughout the week.

A good deal of attention will be riveted on the new class, which will be introduced by San Diego yachtsmen in the sailing championships. This is the Pacific Coast one design. Six of these boats have been

SPEED DEMONS IN TITLE DASH AT ASCOT TONIGHT

Hooked up in a sizzling battle for the 1930 championship of the Southwest, Francis Quinn, Melvin McKee, Jimmy Sharp, and more than twenty-five other dare-devil racing drivers will face the flag of Fred Wagner tonight at the Legion Ascot Speedway in the third after-dark program of the season.

With only 30 points separating Quinn, the leader in the championship rating, from Sharp, who holds second place, this pair are expected to do some hair-raising and reckless maneuvering of their mounts tonight. Sharp went on a wild winning spree a short time ago and his string of conquests has not yet been brought to an end. He has driven his fast Garnant Special to victory in both feature night races, and while Quinn was lucky in getting away to a lead in the title race earlier in the year there is a chance of Sharp passing him unless the latter's spurt is brought to a halt tonight.

ATHLETICS FIND WAY TO BEAT SUNDAY BLUE LAW

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1. (AP)—The management of the world's champion Philadelphia Athletics is considering a proposition to play Sunday baseball in Camden, N. J. Regular games, which are prohibited in this city by the Sunday laws of 1794, would be played if the plan is acted upon favorably.

This was revealed tonight by Charles S. Gartling, counsel for the baseball club, upon his return from Atlantic City, where he discussed the question with John D. Shibe, vice-president of the Athletics.

A site has been selected, he said, which is within ten minutes of the Philadelphia City Hall, and proposals are being acted upon that will permit construction of a park with a seating capacity greater than the present Athletics park.

ROOKIE FIGHTER EARNS DECISION

Jim Jeffries's Protege Pulls Unexpected at Legion

Youth Takes Lead in Fifth and is Never Headed

Armand Appears Wobbly in Tenth Round of Tilt

BY PAUL LOWRY

Who guessed this one? Al Morro, young protege of Jim Jeffries, beat Armand Emanuel at the Hollywood Legion stadium last night.

AL MORRO

It was the most surprising upset of the year and a packed house of 4700 fans let out a roar that tumbled out of the arena like a thunderclap as Referee Lieutenant Jack Kennedy raised Morro's hand.

Morro completely closed Emanuel's left eye with a right-hand smash in the seventh round, and went on to win from the veteran barrister-fighter in a rousing finish.

The victory was almost unbelievable in view of the two fighters' records. It smacked of a "ringer" triumph of the good old days.

Emanuel is considered one of the best boxers in heavyweight circles in the country.

He has been fighting nearly four years as a professional.

SECOND APPEARANCE

Morro had only one known professional bout under his belt when he entered the ring last night.

Last February he made his debut by beating Tony Stabeneau in a ten-round bout.

Experts said Jeffries, former heavyweight champion of the world, was throwing his boy to the lions by matching him with Emanuel.

"Emanuel will box his ears back," they told Jeff.

"It's not a bad match," retorted Jeff. "I know my boy can fight."

And fight he did.

Emanuel started out to race-horse his way to an easy decision. He won the first two rounds with a volley of straight lefts to the face.

FAST PACE

The pace was fast, but Emanuel was not making a fool of Morro.

The boy was stepping in nicely, driving in short well-timed hooks to the boy and blocking like anything but a novice.

His lefts to the body at close quarters won him the third and fourth rounds, and by this time Emanuel was showing the effects of his long lay-off from the ring. He was blowing badly, and Morro was the fresher.

Emanuel stepped up the pace in desperation in the fifth and won it along with the sixth round, cutting the bridge of Morro's nose with a glancing right.

Morro had a decided edge in the seventh when he rocked Emanuel with a hard right to the face and followed with a right to the body. The right to the face plopped squarely in Emanuel's left eye, which had been injured in the second round. The eye closed shut by the time the bell rang.

EMANUEL FLOUNDERS

Handicapped by his bad lamp, Emanuel floundered badly in the eighth, and Morro won it with a barrage of left jabs.

Emanuel had the ninth won until Morro uncorked three punches—right, left and right to head—which had Emanuel wobbly. Morro showed he was still green by back-

RUTH HITS TWO HOMERS

Babe Clouts Ball Hard in Game Between Yanks and Red Sox; New Yorkers Win

BOSTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—Babe Ruth started the new month with two home runs today and with another big fellow of the New York Yanks, Charley Ruffing, beat the Red Sox, 4 to 1, to clean up the four-game series.

The Babe hit his thirty-seventh homer of the season off Horace Lisenbee in the first with none on base, then clouted No. 38 in the ninth off Milt Gaston, scoring Ruffing ahead of him. He also walked twice and hit a double for a perfect day at bat.

BABE RUTH

Ruffing did the rest of the starring for the Yanks by holding his former mates to two hits, and would have had a shut-out except for an error. He had nine strike-outs.

Ruth's homers put him eight games ahead of his record pace of 1927, when he hit his thirty-eighth on August 17. The score:

Arlett Plans Suit Against Coast League

"Buzz" Arlett, hard-hitting Oakland outfielder, announced last night at Wrigley Field, during the Oakland - Los Angeles ball game, that he had ordered his attorney in Oakland to start suit against the Pacific Coast League for $10,000.

BUZZ ARLETT

Arlett declared that when the league upheld Umpire Chet Chadbourne, during the recent run-in the two had at Sacramento, when Arlett was cut over the eye when Chadbourne hit him with a mask, had broken up a deal, which would have sent Arlett to Brooklyn. The deal, Arlett declared, was called off, and the Dodgers bought "Ike" Boone of the

REVIVE STATE OPEN TOURNEY

California Championship is Set for September

BY EDWARD LAWRENCE

California's open golf championship, having lain dormant since 1927, will be revived over the Montebello Park Golf Club links on September 17, 18, 19 and 21.

WILLIE I. HUNTER.

That announcement came yesterday from Willie Hunter, president of the Pacific Southwest P.G.A. and the defending open champion. "Wee Willie" won the title at San Francisco in 1927, and defeated George "Jix" Von Elm a year earlier at El Caballero.

Through lack of interest and financial backing, the open died a natural death. Prize money to the extent of $1250 has been guaranteed for the coming tournament, and Hunter believes that the revival will be a success in every respect.

An amateur-pro event is scheduled to open the program. Amateurs with handicaps up to 12 will be eligible. In the open proper handicaps will be limited to 7.

Rounds of eighteen holes will be played on September 18 and 19 with the low thirty-two and ties battling through the final thirty-six holes on Sunday, September 21.

The tournament is expected to draw a large number of northern professionals and amateurs as well as Southern California's leading stars. Von Elm, who is now making his permanent home in Los Angeles, is expected to be the leading amateur entrant. Fred Morrison of Midwick, Southern California open champion, Olin Dutra of

SOX SOCKED

DETROIT, Aug. 1. (AP)—A barrage of seventeen hits which went for twenty-nine bases gave the Tigers an easy 12-to-4 victory over the Chicago White Sox today.

While the Tigers were getting to Dutch Henry for six hits in the first and second innings to give him his fifteenth defeat of the season, and maltreating his successor, Earl Whitehill was holding the Sox to eight hits and accumulating his seventh consecutive victory. Walsh, who relieved Henry in the second, was touched for eleven hits.

Akers hit a homer in the third with two on base.

CARNERA MAY GET EXTENSION

this, he confined his own arguments to a broad smile.

"He is the man who fights; I say hit and he hits," explained Leon See, his manager.

See volubly joined in the contention of Representative Hartley of New Jersey that the sporting interests of the United States required that Carnera be granted a time extension of three or four more months to complete his campaign for a title bout.

A vigorous denial of any unethical conduct in the ring was entered for him and for his manager; it was pleaded that his earnings were helpful to charity and his exhibitions educational. Advance dates made for his fistic appearances in Atlantic City and Detroit during coming weeks were cited.

No hostile questions were put to the Carnera group by board members, nor was any testimony introduced attacking his right to an extension of stay.

The decision was taken under advisement by Labor Department officials but the belief prevailed that Carnera would be given a six-months' extension of his time for leaving the country.

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

THE FLYWEIGHT SITUATION

THERE is some smoke in the air about a Midget Wolgast-Speedy Dado fight for the flyweight title.

This may seem strange in view of the fact that Dado is laid up for three months with a fractured bone in his shoulder.

And stranger still when it is considered that Wolgast, the new champion, was just getting warmed to his task in the Dado fight the other night when it was stopped.

On the other hand, the Dado proponents set forth that Speed never did unleash his own steam, and that he was holding back for rallies later in the bout.

At any rate, soundings have been taken for a championship bout in November.

Mr. Johnny Keyes, corpulent manager of Wolgast, announces that like Barkis he is willing, but the guarantee to Midget must be $20,000.

And Mr. Keyes has so much confidence in his fighter retaining the title that he is willing to postpone a scheduled title bout featuring Frankie Genaro against Wolgast in October until after the Dado skirmish.

Mr. Keyes suggests that Mr. Frank Churchill, backing Dado, put $20,000 on the line for Wolgast, and the match is made.

A FAT GUARANTEE

AS guarantees run this is rather large for the little fellows, but Mr. Keyes points out that his boy is no ordinary fighter, and is therefore entitled to unusual stipends.

When Frankie Genaro put the title on the block for Fidel La Barba here five years ago the guarantee to Frankie was $12,500.

Tod Morgan and Baby Sal drew nearly $40,000 at Wrigley Field a year ago in a fight for Tod's junior lightweight crown, and this match lacked much of the lure surrounding Wolgast and Dado.

Wolgast is undoubtedly the fastest little fellow that ever appeared here. He is a bona-fide flyweight, and can fight at 108 pounds—four pounds under the flyweight limit.

Dado has been the best flyweight on the Coast for two years. His speed was thought unmatchable until Wolgast appeared on the scene.

He didn't unwind against Wolgast the other night although he has never flashed such rapidity of foot and arms. However he has displayed harder hitting powers than the champion put on display in his first local bout.

PEDLEY MAKES GRADE

ERIC PEDLEY seems to have astounded the eastern contingent to the extent that the Midwick star will be picked to ride in the No. 1 position in the international series.

His feat of scoring something like sixteen goals in a recent engagement focused considerable attention on the West Coast rider.

And the redoubtable Mr. Thomas Hitchcock, captain of the American team, appears to be so well pleased with Pedley's performances that he has given up further search for a No. 1 man.

QUITE A LAPSE

AL SINGER may turn out to be a great lightweight champion, but there is some evidence to the effect that the division suffered a bad lapse since the days of Benny Leonard.

Sammy Mandell won the title from old Rocky Kansas in 1926.

But back in 1922 Leonard knocked out Kansas in eight rounds.

Leonard retired with no more worlds to conquer, and no lightweights have been developed since his time who can hold a candle to him.

Lionel Pedley with Uplifter Four Tomorrow

While Eric Pedley is proving somewhat of a sensation in eastern polo circles, having practically cinched the No. 1 position on America's international team, his brother, Lionel, is upholding the polo traditions of the family by his fine play here at home. While Lionel does not rate with Eric by any means, still his style of play closely resembles that of his famed brother and, as a matter of fact, he isn't so bad himself.

In tomorrow's game on the Uplifters' field, Lionel will play No. 3 and captain the Buccaneers in their tilt with the Rovers led by Clair Brunson. The Buccaneers figure to cop the contest but Brunson and his cohorts, Dr. Rex Duncan, Snowy Baker and Dick Smith, may spring a surprise and romp home in front after all.

Will Rogers, Jr., will appear at No. 1 for the Buccaneers and will be backed up by that daring rider, Lyell Puckett, in the No. 2 position. Carl Beal will ride at back.

The game is open to the public and will get under way at 2:30 with Hugh Blue in the role of referee.

The line-ups:

Buccaneers		Rovers
Will Rogers, Jr.	No. 1	Dr. Rex Duncan
Lyell Puckett	No. 2	Snowy Baker
Lionell Pedley	No. 3	Clair Brunson
Carl Beal	Back	Dick Smith

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (AP)—Putting on a three-run rally in the ninth inning, San Francisco defeated Sacramento, 4 to 3, today, making it four straight victories over the visitors.

Jimmy Zinn not only pitched a good game for the Seals, but was a big factor in their victory. He hit a home run in the fifth and doubled in the ninth, scoring two to tie the count.

Zinn then scored the winning run on Crosetti's single. Ward of the Senators hit a homer in the fourth with French on base. The score:

NEWPORT GOAL OF YACHTSMEN

entered from the border city. Yachtsmen will be interested to know just what they can do as compared to other classes.

San Diego also has two fas "R" boats, the Angela and the Zephyr, entered in the series along with a number of crack stars.

MYSTERY BOAT ENTERED

San Francisco has given the eight-meter races a touch of mystery by entering a new double ender recently imported from Norway. This boat as yet has not been given a name on the official entry list. The Hvide will also carry the Bay City colors in the eight-meter class, which means that the northern yachtsmen are going to make a real fight for the laurels in that division.

Owen Dresden will skipper the Marin, winner of the King-of-Spain trophy and one of the favorites to win the eight-meter series. Commodore Owen Churchill's Babe will be handled by Ben Weston. Roger Marchetti's Duce, formerly the Monidah, is out to win a title in this class, too.

In the R Class Commodore Churchill's Friendship will be sailed by Newel Logan. Churchill will not be present at the regatta. He is in the East racing his latest eight-meter pet, the Angelita. Puget Sound has an entry in R-series in the Sir Tom that may prove the surprise boat. Ted Geary is her owner and skipper. The Patricia, the Angela and the Zephyr are the other entries.

KEEN COMPETITION

The six-meter championships will bring out some real keen competition between San Francisco and Los Angeles skippers. Arthur Rousseau has his Maybe all tuned up for the series and is all set to carry the winning trophy back to the Bay City. The Ayayay, Stuart Haldron's sloop, will be sailed by Charles Langlais, one of San Francisco's finest skippers. Opposed to these boats will be Vice-Commodore Al Rogers's Synnove of Newport Harbor Yacht Club, Tommy Lee's Caprice, George Thomas III's Ednada V and the Clio, owned by the Simmons brothers. It will be real a tussle between the south and the north for the honors.

The larger sailing craft, sloops, yawls, ketches and schooners, figure in the spotlight during the week. They will be divided up in their respective classes, according to their sail area and race accordingly. On the 8th inst. an arbitrary handicap open to all boats in the fleet will be staged.

Power cruisers have their inning on Thursday, when they race around Catalina Island. The skimmers, snowbirds and seamews will race inside of the harbor and the larger boats outside.

The San Diego Lipton trophy race for sloops is scheduled for Thursday on the ocean course.

Oakland Fans to See Night Ball Tuesday

OAKLAND, Aug. 1. (AP)—Night baseball will start in Oakland next Tuesday and A. Robert Miller, president of the Oaks, announces to all and sundry that the climate in the east bay city is ideal for nocturnal home runs and umpire-baiting. He should know. All this week Miller has sat, alone, for hours at a time in the big park testing the weather. He discovered the wind dies down about 3:30 p.m.

The lighting system, a composite arrangement created after inspection of various plants throughout the country, has forty-six units of lights. Poles surround the field, which is flooded with light. The equipment was tried out tonight.

Sacramento will be the visiting team for the first week's series. The advance sale is the biggest in the history of baseball in Oakland with ticket reservations from as far south as Fresno and from Marysville on the north.

BILL SHAW LISTS HOLDS

"Wild" Wrestler Tells Mat Clamps That Are to be Used in Nick Lutze Bout

The head locks and flying tackles are the grips with which "Wild" Bill Shaw, the rough 225-pound Mormon, hopes to pound out a victory at the expense of Nick Lutze at the Olympic Wednesday night.

These two will clash in one of the finish feature events scheduled by Jack Daro for that night. Shaw, according to reports received here from the East, is about the greatest young exponent of the head lock in the game. He weighs but five pounds less than Ed "Strangler" Lewis, and is as vicious in his mat work as the former champion.

Lutze has always appeared weak in his defense against the head locks. Lewis nearly tore his head off on several occasions. Jack O'Malley, Phoenix youngster, tossed Lutze for so many loops with head locks that the Venice life guard became dizzy. Several others have been as successful with this grip against the popular 200-pounder.

Between the head locks, tackles and short jabs and uppercuts Shaw expects to put Lutze out of the running here as a feature eventer. As he has had a great deal of experience with the gloves, Shaw will have a decided edge on Lutze should the latter accept his challenge and start throwing punches. The match is expected to develop into the most sensational of the evening.

Don George, former national amateur mat king in 1928-29, will clash with Marin Plestina, Tarzan of the mat, in the other finish bout, while Lee Wycoff will face Pietro Bacini in the opener.

Worthman raced close up from the start and caught Saucy Polly, the early pacemaker, tiring in the final eighth. He came on under hard urging by Jockey Moore to hold Wrackhorn in the final drive. Time for the route was 2m. 7 3-5s.

Willie Johns continued to lead the jockey parade. He accepted five mounts during the afternoon and won with two. He was out of the money with the others. Results:

FINAL GONG HEARD BY CHARLES BARKER

Charles Barker, former well-known amateur lightweight boxer in Los Angeles, and later a referee and promoter in Phoenix, Ariz., died last night at the Mayo Clinic in Rochester, Minn. Barker at one time held the Pacific Coast amateur lightweight championship. While seemingly on the way to great heights in the field of boxing his health failed him and he was forced to go to Arizona to live. While in Phoenix the former champion was associated with Willie Hunnefeld in promoting local fights. He was also well known as a capable and fearless referee.

Charles's brother Ralph, an employee of The Times, left Los Angeles yesterday morning by Western Air Express for the bedside and was en route from Kansas City when his brother expired.

ATLANTIC COD HOOKED NEAR SANTA MONICA

An Atlantic cod was caught by hook and line by W. T. Crumpton off Santa Monica yesterday, it was reported by Cliff and Jack, operators of the live-bait boats Thrush and Palisades. OLYMPIC SIGNS PRELIMINARIES

Supporting Card for Brown, Townsend Lined Up

Matchmaker Vad Wadhams yesterday booked Bobby Pacho, El Centro Mexican and Johnny De Lano, Boston Italian, for the six-round semi-wind-up to the Billy Townsend-Harry (Kid) Brown bout at the Olympic Tuesday night.

Pacho and De Lano are both punchers and have made good fights at the Grand-avenue club recently. De Lano looked like another Johnny Vaca in his debut with Manuel De Leon.

The Olympic is prepared to entertain more feminine fans next week than it has ever had before. The "ladies free with escorts" plan is an innovation. It will not be a regular custom, however.

During the warm summer months the club may give the women folks a break on certain shows if the experiment works out all right. Many of the regulars, who have come for years, are expected to bring their wives Tuesday night.

Townsend and Brown will finish their training tomorrow. They have been forced to work during one of the severest heat waves of the summer. Both are in fine shape. They are boxing at 142 pounds.

The Canadian is the favorite in the betting since he is better known and well steamed up with four knockouts in five starts. Brown defeated Baby Joe Gans here a little over three years ago. He lost to Jackie Fields and also dropped a decision to Jack Sparr at San Diego.

Steve Hayden and Steve Hamas, heavyweights, will meet in the special event of six rounds. The two fours are Kenneth Johnson vs. Homer Gaines, and George Alkis vs. George Hanford.

Bobby Jones Gives a Cure for Shanking

NOT WITH LITTLE FINGER LEADING LIKE THIS Sol Metzger
7-24

BY SOL METZGER

Bobby Jones, called the robot of golf, has not always been one. He used to have many troubles. One was shanking. That's where you hit the ball so close to the heel of its head that the shaft strikes it off to the right. Control is impossible. A dubbed result takes place.

Bobby found that one cure was the grip. The back of his left hand and the palm of the right must not only face the flag at address but also at contact.

If you play your irons with the little finger of the left hand nearest the flag as you come through a shanked shot usually results.

Sol Metzger has prepared a leaflet on "The Art of Pitching," in which he reveals the secret of how to make the ball "bite" the green when it hits. Send stamped, addressed envelope to Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and ask for it.

ARLETT PLANS TO SUE LEAGUE

Missions, instead. This move prevented him from going to the majors, Arlett said, and deprived him of $10,000, which he is seeking to recover from the league.

Fans believe that this action will cause Commissioner K. M. Landis to step in, as he did several years ago, when he suspended Frank Brazill for sixty days. Brazill had a run-in with Mal Eason, umpire, and President Harry Williams gave him a short suspension. Landis stepped in and handed him a stiffer sentence.

COURTNEY DEFEATS FIRPO IN BAY CITY

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (AP)—George Courtney, 163½ pounds, Tulsa, Okla., defeated Young Firpo, 174, of Burke, Idaho, in the fifth round of their ten-round bout tonight, when Referee Toby Irwin halted the contest because of Firpo's holding tactics.

Firpo was cautioned several times to stop clinching. It was a rough-and-tumble battle from the first round. In the opening session Courtney shot over a right hand to the jaw that floored his opponent for a six count. He continued to force the fighting all the way.

Firpo threw punches from every angle, landing a number of hard ones to Courtney's body, but he found disfavor in the eyes of the referee. The Idaho fighter was the most awkward seen here in a long time and fell to the floor several times from the momentum of punches he never landed.

Big Six

By the Associated Press

It was Babe Ruth's turn to have a perfect afternoon at bat yesterday and the Babe did a very neat job of it, by slamming out his thirty-seventh and thirty-eighth home runs and a double and walking twice in five turns at bat. He gained six points in the averages, going up to .365.

Al Simmons had a day of scheduled idleness and Frank O'Doul slipped off a trifle with one hit in four attempts. The rest of the Big Six each hit twice in four trips to the plate.

Chuck Klein and Lou Gehrig gained a point apiece, going up to .412 and .393, respectively, while Bill Terry, dealing in fractions, remained at the .396 mark. O'Doul lost a point, dropping to .401.

Ed Baecht Stops Oak Rally in Ninth Inning

rounds. Ballou struck out Deviveros, Craghead and Uhalt in order in the third, but the bulky Oakland pitcher duplicated the stunt in the home half by fanning Hannah, Ballou and Sigafoos.

Craghead was the first to weaken, the Cherubs counting three times on him in the fourth with the aid of a couple of hits and two Oakland misplays. Johnny Moore led off by bouncing a double over Fenton's head. Dittmar bunted and both men were safe when Craghead threw to Verges too late to get Moore at third. Schulmerich hit to Dean and all hands were safe again, Moore scoring, when Deviveros dropped the second-sacker's toss. Jacobs bunted the runners along and Haney followed with a single to left that drove Dittmar and Schulmerich over the plate.

The Oaks came back with one in the fifth when Dean doubled down the left-field line and scored when Craghead helped out his own cause by slapping a single to right.

When Dean singled and Deviveros walked after two were out in the seventh, Zamloch sent in Brubaker to bat for Craghead but the pinch-hitter went out on a fly to Statz to end the rally.

With Dumovich on the mound for Oakland, the Angels picked up one more run in the home half of the seventh. Haney led off with a single and was bunted to second by Statz. Fred then took advantage of his ability to steal bases and pilfered third. The move put him in position to score on Hannah's short fly to Martin, but Haney had to execute a perfect slide to get in under Lombardi as he was taking the throw from center.

BALLOU CHASED

Ballou got the first two Oaks to face him out in the eighth and then his troubles began. Verges singled and Arlett hit his home run. Lombardi also singled and Pete Ritchie ran for him. Fenton then had a run-in with Umpire Casey but was allowed to stay in the game after protesting a couple of strikes. After the rumpus was settled, Fenton singled and Ritchie went to third. That was all for Ballou, Baecht coming on the mound. Joe Mellano, batting for Dean, walked to fill the bases but Deviveros hit down to Dittmar, whose toss to Sigafoos forced Mellano for the third out.

A walk to Sigafoos, Moore's bunt and Dittmar's solid single to center gave the Cherubs another score off Dumovich in the eighth, putting them two in front.

Oakland threatened in the ninth when Pug Griffin, batting for Dumovich, and Uhalt both singled. Baecht, however, scooped up Martin's bunt and whipped it to Haney in time to force Griffin. Verges went down on strikes and Arlett lifted a gentle fly to Moore for the third out, much to the general amusement of the gathering. Score:

Seattle Sinks Mission Reds

SEATTLE (Wash.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Seattle nosed out the Missions here tonight, 4 to 3, in nip-and-tuck contest. The Indians counted two in the first inning and held the Missions scoreless until the fifth inning, when Bigelow drove a homer over the right-field fence. The Missions went into the lead, 3 to 2, in the sixth on Monroe's homer with Kelley on, only to lose it in the seventh, when the tribe put over two more tallies. The last two innings were scoreless.

CARGO SERVICE EXPANSION DUE

Oceanic-Oriental Announces New Program

Four Calling Ports Added to Antipodes Run

Move Prompted by Growth of Trade in Field

BY WALDO DRAKE

Four new ports of call in the Antipodes are being added to the Australia-New Zealand schedule of the Oceanic and Oriental Line, it was announced yesterday by Joseph B. Banning, Jr., district manager of the Matson Navigation Company, operator of the Antipodes section of the O. and O. fleet. Steady increase in both outbound and homeward traffic over the Antipodean freight route has necessitated the additional calls.

The expanded service will be inaugurated on the 15th inst., with the departure from Los Angeles Harbor of the steamer Golden Harvest, which will discharge cargo at Davenport, Tasmania, in addition to her five regular Australian ports. The steamer Golden Hind, from here September 1, next, will call at Pimaru, New Zealand, plus regular visits to Auckland, Wellington, Littleton and Dunedin. On October 1, the O. and O. liner Golden West will sail from the local port to add the ports of New Plymouth and Nelson to the New Zealand calls.

Yesterday, the O. and O. liner Golden Cross sailed for New Zealand with a capacity load of more than 10,000 measurement tons aboard, including 4000 tons of local petroleum products. Homeward, she will carry a consignment of lumber to Levuka, Fiji Islands, where she will load copra for local discharge.

Oceanic and Oriental Line operates a fleet of eight steamers to the Antipodes, four operating to New Zealand and four to Australia, on monthly schedules.

NEW OIL BUNKERING BARGE LAUNCHING TODAY

Launching of Western Oil and Refining Company's first specially constructed towing barge for harbor bunkering service is set for 3:30 p.m. today at the yards of the Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Corporation. She is all steel, 135 by forty by fourteen feet, with a gross tonnage of 550 and a capacity of 8200 barrels of petroleum products.

Bids on two other petroleum craft will be opened the 4th inst. by Lambie & Mabry, local naval architects. They are a 10,000-barrel Diesel-driven harbor tanker and a towing bunkering barge of similar capacity, both for the Rio Grande Oil Company, and to constitute that company's first floating equipment. The little tanker will be 180 feet long and will cost about $185,000; the barge will be 150 feet long and cost around $80,000. Three local and three up-Coast shipyards are reported bidding for the construction jobs.

Appraisals on Southern Pacific frontage from First to Fourteenth street, San Pedro, with a view toward acquirement by Los Angeles, will be returned the 15th inst. to Mayor Porter's committee, headed by Leslie Mott, president of San Pedro Chamber of Commerce. The appraising is being done by W. H. Daum, president of the California Real Estate Association, in behalf of the city, and by D. F. McGarry, for the railroad.

Richfield Oil Company will enter the Australian bulk gasoline trade today, when the Danish motor tanker Mexico sails from Long Beach with 35,000 barrels aboard for Melbourne, Adelaide and Botany Bay.

The Mexico, only tanker of the great cargo and passenger fleet of the Danish East Asiatic Company, has been chartered to Richfield for four voyages. She is in command of Capt. Nicolas Wolff-Jorgensen, veteran among East Asiatic skippers.

The new Norwegian motorship Heranger, last of five refrigerator and passenger liners being built by Westfall, Larsen & Co. for the Pacific Coast, Brazil and Argentine service, will be delivered by her Norwegian builders about the 9th inst., it was announced yesterday by Capt. H. H. Birkholm, district manager of the General Steamship Corporation, coast agent for Westfal-Larsen.

Dr. C. F. Aked, pastor of All Souls' Congregational Church, Los Angeles, and Mrs. Aked sailed on the Hamburg - American steamer Vancouver for London yesterday, and will return next fall on the same liner. News of Ships and Sailings at Pacific Ports

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (AP)—The Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, with an estimate of $354,904, was low bidder for converting and installing Diesel machinery in the former Shipping Board steamer George E. Weed, recently purchased by Flood Brothers of San Francisco.

Other bids were submitted by the General Engineering and Drydock Company and the Moore Drydock Company, both of San Francisco, and the Todd Shipbuilding and Drydock Company of Seattle.

The vessel is on the east coast at present. It is expected the contract will be let within a few days.

A total of 1261 ships with a net tonnage of 3,470,580 passed through the port of San Francisco during July, figures of the marine department of the Chamber of Commerce revealed today. This represents a decrease compared with July, 1929, when the net tonnage was 3,542,299 and the number of vessels 1370.

Bids for renewing the pumping system and repairing the Standard Oil barge No. 7 were opened today with the Moore Drydock Company of Oakland, the low bidder. The Moore estimate is $21,128 and twenty-one days. The Los Angeles Shipbuilding and Drydock Company was second low, with $33,500 and twenty-eight days.

SEATTLE, Aug. 1.—Three vessels, bringing salmon cannery crews and canned salmon from the Bering Sea, where the packing season this year closed prematurely in contrast to the exceptionally good run in Southwest Alaska, are due here tomorrow.

The passenger liner Victoria will arrive late tomorrow night with more than 200 cannery officials and hands, on her second voyage from home this season. Two Libby, McNeill and Libby ships, the General W. C. G. Gorgas and Otsego, are bringing crews and salmon from Bristol Bay, which had the poorest run of salmon since canneries started operating there.

PORTLAND, Aug. 1.—Reports have been received here that the Belgian steamer Kambove struck a log and damaged her rudder while en route from Puget Sound to Grays Harbor. Arrangements have been made to drydock the vessel here Tuesday.

TACOMA, Aug. 1.—A total of 172 deep sea carriers arrived at and 174 departed from the Tacoma Harbor during July, according to figures announced today. American vessels in the domestic trade accounted for 108 and foreign trade nineteen. Great Britain led the foreign countries with eighteen and Japan second with twelve.

The President Madison, which arrived from the Orient early Friday morning, loaded 46,000 sacks of flour at a local mill. The Isthmian liner Steel Inventor took 8000 doors and 100 tons of plywood for Avon and the Oceanic and Oriental liner Golden Harvest loaded 830,000 feet of lumber for Sydney.

Listening Post

BY WALTER TRUMBULL

(Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance)

Gene Tunney is a rather fortunate young man. He is most happily married, has a lot of friends, and plenty of money. His most earnest desire at the present time, is to enjoy life. But there are a lot of persons who appear to have made up their minds that Gene must go to work.

Tunney worked hard when he was young. He didn't have much then, except ambition. Later he trained hard for seven years and denied himself a lot of things. I don't believe he is over anxious to go to work again just now. He wants to play a while.

Some day, I think that Gene will go to work; but he has considerable time to consider that matter. But rumor already has put him in almost every business that exists. None of them, so far, have appealed to him.

Yonder there stands the towering goal of fame—
When clear is called your signal in the game,
Yours is the ball to take cross the line
And, if you trip or fumble, yours the blame.

Another football season is just around the corner. Fred Turbyville tells me that Pittsburgh looks forward to a good year; that the big home contest will be the game with Notre Dame; that the schedule will be tougher than last season, because Pitt meets Syracuse, Notre Dame, Nebraska, Carnegie, Ohio and Penn State on successive Saturdays. That is plenty of schedule for any team. Jock Sutherland proposes to move Jim MacMurdo to the end left vacant by Donchess. If MacMurdo is as good an end as he was a tackle, there will not be many better.

A spotlight often seems brighter than a star; but it doesn't last as long.

CHASE NATIONAL CONFIDENT

Expansion at This Time Looks to Future Rather than Current Trend of Business Conditions

BY EARLE E. CROWE

One pleasing deduction from the announcement of the Chase National Bank-Harris, Forbes & Co. affiliation is the implied confidence of the Chase National management in the future of American business.

Not many financial groups have the courage to undertake expansion steps in dull times. Most financial and industrial organizations are, on the other hand, rather busily at work trying to iron out the wrinkles in the deals made before the business trend turned downward. But the Chase National confidently turns to investment banking and sets up the largest distributing outlet in the country, regardless of business conditions.

FAITH SHOWN

In directing its energies to building up this end of the banking business the Chase National demonstrates its faith especially in the future of investment banking. One or two other commercial banks have taken similar steps in acquiring private investment houses, notably the Bank of America of New York, and it now appears the trend of commercial banking is in this direction.

The business of commercial banking has become so highly competitive that intensive cultivation of the related lines is necessary if the banking business is to produce profits. The Giannini banks were the first to see the possibilities in exploiting the various subsidiary channels, and have entered actively into investment, mortgage, insurance, travelers' checks, brokerage, foreign banking and other financial lines.

Chase National officers have put the bank into foreign commercial banking in a large way, and have also negotiated several large domestic consolidations in recent months. The affiliation last year with the American Express Company established a precedent in American banking and gave the Chase National the benefits of a world-wide organization.

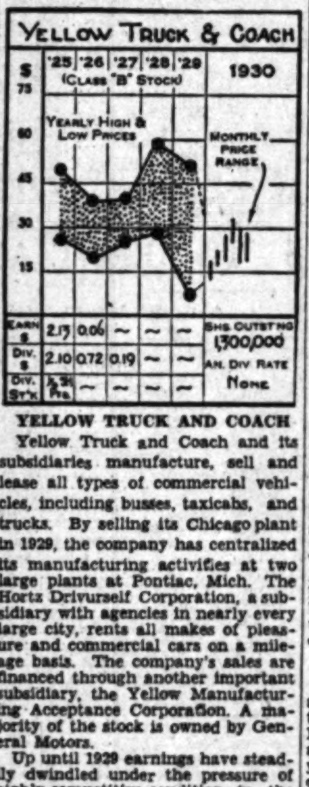
BANKS ABSORBED

In commercial banking the Chase acquired in 1929 the Garfield National Bank and National Park Bank. The most important move along this line was taken early this year in the merger with the Chase of the Equitable Trust Company and the Interstate Trust Company, creating an institution with total resources of more than $2,400,000,000.

Through the acquisition of the Equitable Trust the Chase National obtained additional offices abroad, including Paris and Mexico City, and also branches in the Far East through the Equitable Eastern Banking Corporation. The American Express affiliation brought sixty-six offices in foreign countries.

Albert H. Wiggin, who joined the Chase in 1904 as a vice-president and became president in 1911, is given the credit for the Chase expansion in recent years. He is now chairman of the board and is regarded as one of the outstanding figures in Wall street.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK



YELLOW TRUCK AND COACH

Yellow Truck and Coach and its subsidiaries manufacture, sell and lease all types of commercial vehicles, including busses, taxicabs, and trucks. By selling its Chicago plant in 1929, the company has centralized its manufacturing activities at two large plants at Pontiac, Mich. The Hortz Drivurself Corporation, a subsidiary with agencies in nearly every large city, rents all makes of pleasure and commercial cars on a mileage basis. The company's sales are financed through another important subsidiary, the Yellow Manufacturing Acceptance Corporation. A majority of the stock is owned by General Motors.

Up until 1929 earnings have steadily dwindled under the pressure of highly competitive conditions in the industry, with 1928 showing a deficit of $1.66 per share of Class "B" stock. Reflecting the economies of centralized manufacturing operations and increased sales, a very considerable advance was registered in 1929, with net income equal to 6 cents per share. Still further progress in the first quarter of 1930 is marked in a reported deficit of only 7 cents per share as against a deficit of 16 cents in the like 1929 quarter. Current ratio is better than 7 to 1.

Zonite Stock Offerings Due

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Zonite Products Corporation will probably offer soon to stockholders a small amount of additional common stock at around prevailing prices, it was learned here today. The proceeds would be used for liquidation of bank loans incurred in connection with larger inventory occasioned by the company's recent change in manufacturing location.

Earnings of the company are estimated at around 65 cents a share in the first half of this year, which covers dividend requirements of 50 cents for the period by a good margin. In view of the steadily improving earnings there seems little likelihood that the dividend will be endangered.

End Forecast of Tire Price Drop

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. — P. W. Litchfield, president of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, returning today aboard the Bremen, stated he believed tire prices had reached rock bottom. Economic conditions are unfavorable in England, Germany and Scandinavian countries, but Goodyear plants in those countries are doing remarkably well, he said.

No estimates as to Goodyear earnings in the first six months can be made, since a large inventory write-off must be made due to the decline of crude-rubber prices, he declared. Mr. Litchfield expects the company's new South American plant to be in operation about the first of next year.

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—Bonds that have a rating below "A" are not selling as bond dealers hoped they would when money became plentiful. The market for first-class bonds is good. But for the second-class bonds it is poor.

"Personally, I would much rather have a first-class common stock paying me below the rate I can get on a first-class bond than have my money invested in a second-class bond, which pays more and is not supposed to have as much risk," said a well-known bond dealer to me yesterday.

"Understand me, I am all for an increase in the bond business. But if I had $100,000 to invest right now, I should personally prefer to put it into first-class common stock, and take a chance on the appreciation or depreciation in that stock, rather than to put it into a second-class bond, which may or may not have the liquidability features. Of course, a bond is supposed to be more liquid than a stock.

"The difficulty with the banking situation today is that too many banks are loaded up with second-class bonds, which, if liquidated, represent substantial loss."

Not all bankers take this position. For the swing from stocks to bonds is proceeding. Many people who invested in stocks last year have quit and gone back to bonds, because of the belief in the public mind that bond interest in times like these is surer than dividends.

The National City Bank's compilation, just issued, bears out this contention. It shows a decline of 24.4 per cent in the net profits of industrial corporations during the first half of the present year as compared with the first six months of 1929.

In the 275 industrial corporations included in the figures, the net profits for the first half of 1930 amounted to $633,608,083 as compared with $837,857,000 during the first half of 1929.

Rails are off worse probably than most of them, showing a 33 per cent decrease in net earnings.

Such checkings, of course, are misleading, for the reason that 1929 was the year that more high industrial records were broken than in any other period in history.

As a matter of fact, the results for the first six months of this year are very little short of those for the first six months of 1928.

This question presents itself: Must dividends be reduced to the levels of 1928? If so, it means a decline of about 37 per cent from the present levels.

The corporations that are standing up in these days are those that carry plenty of cash reserves on hand, and are ready to meet any situation that arises.

It looks now, however, as if business during the last quarter of 1930 will show up better than the last quarter of 1929.

Light and Tram Utility Net Up

NEW YORK, Aug. 1.—American Light and Traction Company and subsidiaries reported today for the quarter ended June 30, last, net income of $2,869,519 after charges and taxes, equal after preferred dividends to 96 cents a share on 2,767,-209 common shares. This compares with $2,818,239, or 94 cents a share, in the same quarter of last year.

For the twelve months ended June 30, last, net income was $11,-533,394, equal to $3.88 a share on 2,767,309 common shares, compared with $10,823,694, or $3.62 a share, in the preceding twelve months.

WOOL MART QUOTATIONS RULE FIRM

Tone of Weekly Review Shade Brighter Despite Let-Down in Buying

BOSTON, Aug. 1. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston tomorrow will say:

While demand has lessened somewhat this week, prices are firmly maintained, with choicest fine wools against the buyer. Manufacturers evidently consider the outlook for the manufactured fabric more encouraging than for some time. Later openings of staple lightweight lines by the mills indicate that prices are being figured very closely this year and it would seem that the turn in the tide of good business for the wool manufacturers has come at length, with wool values at an irreducible minimum.

Demand favors chiefly the finer wools but there is a broadening demand for the lower qualities. Top makers are reporting a little more inquiry this week. Woolen wools still are slow of sale, although some sampling is being done.

The foreign markets are generally passing through the period of midsummer dullness. The Liverpool East India sales recorded a general decline in values over the close of the preceding series of 10 per cent.

Mohair still is rather slow. Some demand for low quality hair around 36 cents is reported.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1930, to July 31, 1930, inclusive, were 79,841,500 pounds against 104,829,-000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1930, to July 31, 1930, inclusive, were 230,485,312 pounds against 206,-750,685 pounds for the same period last year.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, August 1. (AP)—Curb stocks sagged in the dullest session in more than two years today. Total sales were only 318,600 shares, compared to the year's previous record for dullness made in a turnover of 379,000 a week ago.

The thinness of the market resulted in several dips into new low ground by comparatively inactive shares for which bids were not readily forthcoming. Utilities, however, stood up relatively better than the similar issues of the bigger board. American Gas and Electric, which has risen some 30 points recently, closed off only 1 point at 130, close to its high for the movement. Electric Bond and Share and United Light A lost little more than a point, and American Superpower ¾. Commonwealth Edison dropped 7.

Among the industrials and specialties American Cigar dropped 6, Mock Judson 4¾, and American Salamdra, A. C. Gilbert and Knott Corporation 2 to 3, all to new lows. Driver Harris tumbled 7. Deere declined 3 points to a new low at 75, but closed at 77½. MacMarr Stores rallied about a point on a reassuring statement from the management as to the dividend.

Goldman-Sachs sagged a point to 17⅝, a new minimum, evidently reflecting selling in disappointment over its lack of response to the semiannual statement placing break-up value above 20.

Oils were largely neglected. Cities Service closed unchanged at 28½. Cosden, in which a pool has been active, was well supported, closing up a fraction.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Stock sales today, 318,600 shares.

The company's earnings as revealed in the half-year report were more than three times dividend requirements on the Class A stock, and were more than twice the earnings for the corresponding 1929 period.

NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, August 1. (AP)—In a small turnover characteristic of summer activity the price movement of bonds was sluggish today and changes were mostly of small consequence. Supported by a nominal demand, legal railroad issues rested on their recently acquired laurels and some of the telephone and electric light company issues advanced to the best figures of the year in contrast to the movement of the stocks.

Other domestic corporation bonds were dull and showed no change of trend from the somewhat narrow but irregular movement apparent throughout the week. With activity in the share market at the lowest point since November, 1928, stock privilege issues received little attention and drifted aimlessly to an irregular close. The narrow range in which railroads traveled was mirrored in Southern Pacific 4½s (Oregon division,) St. Paul 5s of 1975, and Pennsylvania 4½s, for which the best demand developed. Fluctuations were confined to ¼ of a point, and all held firm. Pennsylvania 4½s and Chesapeake and Ohio 4½s reached their best prices of the year. Union Pacific first 4s were easier. In the utility group, Detroit Edison 6s, Consolidated Gas 5½s, New York Telephone 6s and Pacific Gas and Electric 5s were very firm.

Government bonds, principally those of European countries, were the most active in the list of foreign obligations.

Liberty issues were unchanged.

The quotations represent sales of bonds (in thousands of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. To expedite transmission the close is omitted when the same as the low, and both low and close when same as high.

Corn Soars as Damage to Crops Grows

CHICAGO, Aug. 1. (AP)—Prospects of the scantiest corn crop since 1886, with only two exceptions, lifted corn today to a new top-price record for the season. Monthly unofficial crop estimates showed a sensational drop of 405,000,000 bushels in the forecasts of 1930 corn production as compared with similar private estimates a month ago. Today's indications were for continuance of the drought that has been ravaging fields throughout the corn belt, and that in Illinois was officially reported today as being for the last five months the severest in fifty-three years.

Closing quotations on corn were unsettled, ⅞@1⅛c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Wheat closed ⅝@1⅛c off, oats 1⅛@1⅜c up and provisions at 5@35c advance.

Heavy selling to realize profits turned the corn market backward somewhat after an extreme advance of 2⅝c a bushel that showed a maximum rise of nearly 18c since three weeks ago. The finish, however, was about 1c per bushel above the day's bottom level, the market receiving active buying support on setbacks. August monthly unofficial crop estimates indicated even greater injury by drought and heat than looked for.

One of the foremost Chicago crop authorities said that rainfall during July was heavily deficient over every section of the corn belt, and that the dearth of moisture is startling when compared with a series of years. Some stations report the month absolutely rainless, and contrary to common impression, Iowa and Northern Illinois, two of the foremost big producing commercial sources of corn, show a decided shortage of moisture for July. Oats went higher with corn and on the best class of buying seen in many months. The oats crop was unofficially estimated at 1,291,000,000 bushels, against 1,329,000,000 bushels a month ago.

Wheat values fell today after scoring transient gains as a result of fresh upturns in corn prices. Export business in North American wheat showed a decided slackening, and unofficial domestic wheat crop estimates were about 4,000,000 bushels larger than the government July 1 forecast. An estimated loss of about 30,000,000 bushels spring wheat during July was more than offset by an increase of winter wheat.

Provisions were responsive to the action both of corn and of hog values as well.

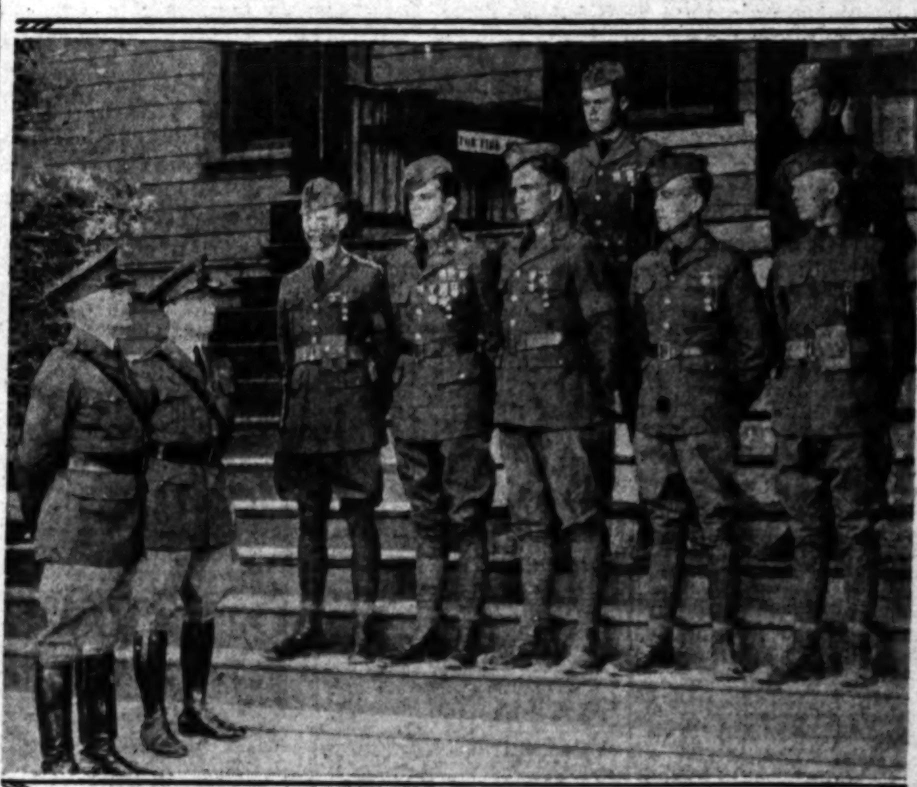
Citizen Soldiers Win Coveted Commendation



Seven Picked as Best at Del Monte Camp

These seven student officers being inspected by high United States Army officers were selected as the best in the Citizens' Military Training Camp at Del Monte, which closed yesterday. Left to right, they are—Capt. Dick Holman, Los Angeles; Maj. Clinton Daley, Porterville; Capt. Carlos Hemler, Oakland; Capt. Charles Lytle, Bakersfield; Capt. Clyde Coombs, Santa Barbara. Upper row—Capt. William Swain and Lieut. Fred Arrandondo, both of Los Angeles. The inspecting officers are Maj.-Gen. Stephen O. Fuqua, chief of infantry, U.S.A. (left) and Col. T. M. Coughlan, camp executive officer.

REVIEW ENDS BOYS' TRAINING

trot as the clanking gray caissons swept around to keep in line with the guns as they passed the reviewing officer.

"Present arms," slashed out from the boy colonel. The buglers of the field music sent the long notes of "Retreat" thrilling back into the wooded Monterey hills. As the last plaintive note died away the sunset gun barked. The military band crashed into "The Star Spangled Banner."

The summer encampment of the citizens' military training camp here was ended. At various points in the United States 35,000 boys have been going through this training. At Camp Pryor there are 1200, about 67 per cent of whom are from Southern California.

The military establishment of the United States is now divided into an elaborate system. It begins with the Boy Scouts. The next step is the civilian military training camps; then the reserve officer training camps; then the National Guard; then the regulars.

RANGE OF AGES

Beginning on the 10th inst., this camp will be turned into a sort of post-graduate school of information for officers already holding commissions in the army reserve.

The boys of the Del Monte encampment which broke up today, reported a month ago. They were mostly from 17 to 19. The government paid their railroad fare, gave them a medical examination, a uniform and started them on a course of "sprouts."

Some of the boys were really much younger but fudged a little to get in. One boy, Leroy Hoffman of Ninety-seventh street and Vermont avenue, Los Angeles, weighed a pound too little. They threw him out. In an hour he came back and asked to be weighed again. To their astonishment, he passed.

"How did you make up that weight?" asked the army surgeon in amazement. "Ate a dozen bananas and drank enough water to float a ship," said Leroy, darkly. They let him in.

MANY COUNTRY BOYS

For a month they have spent every morning in military drill. The first year they are called "basics" and have to be in the infantry. The second year they can choose between infantry, cavalry and artillery.

Many of the incipient troops are country boys from Central California, who quit if they can't ride horses.

Approximately two-thirds do not come back after the first year; another two-thirds of the original crop drop out the second year; about 5 per cent stick through the four-year course and enter the reserve officers' training corps, for which a year additional in the National Guard is almost a sine qua non.

The purpose of these encampments is two-fold. It is partly to train officers so that the United States will never again be caught in the terrible predicament of the World War, where our boys were sent out into an appalling slaughter due to the lack of experience of the amateur officers. Another purpose is to make them good citizens. With this end in view, the young trainers are given lectures in honor, courtesy and citizenship, the Constitution, etc., every afternoon.

REDS DISPLEASED

The soviets dislike the effect of this. During this encampment, Red propaganda has been secretly mailed from San Francisco to every boy in camp, telling him that this training is a demon-device of his "capitalistic masters" to make him an industrial slave. Having them thus in their "demon grip," the "capitalistic masters" do well by them, however. Over 70 cents a day is allowed for their food as against 47 cents for the Regular Army.

Trained cavalry horses are sent them from the Presidio to ride. Crack cook and bakery sergeants have been sent from the government school to feed them. Dietitians plan all menus. Every time they have leaky noses, four picked army surgeons fall upon them. At the slightest sign of temperature, they are hustled off to the army hospital. The "capitalistic masters" even send their own sons. Many of the boys doing kitchen police are from rich families who came in their own cars; sons of forty-two governors of States have undergone training in the various camps.

OFFICERS PRAISED

Camp Pryor is under command of three very fine officers—Col. Roger S. Fitch, Eleventh Cavalry, commanding; Col. Timothy M. Coughlan, executive officer; Lieut.-Col. Charles F. Thompson, Thirtieth Infantry, training director.

Actual training finished on Thursday and today was visitors' day with hordes of proud parents, athletic events and battle exercises, skirmishers advancing by rushes, machine guns taken apart and put together to chatter bullets while the mules trotted gloomily to the rear, field batteries going into action at gallop, cavalry troops executing elaborate maneuvers to music—lastly, the review and awarding of honors.

HONORS AWARDED

Leo J. Osborne of Los Angeles, Ronald Williams, Pasadena; Robert Service, Long Beach; Edward Rogers, Whittier, were selected as the best first-year soldiers of their companies.

Duncan Fraser, Gerald D. Gourly and Max Feingold, all of Los Angeles, were selected as best second-year soldiers of their respective companies.

George Ruhlen, Harris Hjorth and Reginald Watts, all of Los Angeles, were prize third-year men. The fourth-year man, best in their respective branches were all of Los Angeles; Francis L. O'Connor, Joseph A. Dye and Edwin C. Schreiber. O'Connor was selected as colonel of the regiment.

Special awards for military scholarship were all ours. Leonard R. Flicker, Los Angeles; Reginald Watts, Hollywood; Leavitt W. Thurlow, Beverly Hills.

MEDAL WON

A medal, donated by the Veterans of Foreign Wars to the best "basic" (first-year man) in the whole outfit, went to James R. Hughes, son of an artillery officer at the Presidio, Monterey.

The boys have issued a daily paper in camp. In the final issue of The Little Bearcat, it says, contritely:

"Some of us ought to be spanked and we know it. Some of us have never listened to the things our parents told us until we were told the same things by thoughtful army officers. That is why this camp has done us a mighty good turn."

I fear that some of the proud parents of our State will pass out with a gasp of dismay when they hear Willie saying, "Sir," keeping all washed up behind the ears and showing a new and unsuspected genius for peeling spuds.

The reports of the medical officers at Camp Pryor to the commandant show that the boys have gained an average of four pounds during the month of hard exercise which includes all kinds of athletics under skilled coaches.

REDS PLAN FOES' EXTERMINATION

Conference Speakers Frank in Revelations

Unrest in Russia Fostered to End Bourgeoisie

Middle Class Deliberately Being Starved to Death

WILLIAMSTOWN (Mass.) Aug. 1. (AP)—The soviet government is consciously and voluntarily forcing "enormous instability" upon Russia by waging class strife with increasing force against all strata of the population except the working class, Paul Scheffer, representative of the Berliner Tageblatt in Washington, said today.

Speaking before the Russian conference at the Institute of Politics, which was expected to produce discussion of American soviet trade but which was devoted instead to consideration of conditions in Russia, Mr. Scheffer said:

RADICALISM RAMPANT

"The rulers in Russia today are using all means of force to fulfill the Communistic ideal as quickly as possible. For a time there was a certain freedom of speech but gradually all this has changed. Last winter radicalism raged all over the country with the approval of Joseph Stalin, the "Iron Man" of Russia.

"In all parts of Russia hundreds of thousands of persons formerly belonging to the bourgeoisie were deprived of their political rights. In many cases this meant annihilation, since they were no longer entitled to rations at the reduced prices given to the co-operatives, nor could they get positions in any soviet institution."

Discussing the church, Mr. Scheffer characterized the questioning of the existence of religious persecution in Russia as "absurd."

"The soviet government has left no doubt either by words or actions about its determination to destroy the church and to persecute its members," he declared.

Harold Kellock of the soviet information bureau at Washington, discussing the soviet five-year plan of industry, said the plan provided for an increase of 136 per cent in the industrial output, 55 per cent in agricultural output, 85 per cent in railway operations and a fourfold increase in construction operations.

Peter A. Bogdanov, chairman of Amtorg Trading Corporation, which represents the Russian soviets commercially in the United States, took an unexpected part in discussion, differing with statements made earlier in the day by Scheffer.

BOGDANOV EXPLAINS

Speaking in halting English and often turning for help to his interpreter, Mr. Bogdanov said:

"Forty per cent of the peasants are poor, perhaps 50 per cent belong to the middle class, while about 6 or 7 per cent are the rich or kulak class. Kulaks are those who employ labor on their farms.

"Forty per cent of soviet Russia is collectivized. That is, we collectivize land, machinery and horses. But houses, gardens and small live stock remain the property of the little peasant."

Governor will Not Ask People to Pray for Rain

RICHMOND (Va.) Aug. 1. (AP)—Gov. Pollard has declined to issue a proclamation calling upon Virginia people to pray that rain may soon terminate the long drought.

One of the numerous requests that the Governor issue a proclamation for State-wide prayer services asking rain came from the Alexandria Chamber of Commerce, signed by Dan S. Hollenga, business manager.

"I have a very definite idea that such step should be taken by religious leaders, and not by civil leaders," Gov. Pollard stated. "I have no doubt that the churches throughout the whole State are sending up prayers for rain, but I do not think that I should assume to take the initiative in any matter involving religious devotions."

MERGER OF SHIP LINES DISCLOSED

I.M.M. Control Taken by Roosevelt Marine Group, New York Paper Reports

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—The Herald-Tribune says the Roosevelt Steamship Company and associated interests have acquired control of the International Mercantile Marine Company, which was organized years ago by the elder J. P. Morgan.

The International controls a fleet of forty-six ships, divided among the Panama Pacific, the Atlantic Transport, the Atlantic Transport, Ltd., Red Star and Leyland lines. The first two are American flag services, while the others are under foreign flags. The Panama-Pacific Line is made up of three new Turbo-electric liners which cost approximately $21,000,000.

They maintain the fastest passenger and cargo service between New York and California. The newspaper understands the new owners plan to build three additional liners and offer weekly express sailings.

The paper says reorganization plans will leave P. A. S. Franklin as president of the International Mercantile Marine, while Roosevelt Line officials will become vice-presidents. Among these officers is Kermit Roosevelt, son of the former President, now president of the company bearing his name. Vincent Astor recently was elected to the board of the directors of the Roosevelt Line.

The Tribune expects the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad to figure prominently in the affairs of the new company, the policy of which, it is reported, will be to dispose of all foreign flag tonnage as fast as possible and concentrate on development of powerful American flag services.

NOTAS LOCALES

Campaña Contra los Fumadores Dañinos

Los miembros del Departamento de Bosques del condado de Los Angeles están listos para tomar parte en la campaña que empieza hoy en todo el Estado contra aquellas personas que arrojan desde el automóvil a la carretera, colillas de cigarros y cigarrillos, y cenizas de pipas. La campaña, encabezada por autoridades de todo el Estado, durará lo que queda del año.

La ley prohibe que se arroje tabaco ardiendo a las vías públicas, y castiga la falta con multa no mayor de $500, o con seis meses de prisión, o con ambas cosas.

Los guardas forestales y los agentes motociclistas ejercerán activa vigilancia en todas las carreteras, y se aplicará a los delincuentes que caigan en sus manos todo el rigor de la ley.

Una colilla de cigarro o las cenizas calientes de una pipa, lanzadas desde un auto, pueden determinar un incendio que abarque gran superficie y cause daños incalculables a la propiedad; especialmente en esta época del año, en que la vegetación está tan reseca.

RATTLESNAKES LURED BY RADIO

Warning Given to Campers with Portable Sets

County Forest Rangers Call Attention to Danger

Composer Rodriguez Billed for "Times" Forum

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. Celeste Horber, lyric soprano; Jose Rodriguez, concert pianist and composer; Salvadore Baguez, baritone, and George Kerr, mandolin.

Judge Valentine on "Traffic" at 12:30.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

A warning from the Los Angeles county forest rangers advises that lovers of the wide-open spaces who tote along radios must beware of rattlesnakes during the evening hours.

JOSE RODRIGUEZ.

It seems that with the first blasts of radio music in the evening, Mr. and Mrs. Rattler, with the rattle family, all ooze up to the loud speaker. So seldom do rattlesnakes get a 'break' that it is possible they are acting in self-defense. Mankind cannot even expect a rattler to take a barrage of tenors and assorted sopranos without some kind of resistance. Then again, it may be a suppressed complex for music.

You may remember the old Hindu sport of tooting some kind of a reed instrument whereupon cobras forgot to bite and remained to be soothed. Radio will truly be an added benefit if it can persuade rattlers to check their rattles and join the listening-in family.

SATURDAY RADIO BILLS

KHJ at 10 o'clock will bid for the morning dial with Lindsay MacHarrie and His Spelling Bee. The KHJ entertainers will help listeners-in to forget alphabetical errors with comedy and musical novelties.

At 1:30 p.m. The Times Forum will bid for your dial by presenting Celeste Horber, lyric soprano, a radio favorite of several years ago. Miss Horber has a very lovely voice. Salvadore Baguez, baritone, again will satisfy the interest of the many who are watching the development of his artistry, while a feature will be the rendition of two Chopin Etudes, one in E major and the other in E Minor, by Jose Rodriguez, composer and pianist. Rodriguez's artistry needs no introduction to the western music world. An additional feature will find George Kerr in a repertoire of mandolin solos.

At 2:15 p.m. baseball fans will dial Ted Husing on KHJ, when he clamps down on Walter Johnson through the medium of the sports editor of the Washington Times. "The Washington Ball Club and Walter Johnson" will be the title of the talk. At 2:45 this afternoon there is to be a new Saturday comedy feature, "The Whoops Sisters" over CBS. These old maids are the creation of Peter Arno. It is widely publicized and promises to be good. At 4:30 p.m. CBS Dixie Echoes are to be heard. Those who love negro spirituals will dial in to hear Taylor Gordon, tenor, singing "Be Ready When the Great Day Comes" and Rosamond Johnson's great negro singing ensemble. The "Show Boat" is to be roped to the radio levee at 5 o'clock bringing a "stupendous thrilling, chilling" comedy-drama—"Back Among the Folks." A home loving village maiden is tangled up with a villainous villain and a misguided hero. The old farm is for sale 'n everything. At 7:30 tonight KHJ's staff will offer its weekly review—the best of the past week's programs, which insures plenty of variety. At 9 p.m. the automobile races at the Legion Ascot Speedway are to be heard. Night racing is an innovation on the coast and has gained a large radio audience.

THEATER MEMORIES

KFI at 7 p.m. offers Memories of the Theater, an hour of grand and light opera excerpts, presented by Leslie Brigham, James Burroughs, Eva Olivotti and Mildred Laughlin. Pryor Moore's Orchestra will provide the orchestrations. At 8:30 p.m. the Hollywood Bowl concert will hold the dial. Bernardino Molinari, noted Italian conductor, is to wield the baton in a presentation of numbers by Mozart, Beethoven and Saint-Saens. Arne Oldberg, noted American pianist-composer, is the featured soloist. At 11 p.m. KFI's Midnight Frolic will offer dancing, whoopee, repartee.

KECA is to offer two contrasting groups of songs, comprising hits of last summer and those of 1910, at 3:30 p.m. Fancy "The Pagan Love Song" and "Oh, You Beautiful Doll" mingling decades. At 5:30 p.m. Arthur Pryor's band will open with Sousa's march, "Washington Post." The fantastic finale to Herold's "Zampa" will be the closing number, while Floyd Gibbons is to be heard in another "Adventure in Science." At 8 p.m. Mahlon Merrick's orchestra, with Virginia Treadwell, contralto, as guest soloist, will bring to "Nights in Spain" the colorful and rhythmic atmosphere of an all-Spanish program.

KNX at 2:30 p.m. points to its weekly Saturday opera-in-entirety, "Der Valkyrie" in recordings made by the Bayreuth Grand Opera Company. At 9 p.m. Calmon Luboviski will be heard in violin recital. Beethoven's "The Sonata, Opus 24" will be featured.

KFWB will feature an hour of concert music and song at 8 tonight with the Ray Martinez Concert Orchestra. The Boswell Sisters and Vernon Rickard, tenor, will be guest vocalists.

Pastor to Serve Term as Slayer

MONTICELLO (Ill.) Aug. 1. (AP) Rev. Joseph Lighteap, 47 years of age, of Blue Ridge, Ill., today was sentenced to twenty-five years in the State penitentiary at Menard on a charge of murder growing out of the slaying June 13 of Howard McIlvain, a neighbor.

Huge New Cunard Liner Reported Beyond Limits of Ordinary Insurance

LIVERPOOL (Eng.) Aug. 1. (AP)—The Cunard company announced today the British government has undertaken part of the insurance on a mammoth new Cunard express liner that will be built on the River Clyde.

The liner planned by the company is said to be of such dimensions that she will be outside the range of the ordinary insurance market.

"The Board of Trade with the approval of the Treasury will undertake at a premium such portions of the insurance as cannot be accommodated by the market in the ordinary manner," it was announced.

The agreement is to be embodied in a bill submitted to Parliament at its next session. It is intended to be capable of increase for covering a second liner the company hopes to build later.

They were on their way to Biarritz for a vacation. Mrs. Beatty died while being taken to the hospital. Her husband's skull was fractured and he is in a serious condition. Attending physicians say, however, that he will probably recover.

VIVIAN DUNCAN BRIDE IN NEVADA NUPTIALS

WEDDING IN RENO UNITES SCREEN PAIR

Vivian Duncan Becomes Wife of Nils Asther in Courthouse Nuptials

A romance which started anew many months ago in Hollywood had its culmination yesterday when Vivian Duncan, stage and screen actress, and Nils Asther, actor in pictures, were married at Reno. The ceremony was performed by Judge Thomas P. Moran in the Washoe County Courthouse.

NILS ASTHER.

When reporters sought to interview her after the wedding, Miss Duncan denied her identity. Similarly, the bridegroom denied being Asther.

"Anyway, this is just a private affair and we don't want any publicity," he added.

Judge Moran also was reluctant to give information, but the marriage license gave the secret away. Both Miss Duncan and Asther gave their ages as "over 21," said they lived in Hollywood and had not been married before.

When Miss Duncan and Asther left last week after she got out of a hospital ostensibly for a visit to San Francisco, their friends predicted they were leaving to get married. Miss Duncan was reached at Lodi several days ago, but at that time denied they were contemplating marriage at this time.

The wedding was no surprise. The other member of the Duncan sister team, Rosetta Duncan, was the only witness to the ceremony. She went to Reno from New York to be on hand when the vows were taken.

It was only recently that Vivian got a black eye at the hands of Rex Lease, film actor who, she stated, struck her when she repulsed his attempts to make love. Lease paid a $50 fine for the asserted punch.

Three years ago Miss Duncan and Asther became engaged. Their betrothal was terminated by mutual agreement in 1928, but reannounced in September of the following year when they accidentally met on the lot at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio where both were engaged in making pictures. The day after this meeting they announced they were engaged again.

HARVEY AGAIN HEADS HEALTH COMMISSION

W. C. Harvey was re-elected president of the Health Commission at its meeting yesterday and Ray Kleinberger was chosen again as vice-president. President Harvey was appointed to the board last year by Mayor Porter while the vice-president is a holdover from the Cryer administration.

COUNTY ORDERS CHARTER DRAFT

Supervisors Vote Move for Modern Instrument

Present Governing Rules Formulated in 1912

Increased Membership of Board Considered

Because the present charter of Los Angeles county, adopted in 1912 when the population of the county was only 500,000, has become obsolete and antiquated for the administration of governmental affairs for a community of 2,199,657 people, the Board of Supervisors yesterday adopted a resolution, on motion of Supervisor Shaw, providing that the County Counsel make a preliminary survey as to the need of changes in the instrument with a view to adopting a new one. Supervisor Wright was absent from the meeting.

The resolution presented by Supervisor Shaw is as follows:

CHARTER OBSOLETE

"Whereas, the charter of the county of Los Angeles prepared by the Board of Freeholders in 1912 has become antiquated and inoperable, despite innumerable amendments made to this document since its approval by the State Legislature in 1913, and,

"Whereas, it has been brought to the attention of this board by numerous individuals and organizations interested in civic welfare that a new charter will make possible a more economical and efficient administration of county affairs; now, therefore, be it

"Resolved, that the County Counsel be instructed to make a preliminary survey as to the need of a new charter and necessary changes for administration in harmony with the rapid growth of this county."

The resolution was passed by the board without discussion.

The present charter was drafted in 1912 and approved by the Legislature in 1913. At the time the population of the county was approximately 500,000 people. The instrument, however, at the time was considered to be one of the most advanced documents for county government of its kind in the United States. It was studied with the keenest interest by almost every county in the country, and in many places was used as a pattern. However, with the tremendous growth of Los Angeles county since 1912, for a number of years officials and those interested in civic affairs and governmental bodies have felt that time and the progress of the county have made the present charter obsolete.

FOR LARGER BOARD

While the Supervisors would make no comment yesterday, it is known that many civic leaders and others interested in county government favor some radical changes. Some of the suggestions call for a Board of Supervisors containing ten or twelve members instead of five, like at present.

Those favoring an increase in the size of the board argue that Los Angeles county has 4800 square miles in area, a large territory. Divided as it is, each supervisorial district is too large for one Supervisor, it is asserted.

One of the other major suggestions is that the city and county merge under one charter, formulating a government for both, similar to the plan now in vogue at San Francisco. Still another is the borough form of government.

Action in the matter by the County Counsel will be awaited with much interest by both county officers and the people at large.

CONCERT TO BE GIVEN AT PARK TOMORROW

At Westlake Park tomorrow afternoon a concert will be given by Glen Dale, tenor; Wilma Lenard, soprano, and Sam Fiedler and his orchestra. Their program will include selections from "Carmen," "Faust" and music from "Show Boat." After the park board concert and until 4:30 o'clock Harold Roberts and his Golden State Band will play. In the evening Ernie Owens and his jazz orchestra will present a program from the pontoon on the lake. This organization plays every night from 8 to 10:30 o'clock.

CITY PLAYGROUND POOLS OPEN AGAIN

Five Thousand Children Enjoy Refreshing Plunges

Health Victory Celebrated

HEY-EY Jim-ee-ee 'nd Mary-y-y. Gee whiz, hurry up. Didn't you hear about the plunge opening today? Come on—let's get goin'.

So little Jimmie, Mary and Bill went swimming yesterday in one of the municipal playground pools. And so did 5000 other children under 15 years of age. For all city pools, closed since July 9, last, were reopened yesterday, the infantile paralysis epidemic having subsided sufficiently to justify it in the opinion of officials.

The city, trying to make up for the time lost when the pools were closed, has issued a permanent invitation each Monday for all children under 15 to come and enjoy any municipal plunge free of charge. Free suits and towels go with it.

The pools now open are Griffith Park, Exposition Park, North Hollywood, Fernangeles, Evergreen, Central, North Broadway, Arroyo Seco and Yosemite.

All swimming instruction programs interrupted when pools were closed will be resumed with renewed vigor. Life-saving, diving and the various swimming strokes will be taught in free classes. Most of the pools are open from 9 a.m. until 6 o'clock, but Griffith Park is open from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m.

Yesterday marked the best attendance of the year at all the city pools, according to C. P. L. Nickels, supervisor of aquatics of the Los Angeles City Playground Department.

PEAK OF EPIDEMIC BELIEVED TO BE PASSED

With the closing of the month of July with only five new cases of infantile paralysis reported for the last day of the month, Health Officer Parrish said yesterday he feels that the peak of the epidemic is over and that from now on there will be a gradual subsidence in the prevalence of the disease.

During the month of July, 158 cases of the disease were reported and eight of them resulted fatally. In June, there were eighty-four cases and six deaths. This record, said Dr. Parrish, is considerably better than was anticipated, as in previous outbreaks July has always seen at least three times as many cases as June.

Pipe Crushes Man to Death

A powerful crane was lifting heavy sections of pipe into ditch in the 500 block on North Sepulveda Boulevard yesterday where the Southern California Gas Company is laying a new pipe line.

James R. Scott, 35 years of age of 1341 East Fifty-ninth street, an employee of the Macco Construction Company, was one of several workers in the ditch.

The pipe being lifted by the crane fell, landing on top of Scott, who was crushed to death.

POSTOFFICE RECEIPTS LOWER

Postoffice receipts showed a decrease for the month of July this year, it was shown by a report by Postmaster O'Brien. It was pointed out that the receipts often show a fluctuation of this sort. The receipts for July this year were $835,030.46, compared with $843,739.39 for the like period in 1929. This shows a decrease of $8708.93.

FARM LABOR JOB-FINDERS TO GET BUSY

Federal Service Prepares for Opening of Office in Los Angeles Shortly

Marking the start of active efforts by the Federal government toward solving California's farm labor problems, the farm labor division of the United States Employment Service will open its Los Angeles headquarters within two weeks, according to the announcement yesterday of Francis I. Jones, director-general of the service, who has been here for several days making an investigation.

FRANCIS I JONES.

Farm laborers seeking employment then may register and receive aid without the payment of any fee. During the past fiscal year, according to the director, the farm labor division found work for 1,500,000 persons.

Tentative plans for carrying out the farm labor division's proposed program throughout the State were worked out yesterday by the visiting official during a conference with Dr. George P. Clements, and E. F. MacDonough, who head the Chamber of Commerce agricultural and domestic trade departments, respectively. The chamber, according to Dr. Clements, is vigorously supporting the program.

Employment conditions throughout the country generally are improved, according to Mr. Jones, who credits President Hoover's stabilization plan with averting a serious employment crisis. The director will remain here for several days and then will go to San Francisco and later to Salt Lake City to establish the proposed farm labor offices. He has just completed a swing throughout the Southwest during which he opened offices at Brownsville, Tex., and Jacksonville, Miss., and enlarged existing offices at Shreveport, La., and New Orleans.

August Comes in Cooler than July Left Us

August came in yesterday on a cooler wave than that which carried July out. As compared with the maximum temperature of 95 deg. recorded the last day of last month, the mercury yesterday rose to 93 deg. at the hottest period of the day, at noon.

Today and tomorrow are to show very little changes in temperature from that of the last few days, the Weather Bureau announced. There will be moderate west and northwest winds at Los Angeles and vicinity.

Yesterday morning the temperature at 6 o'clock was 70 deg., 7 deg. lower than at the same hour the previous day. At 9 it was 82 deg., and two hours later 90. The maximum of 93 deg. at noon was not long maintained, there being a steady decline from then on. At 3 p.m. the weather had cooled 10 deg., and at 6 p.m., the reading was 80.

Steady breezes from the west and northwest aided in reducing discomfort, as did the relatively low humidity which at noon was 28 deg.

County Health Pair Betrothed

Culminating what has been termed a "Health Department romance," Dr. John Larrabee Pomeroy, County Health Officer, 47 years of age, and Lecile Jones, social service worker in the same department, yesterday signified their intention to wed.

Miss Jones lives at 8410 Fountain avenue.

REDS AT PLAZA BATTLE POLICE

Officer Beaten by Radicals Rescued with Clubs

Fifteen Concealed in Truck Attempt Demonstration

Young Students and Girls Wearing Sashes Arrested

Hidden in a large truck, fifteen Communists attempted a Red demonstration late yesterday afternoon near the Plaza, in which one police officer was badly beaten and several of the demonstrators severely bruised from blows of police clubs. The attempted demonstration was followed by a near riot when Red sympathizers in the crowd which thronged Main street near the Plaza started speeches from the tops of parked automobiles.

Despite unusual precautions taken by Detective Lieutenant Hynes, chief of the police Red squad, to prevent any of the demonstrators reaching the vicinity of the Plaza, a large cattle truck was driven through the police cordon, its high sides concealing the Communists.

OFFICER BEATEN

As the truck halted near the curb at Main and Plaza streets, the passengers leaped to their feet, shouting and waving placards. Detective Lieutenant C. J. Evans, one of the first police officers to reach the truck, shouted a warning to the demonstrators to move on. He climbed to the side of the vehicle where he was seized by the Communists, pulled inside and given a severe beating before he was rescued by his brother officers.

Those arrested included two youths and two young girls all wearing red sashes with the emblem of the "Young Pioneers."

BOOKED BY POLICE

The occupants of the truck, booked at the Central police station after the demonstration, were:

Patrick Chanders, 29 years of age, rigger, 523 Gladys avenue, parading without permit and blocking sidewalk; Joseph Dan, 46, 2706 Brooklyn avenue, parading without permit and blocking sidewalk; Einosuke Yamaguchi, 30, no address, parading without permit and blockading sidewalk; Jacob Silver, 44, decorator, 2422½ Pomeroy street, same charge; Jess Shapiro, 15, student, refused address, battery, blockading sidewalk and parading without permit; Jack Olson, 19, 472 North Townsend street, brewer, blockading sidewalk and parading without permit; Joe Lutsky, 15, student, no address, battery, parading without permit and blocking sidewalk; Joe Kerchinsky, 42, decorator, 505 South Soto street, blocking sidewalk and parading without permit; Bukunen Fukunaga, gardener, 515 East Second street, blockading sidewalk and parading without permit; Edward Sandler, 37, pharmacist, 2314 Malabar street, parading without permit and blockading sidewalk; Fred Fierstone, 28, tailor, 3622 Ramona Boulevard, same charges.

GIRLS ARRESTED

Miss Sarah Richards, 18, student, refused address, battery, parading without permit and blocking sidewalk; Miss Frances Rabonowitz, battery, blockading sidewalk and parading without permit; Mrs. Dina Stein, 34, housewife, 1023 Dundas street, battery, parading without permit and blocking sidewalk; Mrs. Cema Kastis, 34, seamstress, 316 North Pickert street, battery, parading without permit and blocking sidewalk; Mrs. Sarah Cutler, 44529 Cummings street, battery, parading without permit and blocking sidewalk; Miss Emma Cutler, 22, refused address, battery, blocking sidewalk and parading without permit; Mrs. Lillian Silverman, seamstress, no address, parading without permit and blocking sidewalk; Miss Sonie Berman, 30, seamstress, 3041 Ganahl street, parading without permit; Mrs. Shandle Handler, 37, teacher, 469 North Mott street, parading without permit, and Mrs. William Ferguson, 47, housewife, 2331 Terrace Heights avenue, parading without permit.

The attempted demonstration took a more serious turn following the arrest of the truck occupants and their departure for the police station, when several agitators at-

by Harry Carr

DEL MONTE, Aug. 1.— Col. Coughlan loaned me his chauffeur and his car this afternoon and I made a pilgrimage of military Monterey.

In the course of which I learned many strange things. For one thing, how to conquer the fear of horses. It's just as simple—

NOT SO CONVINCING!

"What you want to do," said my trooper chauffeur, "is to fall off the horse and find out it don't hurt—much. When I get a recruit to train and I see he's horse scary, I just push him off. Once in a while I have seen them make a man lie down while a whole troop of cavalry galloped over him. A horse won't ever step on a man. You see, that way, you get so you're not scared of horses any more."

Yes, I know; but somehow—

WHAT SAY, COWBOYS?

My chauffeur trooper had a terrible scorn of cowboys and cowboy riders.

"Those fellows come stumping in out of the West sometimes all dressed up in cowboy boots and big hats. I'm telling you the truth, I'd rather start with a guy that had never been on a horse before.

"The same with the cow ponies. The way they are trained they are worse than a horse that has never had a saddle on. You can't teach a good horse anything by putting a big saddle and spade bit on him and breaking his heart like they do cow horses. The only way you can get anything out of a horse is to teach them gentle—like they was little children."

ETIQUETTE

He even told me fine points of military etiquette. I noticed that he did not salute the officers we passed.

"That's because this is an official car," he said. "If this was my own car or any other civilian car I would salute an officer if he was on horseback or if he was driving in another car. If he is on foot I don't pay any attention to him. This is because I could only properly salute him by stopping the car and getting out to stand on foot. As this is not practical, I pretend I don't see him."

KITCHEN SCIENCE

At the Del Monte training camp, where they teach soldiering to schoolboys, I learned many things relating to housekeeping. With the cooks' and bakers' training schools in the Army, they have reduced kitchen work to an exact science.

Among other things they never allow the kitchen squads to dry dishes. They are washed with soap; then sunk into big cylinders filled with boiling water. Dish rags have been found to be prolific carriers of disease.

Another item of domestic science. Army cooks are never allowed to clean refrigerated ice boxes with soap and water. They are required to use water strongly saturated with vinegar.

HOMESICK

One of the major problems of these civilian camps where about 35,000 boys are trained every summer is to keep them from being homesick.

Once in a while they find a boy who wants his mother so terribly they have to send him home. This is not unusual even with grown-up fighting soldiers. During the World War there were

PLANES TO RISE FROM DEEP

Submarines will Carry Folding-Wing Aircraft; Same Plan for Destroyers in Mind

Plans for equipping the large fleet of submarines of Division Twenty, attached to the battle fleet here, with scouting planes were disclosed yesterday at the local base, the program being another step in the Navy Department's desire to have at least one aircraft aboard all first-line fighting ships in the fleet.

A small, fast, folding-wing scouting plane, designed as type XS2L-I, has been ordered constructed by the Bureau of Aeronautics and will be used in flying experiments to determine the best type of plane for submarine use.

The Navy Department hopes also to find a practicable method of using small scouting planes from destroyers, but it is believed this development will be postponed until the larger destroyers of the London treaty replacement program are commissioned, due to the difficulty in launching planes from the present 1200-ton craft.

Launching of a seaplane from a submarine is easily effected by simply getting the plane realy for flight on deck and then submerging the submarine. Previous experiments with planes on destroyers and submarines, made in 1926, proved impracticable, but aircraft design has developed so rapidly since, that it is believed, suitable planes for submarines now are avilable.

In previous experiments with planes for submarines, the aircraft used had to be assembled on deck before flight and then disassembled on return; the wings and pontoons being removed. Planes are available now, however, which can be stored below decks by simply folding the wings, an additional factor being the great increase in submarine sizes.

Units of Submarine Division Twenty which will be so equipped include the fleet submarines V-1, V-2, V-3; the mine-laying submarine V-4, and the huge submarine cruisers V-5 and V-6, recently launched at Mare Island and Portsmouth.

The late Rudolph Schildkraut, film actor, left no will, according to a petition for letters of administration filed by his widow, Mrs. Erna Schildkraut, 1607 Courtney street, yesterday.

Schildkraut's estate consists of personal property worth $250 and a $500 automobile, it was stated.

CLEANERS AND DYERS IRON OUT ISSUES AND END WAR

This is what might be called "spot news." The clearner-and-dyer war which has been raging on the Los Angeles front for the past six months came to an end yesterday. The last can of cleaning fluid to be hurled, the last flat iron to be heated and the last grease spot to be taken from a vest under the old scale of prices was hurled, heated and taken yesterday.

More than 3000 shops and sixty large establishments are affected, according to J. C. Christie, editor of the West Coast Cleaner and Dyer, trade publication, and J. H. Stevan, who is general manager of the new west coast organization of Los Angeles shops and establishments.

"The war was disastrous to many," Stevan said yesterday, "and like all wars, was ruinous. Shops were getting from 75 cents to nothing for work. The new prices will be a minimum 75 cents with a top of $1.50."

According to Stevan the prices now are in effect all over the city and cover the cash-and-carry plants and shops and the more expensive establishments where the deliveries are made with swanky attendants and decorated cardboard box containers.

According to Christie, Los Angeles has the largest cleaning bill per capita of any city in America, the average being close to $10 per annum. The cleaning bill for the city yearly will run from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000, he declared.

Headquarters for the new association, which will be known as the West Coast Cleaners' and Dyers' Association, will be at Washington Boulevard and Vermont avenue.

GRIDER MAY GET FREEDOM

State Asks Dismissal of Charges Against Julian Juror When Berman Swears He's Innocent

Bribery charges against Frank C. Grider, former Julian juror, may be dismissed next Monday morning when the case is called for trial by Superior Judge Wilson as the result of a motion asking a dismissal made by Dep. Dist.-Attys. Jones and Barnes yesterday afternoon.

In support of the motion Jacob Berman, star prosecution witness, who was returned to this city from the Federal prison to testify in a number of cases growing out of the Julian crash, notified the court that he will refuse to testify against Grider.

"In my opinion," declared Berman under oath, "I do not believe Frank C. Grider is guilty and I will not be a party to sending an innocent man to prison."

It was after Berman's testimony that Judge Wilson took the matter under advisement and notified Defense Counsel Beirne that he will rule on the motion Monday morning.

Berman was taken into Judge Wilson's court yesterday afternoon after he had spent a day in an office set aside for him by county officials waiting, with his two guards, for hoped-for word from the United States Attorney-General that he would be moved from his cell in the County Jail to the jail hospital.

Thursday morning Berman, who had been in the hospital for a number of days, was ordered back to his cell by County Jail Surgeon Blank. At the time the prisoner said he was sick and was examined by Dr. Edward H. Anthony, Federal surgeon. Following Dr. Anthony's examination Chief Deputy District Attorney Stewart telegraphed the Attorney-General asking permission for Berman to be moved to the hospital if the condition of his health warranted. No reply had been received from Stewart's wire up to a late hour yesterday.

Berman has already testified against Louis Krause, his asserted go-between in the bribery of the Julian jurors, and John Groves, one of the members of the jury. They were both convicted. He has also appeared against Morris Lavine and Leontine Johnson, charged with extortion and they were also convicted. The Federal prisoner is also scheduled to appear as a State witness in one other pending Julian case.

Between his appearances as a prosecution witness, Berman was

Suspect in Plot to Extort Money from Rich Oil Man Arrested as He Walks into Tra

THREATS MADE TO KILL COUPLE

Accused Man Seized as He Gets Decoy Letter

J. S. Baker and His Family Intended Victims

Confession Reported Made to Deputy Sheriffs

Ten days of watchful waiting for a decoy letter to be claimed at the Long Beach postoffice were rewarded yesterday when Deputy Sheriffs Wiggington and West saw a man emerge from the place bearing the bait in his hand and arrested him for attempted extortion.

J.S. BAKER

He was wanted as the writer of extortion letters received by J. S. Baker, wealthy oil man and banker of Santa Fe Springs, demanding the "loan" of a substantial sum. The first letter was received by Baker on or about July 12 and was ignored despite threats to kill him and his wife if the demand were not obeyed. Later Baker decided to take his family to a place of safety. On July 20 the second letter was received. Then he notified the Sheriff's office.

CONFESSION REPORTED

Both letters were signed Ed C. Porter and the first address was given as general delivery, Long Beach. Later the deputy sheriffs learned that the address had been changed to MacFarland, Cal., and again back to Long Beach.

C.W. PERKINS

When taken into custody the suspect gave his name as C. W. Perkins, 49 years of age, of 310 East Fourteenth street, and his occupation as insurance salesman. He confessed his guilt, the officers said, after first declaring he had been sent by "Porter" to call for his mail and forward it to him at MacFarland.

HARD-LUCK TALE TOLD

"The only reason that I wrote that letter," he said in his signed confession, "is that I was up against it and owed some bills and was back in my rent. They threatened to throw me out of the roominghouse there. I sold my clothes and did everything I could and I thought the amount I asked for would tide me over until business picked up. I fully intended to pay it back."

Further questioning disclosed that Perkins had talked with his intended victim two days ago in an attempt to sell him life insurance.

Two Injured by Careless Driver

HUNTINGTON BEACH, Aug. 1. (Exclusive)—An impatient driver who attempted to pass one car only to crash head-on into another was tonight given the blame for a triple automobile crash here which resulted in serious injury to two Los Angeles residents. According to the police report of the accident Warner Edmunds, 603 Vallerio street, Santa Barbara, attempting to pass a small car sideswiped it and tore off its running board and then crashed into a car driven by Mrs. Elizabeth McComas, 1127 North Ardmore street.

Mrs. McComas was given emergency treatment for a fractured skull and severe lacerations; her two passengers, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. James, 5221½ Santa Monica Boulevard, received severe lacerations. Edmunds was treated for minor cuts and bruises. The third car was driven by Mrs. F. M. Yaffe of San Diego.

Edmunds was not held by the police.

tempted to speak from the tops of near-by automobiles. Einosuke Yamaguchi, a Japanese with a previous police record for similar offenses, was pulled to the sidewalk and attempted to kick the arresting policeman, but was quickly subdued. Other sympathizers first attempted to rescue the Japanese from the police, but their ringleaders were arrested and others dispersed.

Half an hour previous to the announced time for the demonstration at 5:30 p.m. Detective Lieutenant Hynes and a squad of more than two score of patrolmen and motorcycle officers cleared the Plaza of loungers and attempted to keep near-by streets free of the crowds of curious. Hynes said the Communists had first planned to meet at five near-by street corners and march on the Plaza from four sides, but this plan was abandoned in favor of the Trojan-horse plan of the large cattle truck.

RED TRIAL ADJOURNED UNTIL MONDAY

With the State's opening argument finished, Municipal Judge Willis yesterday adjourned trial of eleven Communists, charged with various offenses in connection with the February 26 Plaza riots, until Monday. Defense arguments will follow the opening of court Monday and after the State closes the jury, which has been trying the case for more than two weeks, will be sent out.

Deputy City Prosecutor Hornaday, in his argument yesterday, called the jury's attention to marked discrepancies in the testimony of the defense witnesses, pointing out that no two stories of the riot were alike. He declared that the defendants are revolutionists "opposed to government of any kind and vent their spleen particularly on our own democracy."

Frank Spector and Karl Sklar, Communist leaders serving terms in State's prison for criminal syndicalism, are on trial for inciting a riot. Four other defendants are charged with refusing to leave the scene of a riot and Spector and five others are charged with interfering with police officers.

Twelve other cases arising out of the February riot are slated to go to trial as soon as the first is concluded. Several of these, according to Leo Gallagher, defense attorney, will be consolidated and tried at the same time.

ANTIWAR DAY PASSES OFF QUIETLY IN EUROPE

PARIS, Aug. 1. (AP)—A widely advertised Communist "international antiwar day," commemorating the sixteenth anniversary of mobilization for the World War, today passed off without disorders in Europe. In most countries a general round-up of Communist leaders was made in anticipation of trouble.

Only in Moscow and other Russian cities were there important demonstrations. Communist demonstrators paraded the streets there carrying banners with antimilitaristic slogans and bearing in triumph gas masks and other defensive weapons against warfare.

At Moscow a score of airplanes dropped peace pamphlets. The Russian Volunteer Society for aerial and chemical defense gave the Red army fifty-one modern Russian-built military airplanes, for which the funds were contributed by workers throughout the soviet union.

In Paris it was police airplanes that swooped lazily over the city on the lookout for undue gatherings in the working class quarters. Not a single serious incident was reported.

THREE NATIVES KILLED IN RED DEMONSTRATION

GANGLONG (Indo China) Aug. 1. (AP)—Three natives were killed and ten injured in a clash between natives and French police and troops during a Communist manifestation today.

The police had forbidden the manifestation but the Communists attempted to conduct it nevertheless.

BAY CITY POLICE CHARGE MOB WITH DRAWN GUNS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 1. (AP)—A large gathering of asserted members of the Communist party was dispersed near the Ferry Building at the foot of Market street here today by policemen who charged the crowd with drawn pistols and clubs.

The resort to force followed the striking of one of the officers by Artimez Stravriaundiakis, 45 years of age, who later was taken to Harbor Emergency Hospital for treatment to injuries. Several others of the crowd were clubbed.

The meeting was announced as a protest to "imperialistic wars." Banners and signs carried were directed against the police and one demanded freedom of Thomas J. Mooney and Warren K. Billings, serving life sentences for asserted participation in the Preparedness Day bombing here in 1916. Another read "Down with capitalists."

TWO PERSONS INJURED IN NEW YORK CLASH

NEW YORK, Aug. 1. (AP)—Two persons were injured slightly tonight when sporadic fighting broke out between police and Communists following a "Red day" demonstration in Union Square.

BATTLE LOST BY CEMETERY

Assessment Decision Made by State Supreme Court

Hollywood Association Held Responsible for Levy

Property Can be Disposed of to Pay for Obligation

Property which the Hollywood Cemetery Association owns in the Hollywood Cemetery and which can be disposed of may be sold to meet assessment obligations for local improvements, according to a decision just handed down by the State Supreme Court. A copy of the decision was received yesterday in the Los Angeles office of the tribunal.

The opinion is on an appeal by the association from a Superior Court judgment in an action brought by the corporation against City Treasurer Powell and the Elliott-Horne Company to apportion an assessment, enjoin a sale and deed and to quiet a title.

Justice Langdon, who wrote the decision, states that the "plaintiff seeks to escape the assessment on the ground that it cannot be enforced against the holders of the lots." It is concluded that the land held for burial purposes is not exempt from the assessment but that the right of sepulcher cannot be sold to pay it.

OBLIGATION FIXED

The corporation, however, is the holder of the legal title to the entire tract, against which the assessment is made, the opinion states. The obligation rests upon it, and all the property in the tract, which it has and which can be sold, may properly be sold to meet that obligation, the opinion continues.

"There is no statutory basis for the claim of exemption," the opinion recites.

The court says that the plaintiff's attack on the assessment is not that it is unjust or unreasonable, but that it is unenforceable; and not that it is unenforceable against the plaintiff, but that it is unenforceable against the lot owners. No compelling principle of justice or policy is presented sufficient to warrant a determination contrary to the weight of authority and in conflict with our taxing statutes, the opinion states.

BOND ISSUED

Property involved is part of a tract bounded on the north by Santa Monica Boulevard, on the east by Van Ness avenue and on the west by Gower street. The action grew out of assessments levied by the city for improvement of Van Ness avenue. The easterly 300 feet of the tract were affected by the improvement plans.

The Elliott-Horne Company became a party to the action through its purchase of a bond issued when the assessment was not paid. The amount of the assessment was $11,069.90. The Elliott-Horne Company gave notice on September 26, 1927, to the City Treasurer to sell the premises described in the bond at public auction. The cemetery association obtained a restraining order and the Superior Court dissolved the order.

DRIVE WILL OPEN TODAY ON SMOKERS

Careless Motorists will be Arrested for Breaking Antifire Regulation

Members of the Los Angeles County Forestry Department and county patrol are prepared to take part in the State-wide campaign, which begins today, against persons who throw lighted cigar stumps, cigarette butts and pipe ashes out of automobiles on the public highways. The drive, headed by law-enforcing agencies throughout the entire State, will last through the remainder of the year.

The throwing of burning tobacco to the public highways is forbidden by law. The penalty for the offense is a fine not to exceed $500 or six months in jail, or both.

A careful watch is to be kept by foresters and motor patrols on every highway and offenders are to be prosecuted to the full extent of the law, the officials aver.

One lighted cigar stump or hot ashes from a pipe carelessly tossed from an automobile can start a fire that will burn over a large area and do tremendous damage before it is extinguished, according to Fire Warden Turner of Los Angeles county, especially at this time of the year with vegetation so dry.

SAN FERNANDO VALLEY RANCH PIONEER PASSES

Otto G. Schwind, prominent rancher and pioneer of the San Fernando Valley, died at his home, 7505 Gordon avenue, Owensmouth, early yesterday of heart disease. Schwind, who was 54 years of age, had lived in the valley for forty years. He was one of the first settlers in his neighborhood. He leaves his widow and five children, Anson, a bond broker; Otto and Dean, in the insurance business at Owensmouth; Katherine and Mrs. Mary Schwind Merrick. Funeral arrangements await word from eastern relatives.

SHOOTING LAID TO LIQUOR DEBT

Victim of Pool-Room Gang Declared Dying

Wounded Man Known to Police as Bootlegger

Refuses to Identify His Three Assailants

A $30 debt for wine which he purchased from an unidentified bootlegger two months ago was declared the reason for the shooting of Joe LoPinto, 27 years of age, asserted bootlegger, when he was cornered by three men yesterday in a pool room at 6524 Compton avenue.

One man was placed under arrest last night and is held for questioning by members of the Sheriff's homicide squad. He was not booked and his name was not revealed by the officers.

VICTIM CRITICAL

The victim, who is dying at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, according to police surgeons, refused to identify his assailant, declaring he knew him only slightly. Four shots were fired, witnesses told deputy sheriffs, three of which took effect. One of them shattered his left leg, another penetrated his right leg, and the third punctured vital organs.

LoPinto was playing a game of pool when the three men entered and one of them asked him to put down his cue as he wished to talk with him. An instant later, witnesses said, LoPinto started toward the door and four shots were fired by the leader of the trio.

DUE IN COURT MONDAY

After the shooting the three ran from the place and drove away in a car parked in front. The license number was traced by deputy sheriffs to a known racketeer whose identity was not revealed and he is now being sought by both police and deputy sheriffs.

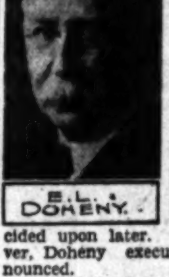
A general round-up of bootleggers was ordered by Capt. Bright of the Sheriff's homicide detail and a score or more of witnesses were questioned, among them the wife of the victim, Mrs. Engie LoPinto. The wounded man gave as his address 1700 1-2 East Sixtieth street.

A check-up of police records established that LoPinto has been arrested several times on liquor charges and he is scheduled to face trial Monday in Division Eight, Municipal Court, on charges of Wright Act possession and sale.

OIL MUSEUM PROJECTED BY DOHENY

Petroleum Magnate Will House Tools and Data on Growth of Industry

Los Angeles is to have a new museum, the first of its kind in the world, to be known as the Doheny Museum of the Petroleum Industry.



E.L. DOHENY.

It is being founded by E. L. Doheny, oil magnate of Southern California, and though it is being launched at present in a small way it is hoped eventually to house it in a suitably large building in a prominent location, to be decided upon later. Frank R. Seaver, Doheny executive, has announced.

Mr. Doheny has already sent out one expedition that has visited practically every large oil field in the world and made a photographic record. Another expedition is contemplated to gather old machinery, tools and implements used in the primitive recovery of petroleum in the Orient and the Near East.

Besides pictures and tools, the museum will depict in miniature the evolution of the industry from its remote beginning in Persia, Mesopotamia, India and China, down through the ages to the present. Particular emphasis will be paid to methods and machinery used by Col. E. L. Drake, who seventy-one years ago this month brought in the first American well near Titusville, Pa., from a depth of sixty-nine feet for twenty barrels a day.

His wide acquaintance in the world's oil industry stands E. L. Doheny in good stead in this instance and his request for material for the museum, books, pictures, drawings, tools, implements and other items, is expected to result in a shower of objects for the institution.

PARAKEETS CRY FOR SHOWER

Java Birds Know How to Keep Cool

They're Having Wonderful Time

HOT weather causes people to do strange things and birts even stranger things. Take the parakeets Cumshaw and Can-Do, recent arrivals from Java, for instance. Eaih day at noon they fly out to their bath in the baikyard of the home of their owner, Bess Coffey of West Hollywoor.

She has a hose on the birds' perch, fixed up to work like a shower bath. Cumshaw and Can-Do screech and yell until she turns on the water for them. Then they flutter and sing and make merry for the half-hour the bath lasts.

Scores of neighbors gather daily to watch the birds go through their antics.

PUTATIVE FATHER FREED; SCIENCE TESTS FAILURE

Scientific tests and the testimony of scores of witnesses all failed, Superior Judge Hardy ruled yesterday, to establish definitely the identity of the father of little Eduardo Cordoza, whose 17-year-old mother caused the trial of Jack Mabel on a charge of criminal assault.

Consequently Mabel, East Side grocer, was found not guilty and released from custody.

The case was tried before Judge Hardy without a jury a week ago. Subsequently the court ordered that blood tests be taken from the baby and from Mabel in an effort to establish scientifically the paternity. These reports made public yesterday showed that Mabel's blood test is in a classification known as A and B and that it is possible, but not established, that he is the infant's father, Judge Hardy stated. The only time a positive conclusion can be reached from such tests is when the results are negative, according to Frank P. Gompert and Dr. Lawrence Parsons, who made the tests. The reason for this is that 85 per cent of all persons are in the A and B classifications.

Judge Hardy reviewed conflicting features of the evidence, stating that although Adeline Cordoza, the infant's mother, denied keeping company with other men, numerous witnesses testified to seeing her with sailors on several occasions.

NOTABLES GUESTS AT BANQUET

British Admiral and Wife and Daughter Honored at Biltmore Affair

BY ALMA WHITAKER

Admiral Sir Dudley de Chaire, K.C.B., M.V.O., Lady de Chaire and their daughter Elaine, were the occasion of a gala banquet given by the English-Speaking Union at the Biltmore last night. An imposing array of notables assembled to meet the man who defended the English Channel throughout four years of the war and was on the water practically the whole of that time.

Seated at the speakers' table were also Maj. Frederick Burnham, D.S.O., of famous scout fame, Mrs. Hancock Banning, Hon. Charles Nosworthy, British Consul; George Grossmith, famous English actor; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Dickson and Phillip Kennedy, who presided as chairman.

At other tables the United States Navy was represented by Commander and Mrs. Crutchfield, just home from service in China, and Commander and Mrs. Dashiell. Dr. Charles Lindley, godfather of Lady de Chaire, had also brought numerous guests.

Maj. Burnham paid a high tribute to the visitors, who know America well, and who, he felt were important factors in the consummation of lasting friendship between Britain and America. He concluded with "Sir Dudley, California is yours" to wild cheers. The admiral made a graceful and entirely discreet speech with many compliments for the United States, and some affectionate stories of Joseph Choate. Having been Governor of New South Wales, the admiral also told of the hearty welcome Californians in particular receive in Australia. Lady de Chaire made a charming informal speech in which she reminded all that George Washington and Abraham Lincoln were both of purely British stock.

Mr. Nosworthy spoke highly of the English-Speaking Union of which he has been a member of various chapters in many parts of the world. George Gross Smith supplied the humor of the evening, in a passionate claim that Hollywood is the most important factor in international friendship . . . has it not taught the English some good slang? . . . and all will be well when picture producers realize that fancy is pronounced exactly as it is spelled by superior English people and should so be heard on the green. Nevertheless Hollywood is gradually arriving at the niceties of Mayfair.

"PRINCE'S" TRIAL DELAYED

Jury trial of Alexander Light, self-styled "Prince of Morocco," on petty theft charges growing out of his "Shakespearean drama instruction," yesterday was delayed until next Tuesday by Municipal Judge Northrup when his attorney declared he will be busy in another court until that time.

ACTRESS' DIVORCE SET ASIDE

Default Decree Given to Jean Harlow Obviated as Result of Service Ruse

The default divorce of Jean Harlow, film actress, which she obtained from her husband, Charles F. McGrew III, son of a Chicago attorney, was set aside by Superior Judge Edmonds yesterday on condition that McGrew pay $2500 to the court to cover alimony and attorney's fees that might result from a trial of the case on its merits.

McGrew asserted that he was intoxicated when the divorce papers were served on him and, therefore, was not legally responsible for the service. Mrs. McGrew and her mother, Mrs. Jean Carpenter Bello, admitted in affidavits that McGrew was intoxicated at the time, and described in some detail his actions. He drove his car into his wife's automobile after saying he intended to smash it, according to the affidavits, and before leaving the house slapped her.

Mrs. McGrew obtained service on her husband by subterfuge, she admitted, calling her attorney, T. B. Cosgrove, on the telephone, while her mother argued with him his declaration that service by publication in a divorce case was not legal unless the person served was inside the State at the time of the publication.

McGrew had appeared at the home of Miss Harlow and her mother, 300 North Maple Drive, Beverly Hills, at 4 a.m. June 28, last. He told his wife he was leaving that day in an airplane for the East, so she took steps to get personal service on him then.

McGrew was represented yesterday by Attorneys William J. McNichol and Josiah Coombs.

FIGHT DEATH VERDICT OPEN

Coroner's Jury Holds Newlin Died of Injuries; at Variance with Autopsy Findings

An open verdict was returned by a Coroner's jury yesterday following an inquest into the death of Clarence Newlin, 42 years of age, of 1621 East Sixty-first Place, Huntington Park, and as a result of which Robert Hoffman, 27, of Maywood, with whom he had engaged in an assertedly drunken fight, is being held on a charge of murder.

The jury found that Newlin had suffered injuries to the heart and head in a fight with Hoffman, but declined to commit itself as to which had been the direct cause of his death. The verdict is at variance with the Coroner's autopsy findings Thursday that death was caused by a heart attack. The inquest was conducted at Bell and attended by several witnesses of the fight, including the victim's 15-year-old son.

Following the verdict Dep. Dist.-Atty. Nathanson, in charge of the case, announced it is likely the murder charge against Hoffman will be withdrawn. He added the nature of the next step to be taken will be made known in a few days.

Capt. Stensland of the Sheriff's office revealed yesterday that Hoffman has been wanted for violation of parole from Ione Reformatory, to which he was committed under the name of Sloane Coffman and from which he was paroled in 1926.

The fight preceding Newlin's death was waged at the Hoffman home and, according to Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hoffman, parents of the asserted slayer, resulted from Newlin's refusal to apologize to Mrs. Hoffman for having used profanity in her presence during a party. Shortly after the struggle, Newlin was found unconscious in his automobile a few blocks from the scene. He died later in Corby Hospital, Bea

KATT "FED UP" ON NAME, SO HE HAS IT CHANGED

For some time, Karl Katt, local business man, has harbored an acute personal resentment against members of the zoological family Felidae, digitigrade carnivorous mammals, and more particularly against the genus felis, of which the common house cat is a type.

This vexation and umbrage, undoubtedly a survival of boyhood experiences by which Katt was possibly made the object of much puerile wit, took him into Superior Judge McComb's court yesterday for a change of name.

Katt told the court that he is weary of being "meowed" at by his thoughtless friends, and having people stroke his back to see if he can purr. He even has come to dislike the taste of milk, he said, and desires to rid himself of the cat complex before he finds himself chasing mice, crouching hungrily before rat holes and climbing trees whenever he sees a dog.

"I would like to change the name to Kott," said the petitioner. "That's the way the name should be pronounced."

Judge McComb permitted the change.

UNWRITTEN LAW FAILS TO ACQUIT

But Husband Who Shot Man Found with Wife to Serve Only Short Term

The "unwritten law" failed to acquit Shelton W. Herrin, but it did reduce the penalty from a prison term to six months in jail, when a jury of seven women and five men found Herrin guilty of simple assault.

Herrin shot John A. Quickel in the abdomen when he climbed in a window of his home April 7, last, to find Quickel and his wife together. Both front and rear doors of the house were locked.

Since the shooting, Herrin has forgiven his wife, Mrs. Lulu Herrin, with whom he had lived for eight years, and they have been living together. Mrs. Herrin testified for her husband at the trial, admitting her part in the romance that led to the gun play.

Herrin was prosecuted by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Scott, on a charge of assault to murder, and defended by Attorney Frank J. Lavan. Superior Judge Tuttle will sentence Herrin Tuesday.

Fifty-four Girls Finish Course for Waitresses

Certificates of proficiency were presented to fifty-four young women at the Frank Wiggins Trade School yesterday morning. This marked the completion of their training in restaurant tray service, the first of its kind ever offered in Los Angeles.

These students, already in the trade, devoted several hours each week after the day's work was finished to the course. The latter was given at the downtown stores of the Pig'n Whistle and covered a period of six weeks.

Miss Katherine L. Carey, assistant superintendent of the Board of Education, spoke briefly to the graduates, commending them for their effort to learn how to give better service. S. Hoedemaker, vice-president and general manager of the Pig'n Whistle, a corporation, addressed the students. After presentation of the certificates the girls also were given large boxes of candy as a gift from Mr. Hoedemaker.

Frank Wiggins Trade School reports the largest attendance at any summer school during the last six years since the work was inaugurated. Instruction in twenty-five different trades is being given in the summer school, in which 543 students are enrolled.

Charity Funds Now Deductable

A recent ruling of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, Sixth Circuit, established that corporations contributing to charitable organizations may now claim such items deductable as necessary business expenses on their Federal income tax returns, according to D. C. MacWatters, general manager of the Los Angeles Community Chest.

According to MacWatters, who requested an interpretation of the ruling from Galen Welch, local collector of internal revenue, Welch stated that "while this ruling established no universal principle, applicable to all corporations, it paved the way for local corporations to test the ruling here."

Coombs Named Planners' Head

The City Planning Commission yesterday appointed Thomas Coombs as general manager and director of the department at a salary of $5000 per year. The appointment is effective from July 1, the date when G. Gordon Whitnall resigned.

Coombs has been acting as director since July 1. Prior to that time he was planning engineer for the department for three and one-half years.

QUINN URGES QUIZ OF COUNTY AGENCIES

Supervisor Quinn of the Fourth District yesterday issued a statement calling for a thorough investigation of all county departments which are now "under fire." "Public confidence in county government," he said, "has been shaken by charges against various county officials. I am convinced that no government can function properly without public confidence. I therefore believe that affairs of all county departments which are under fire and the conduct of all officials whose activities have been questioned, should be subjected to a complete and thorough investigation. As Supervisor, I pledge my assistance to any and all constituted agencies in every effort made to establish the truth about any phase of county government."

TOUR-CLASS HEAD GIVES CITY NEW DISTINCTION

Los Angeles is one of the most interesting places in the country, according to Dr. Langdon White, head of the geography department of Randolph-Macon College of Lynchburg, Va., who arrived here yesterday at the head of a group of twenty-six students of Clark University, Worcester, Mass. Its rival is the Salt Lake City district, in his opinion.

Nineteen girls and seven men make up the group traveling around the country with Dr. White and his wife to study economic geography, investigating at first-hand the physical factors of the nation in so far as they relate to man's efforts to make a living. Dr. White lectures and quizzes the students while the tour is in progress in a thirty-one-passenger bus.

"The physical conditions in Southern California must be far better than average or you would not have your astonishing growth," said Dr. White in describing the trip. "Because economic geographers regard this area as one of the two most interesting districts in the country, we have allotted more time to Los Angeles than to any other city except Salt Lake City, which is most interesting from the point of view of one studying historical geography."

The party came to Los Angeles from Fresno and will leave Monday for Needles and the Grand Canyon. Two months are allowed for the trip and approximately 9000 miles will have been covered when the bus returns to the East.

While here the party will stop at the Alexandria.

MONUMENT DESIGN OFFERED

Venice Plaza Project Model Ready

Sculptor Yerbysmith and His Work

ERNEST YERBYSMITH, Hollywood sculptor, has submitted to the art committee of the Chamber of Commerce a design for a monument which he thinks would be suitable for erection in the Plaza at Venice.

The design, offered by Mr. Yerbysmith at the suggestion of the committee, is for a monument 120 feet high costing about $100,000.

Below a dome it would carry a frieze of four American eagles with a wing spread of twenty feet each. Farther down, at four corners, would stand four historical figures, representing Father Junipero, a Spanish soldier, an Indian and a doughboy.

Below these would be a hall of fame to house offerings by sculptors and artists, and at the base a general exhibition hall, approached by a wide sweep of stairs.

The art lommittee of the chamber, which is promoting the erection of statuary at various places in the city, is to give consideration to Mr. Yerbysmith's model, along with others.

County Antes Share to Pave Tenth Street

Assistance to the Tenth-street project came yesterday from the Board of Supervisors when allocated $250,000 from the roads fund toward the paving of the street, which eventually will become a boulevard 100 feet wide from the east to the west city boundaries.

The Council recently unanimously overrode Mayor Porter's veto of the final ordinance for the paving of the western stretch of Tenth street, known as Olympic Boulevard, between Robertson and Rimpau boulevards.

By its action yesterday the board requires the city to appropriate a similar sum.

Thirty-two True Bills Returned During Day by Federal Grand Jury

In twenty-one indictments returned yesterday by the Federal grand jury thirty-two persons were named as defendants, among them being Lawrence De Vallon Young, formerly a book-keeper for the Security-First National Trust and Savings Bank. Young was accused of misapplication of $7800 of bank funds while an employee of the bank. His bail was fixed at $3500.

Three men, Cecil Rawlings, Leonard Holmes and William W. Mellinger, were accused of violating the Federal laws with regard to counterfeiting. Bail for each was fixed at $3500.

Boy Dies, Three Hurt in Traffic

Two 4-year-old children, a boy and a girl, were victims of traffic accidents reported to police last night, in which George Garayzar, 1278 West Twenty-second street, received fatal injuries when he ran in front of an automobile driven by Miss Helen Ward, 1928 South Mariposa street, and Kojima Mitsuko, a Japanese girl, 109 North Mathew street, suffered the loss of her left leg when she toddled in front of a street car.

The boy died shortly after he was taken to Georgia-street Receiving Hospital and the Japanese girl was given emergency treatment at the same hospital and later removed to the new Japanese Hospital where it was said it will be necessary to amputate the limb. Neither Miss Ward nor the conductor of the street car was held by police.

A pint flask filled with whisky found in the pocket of his car after it had turned over early yesterday, led to the arrest of William Barnes, 18 years of age, 461 Clifton street, on a charge of driving while drunk. The accident occurred at Broadway and Parkside street.

Mrs. Sue Daniels, 21, of 4409 Matiliga street, Van Nuys, was injured probably fatally last night in a collision at Whitsett street and Riverside Drive, Van Nuys. She is in the North Hollywood Hospital with a basal skull fracture. Her husband, John W. Daniels, 26, suffered severe head injuries. Jean, 10-months-old daughter, escaped with bruises. William H. Duffy, 5617 Katherine street, driver of the other car, is held by the Van Nuys police for investigation.

CLEANING FLUID MAY COST DANCER'S EYE

Miss Evelyn Kay, 25 years of age, a motion-picture dancer of 1337 North Benton Way, will lose the sight of her right eye, according to police surgeons at the Georgia-street Hospital who treated the dancer last night for painful burns received when a bottle of cleaning fluid exploded in her hands. In addition to the burns, Miss Kay was also cut about the face from the fragments of flying glass.

MAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

The infirmities of old age, which included paralyzed arms, was the reason ascribed by police for the suicide attempt of John M. Keep, 80 years of age, 2308 La Verne street, who last night shot himself in the head with a .22-caliber pistol. He was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where police surgeons said he will die.

CITY ECONOMY PLEA OPPOSED

Lewis Sees No Need for Deep Slashes in Pay Rolls

Councilman Thinks Income Will Exceed Outgo

Various Plans for Reducing Expenses Submitted

The furor over the shortage in the annual budget is a case of much ado about nothing, according to Councilman Lewis, who put in a resolution in the City Council yesterday asking that the resolution adopted July 8 by the Council, calling on all departments to slash their pay rolls, be rescinded.

The resolution was sent to the Finance Committee.

Lewis contends that more than $800,000 was returned to the reserve fund at the end of the past fiscal year, representing the excess of income over outgo during the year, and that prospects are that another $800,000 will be saved this year. What with the $5,000,000 in cash in reserve and another $2,000,000 in securities, it is Lewis's contention that the city can run "full blast."

After Mayor Porter had submitted the budget to the Council last June, the Finance Committee discovered that County Assessor Hopkins had reduced the real estate assessments in the city to the extent that a shortage of $993,000 in city finances loomed. The Council thereupon called on all department heads to submit by yesterday plans for reducing their expenditures by 10 per cent.

Practically all plans were before the Council yesterday. Most of them follow the scheme outlined by City Clerk Dominguez to keep all employees on the pay roll, but to slice their pay checks two or three days' wages per month.

HUNT ENDS WHEN PAIR REAPPEAR

Seamstress Says She Had Been with Friend at Beach Since Saturday

As coincidentally as they disappeared Mrs. Emma Simpson, 37-year-old seamstress, and Fred Carter, middle-aged salesman, reappeared early yesterday morning and brought to an abrupt end a wide-spread police search which had been under way since a week ago today.

Miss Simpson walked into the Hollywood Police Station shortly after 7 o'clock and, declaring how much she regretted the notoriety she had received through the police search, assured Captain of Detectives Miller that there was no need for any further apprehension.

She explained her absence, Capt. Miller stated, by saying that she joined a party of friends and went to Coronado Beach soon after leaving Mr. Carter last Saturday morning.

Carter, the police found, returned to his apartment at 1717 North Alexandria avenue about 3 a.m. and left suddenly without leaving any explanation.

Search for the pair started when police received information from relatives that Carter and Mrs. Simpson had not been on friendly terms. At the request of relatives the search was carried on.

Religious and Charity Groups Share in Estate

Bequests of $20,000 to religious and charitable organizations will be paid out of the estate of Charles M. Campbell of Hermosa Beach, according to terms of his will, filed for probate yesterday.

Campbell's widow, Bertha D. Campbell, and his five children are residuary legatees.

Other bequests are: $10,000 to the Pasadena Presbyterian Church, $2000 each to the World's Sunday-school Association of New York City, the California State Y.M.C.A., the California Anti-Saloon League, the International Sunday-school Association of Chicago, and $1000 each to the Boys' and Girls' Aid Society of Altadena and the Anti-Cigarette League of Los Angeles.

tried in connection with the Julian crash and convicted on three counts of forgery. He is to be sentenced next Friday morning.

Yesterday, after Jones and Barnes had made their official motion for a dismissal of the Grider case because of Berman's refusal to testify and for the lack of evidence, the prosecutors were joined by Defense Counsel Beirne in requesting that Berman be sworn and make his declaration in open court.

Berman was questioned by Jones and Beirne and Judge Wilson and then the matter was taken under submission.

Bootleggers Hit by New Ruling

Liquor case offenders, jailed by Municipal Court judges for offenses committed outside the city but in the county, cannot gain freedom on writs of habeas corpus, Superior Judge Shaw ruled yesterday in denying a writ to Benjamin A. Shelfer. The latter had been found guilty in the Municipal Court on charges asserting liquor possession and sale in Redondo Beach.

Judge Shaw held that the Municipal Court has concurrent jurisdiction with justice courts over misdemeanors committed in any part of the county. The writ was sought under the Supreme Court's recent ruling that misdemeanor cases must be tried in the same township where the offense is asserted to have been committed.

For severe sprains, mix one tablespoonful each of vinegar and spirits of turpentine with the white of an egg; bottle, shake well and bathe sprain well at once. The white of an egg, beaten stiff and stirred thick with salt, is also excellent; bind it on, renewing it when dry.

SCREEN PAIR SHIFT PLAN OF WEDDING

Dolores Del Rio and Gibbons to be United at Santa Barbara Wednesday

Hollywood isn't going to be the scene of the Dolores Del Rio-Cedric Gibbons nuptials. Yesterday the couple went to Santa Barbara, where they filed their notice of intention to marry.

Miss Del Rio gave her age as 24 and her birthplace as Mexico, while Gibbons said he is 40 years of age and a native of Ireland. The couple plan to be married Wednesday with only a few friends as witnesses.

Announcement of the marriage plans of the couple on Thursday came as a surprise to their friends. Miss Del Rio formerly was married to Jaime Martinez Del Rio, reputed wealthy landowner of Mexico and author and playwright, who died unexpectedly in Berlin after she divorced him in her native land about two years ago. Gibbons also is divorced.

Gibbons is art director at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, while Miss Del Rio is under contract at United Artists.

"I consider it of paramount importance that the committee of the National Fruit Growers' Society should approach the commercial fruit-growing organizations of the United States, both importers and exporters, with a view to start making the preliminary arrangements for the future organizations, through which will be handled the exportation of fruit produced by growers of the Pacific Coast, with particular reference to grapes, including the white muscatel, which, I am confident, will be able to reach the foreign markets as soon as the "freezing tunnel" becomes a reality."

BURGLARIES LAID TO BOYS OF 6 TO 13 YEARS OF AGE

A 6-year-old boy is the youngest of nine youthful asserted burglars whose operations included more than two dozen theater and filling-station robberies, according to Deputy Sheriffs Fleming and Daugherty.

The oldest of the suspects is barely 13 years of age.

Admittance was gained in nearly every instance by breaking the windows with rocks. The round-up of the gang was accomplished by a check-up on pawnshops, where a large part of their plunder had been disposed of by confederates. Stolen articles thus far recovered are estimated at more than $500 in value. Most of the robberies were committed in the Florence district, the deputies said, and leaders of the band are asserted to have confessed to twenty-five jobs.

The boys under arrest gave the following names, ages and addresses: Reis Scarlet, 13 years of age, 8826 Elm street; Ray Creath, 12, 8914 Elm street; Garland Barnes, 8919 Elm street; Llewellyn Smith, 14, 9109 Elm street; Richard Valdez, 12, and his two brothers, Joe, 6, and Roland, 7, all of 8736 Elm street; Manuel Ceja, 10, and Isaac Ceja, 8, both of 8917 Elm street.

The band's asserted operations extended over a period of two months.

First National Studios Turn to Foreign Films

The First National studios at Burbank will partially suspend operations for eight to ten weeks beginning September 20, next, according to announcement made yesterday by Jack L. Warner. The reason assigned is that there are only three more pictures remaining to be made on the 1930-1931 program.

During the lull at the studio all will not be inactivity, inasmuch as six pictures are to be produced in each of three foreign languages, French, German and Spanish. Foreign players have arrived in Hollywood for these pictures.

While the vacation period is on Warner and his coexecutives will start preparation for the new program, which is to be one of the company's most extensive ones. Next year, Warner's announcement stated, the studio will operate on a fifty-two-week basis, with production starting on the new program about November 1.

WILSHIRE BOULEVARD BUS STOPS CHANGED

Petitions from a number of persons, most of them employed in the Wilshire Professional Building, for a west-bound bus stop at Wilshire Boulevard and St. Andrews Place were acted on favorably yesterday by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation. The board decided to discontinue the present stop at Manhattan Place and transfer it to St. Andrews Place. This step will make it necessary to change two other bus stops. They are those at Gramercy Place and Van Ness avenue, which must be shifted to Wilton Place and Norton avenue, respectively.

Talkie Interest Increase Shown; Franklin Says

Public interest in talking motion pictures is not on the wane, but on the contrary is increasing, Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox-West Coast Theaters, said yesterday on his return here from a four weeks' inspection tour of the circuit and from a conference in New York with Harley L. Clarke, president of the Fox Corporation.

"Opinions, as voiced in certain sections, that there is a lessening of popular response to worth-while films," Franklin declared, "are just so much loose talk and are without foundation. They come either from those interested in reviving stage drama or from persons who judge the industry by seasonal fluctuation, which is common during extremely hot weather. In every community I visited I found the theater situation excellent."

Plans have been completed, Franklin announced, for the company's proposed new theater at Santa Barbara, and progress is being made on plans for the Los Feliz Theater to be built at Vermont avenue and Hollywood Boulevard. New houses are under construction at Wilshire Boulevard and Hamilton Way and in Stockton, Berkeley, Spokane and Denver. Others are planned for San Pedro, Huntington Park, Billings, Phoenix and a number of eastern cities.

HUSBAND DECLARED SULLEN

When Mrs. Violet Smith invited company to dinner her husband, Franklin James Smith, just sat without speaking, just grunting or growling, to express his disapproval of things, Mrs. Smith told Superior Judge Tuttle at her divorce hearing yesterday. Mrs. Smith added that her husband never supported her, but always made her pay her own board. A decree was granted.

They that will be rich fall into temptation and a snare, and into many foolish and hurtful lusts, which drown men in destruction and perdition.—1 Tim. vi, 9.

STILL YOWLING

Every time a sailor stubs his toe, from now on, Senator Hiram Johnson will blame it on the naval pact.

GOOD WINDS

Those torrid blasts in the Central West and East could not be called altogether "ill winds." They blew a whole lot of suffering folks to glorious California.

COMMON GROUND

Captains of industry cry against reduction of wages, declaring that such a move also would injure the purchasing power. Labor will agree with capital in this instance at least.

SAWING WOOD

The ex-Kaiser has nineteen families of poor relatives to support. In this he has the first sympathy we have been able to work up for him for years. No wonder he has to saw wood!

RUBBER

Several large areas of the new rubber plant found in Mexico may be seen growing along the highway near Salinas, Cal. It resembles sage at a distance. California is always doing something new for folks to rubber at!

PRICE

A two-and-a-half page document signed by George Washington on March 19, 1776, was recently sold for $490. The official instrument gave instruction to Gen. Heath upon the Commander-in-Chief leaving Cambridge for New York. It could not have been bought at any price from those patriots at the time.

MRS. UNCLE SAM

Ruth Bryan Owen wants Uncle Sam to pick out a wife. Since women train the boys and girls of the country for service, Mrs. Owen seems to think they should marry and she seeks to be the match-maker. Uncle Sam had better watch out or some girl will get him yet. A woman President is not beyond possibility.

PITY THE CHORINES

The chorus girls appear to be having a rather rocky time of it. Many shows are shutting down and the damsels are turned out into a cruel world without even a bit of hamburger for nourishment. As a result the fairies in the big cities like New York and Chicago are chasing down all sorts of jobs. The position of cashier in a restaurant appeals to many of them. It seems to assure a chance to eat at any rate. Others are trying to break into department stores, millinery shops and cigar emporiums. But at that they are having hard work in making the grade. A chorus girl without even the prospect of a job is in a bad way.

THE R-100 ARRIVES

The biggest dirigible ever to cross the Atlantic has made the passage safely and tied up at her mooring mast at St. Hubert, Quebec, nine minutes short of seventy-nine hours after leaving her home port at Cardington, Eng. Several hours of this time were taken up in dodging storms and in making repairs.

That the dirigible was able to make the North Atlantic passage at all is a testimonial to her sturdiness. This passage is not easy at any time of the year, even for surface vessels, and all of Dr. Eckener's crossings have been made farther south. It is plain that in the construction and management of these giant airships the Germans have no monopoly of skill, and that the British designers can match them at every turn.

Progress in airship building has been sufficient to make it strongly probable that they will come into commercial use in the very near future. Not so fast as an airplane, they will have a decided margin over surface carriers and are plainly safer on long trips than any heavier-than-air machine yet constructed.

The voyage of the R-100 entitles her makers, her pilots and her crew to full congratulations and to wishes for the best of good luck for the rest of her life. May the time soon come when a Yankee ship will do as well or better!

THE NEW CHAIRMAN

Senator Simeon Fess of Ohio is slated for chairman of the Republican National Committee when Claudius H. Huston steps out, as he has agreed to do. Fess has been a safe and sane, though hardly brilliant, member of the Senate and as national chairman can be depended upon to make few mistakes. His naming shows that President Hoover is in no mood to be stampeded, either by the resurgence of antiprohibition clamor along the eastern seaboard or by the complaints in the wheat belt over the actions of the Federal Farm Board. The new chairman is a steadfast prohibitionist and, though of rural origin, is equally steadfast against farm-relief radicalism.

The majority of the electorate, in sympathy with the purpose of the Eighteenth Amendment and adamant in the determination to see the law impartially enforced, will receive with general satisfaction the choice of Senator Fess of Ohio as prospective chairman of the Republican National Committee. Senator Fess is close to the President, a staunch upholder of the administration's policies. His selection, therefore, may be accepted as a guarantee that President Hoover intends to place a continued support of prohibition among the major activities of the party which nominated him for the Presidency.

Through the last two years a campaign, well financed and backed by a large percentage of the eastern press, has been concentrated against the Eighteenth Amendment and the enforcement provisions of the Volstead Act. So far these attacks have broken against a stone wall of resistance manned by the inarticulate majority which does its speaking through the ballot box. Unfortunately a tendency developed in some sections of the Republican party, affrighted by false fire, to get away from a bone-dry prohibition policy. It was a good time to show the country where the President and the responsible party leaders still stand on this overagitated issue. The naming of Senator Fess does so very effectually.

His appointment is not expected to last indefinitely and it is being predicted that, before the 1932 campaign rolls around, he will have been succeeded by Postmaster-General Brown, another Ohioan, who is usually considered the political adviser of the administration. The Postmaster-General is struggling with some intricate departmental problems at present and prefers to remain at his post until he has solved them.

Senator Fess, who delivered the keynote speech at the last Republican National Convention at Kansas City, is a regular Republican whose adherence to the party has been consistent and dependable and whose orthodoxy has never been brought into question. He is not tricky, like Senator Watson, abhors the wise-cracking of Senator Moses and believes, unlike Senator Borah, that the majority opinion of the party is more likely to be correct than the minority. He respects party platforms and party traditions, lives up to his convictions and is the pattern of respectability in his private life—although a useful man and Senator, and one who will lead the party into no pitfalls. Such sturdy Republicanism deserves a reward and his selection by the President will generally be approved.

The resignation of Chairman Huston is probably the wisest thing for him and the party, in view of all the circumstances. The charges that he was culpable in the handling of private funds were obviously insincere and the irregularities were only technical at most, but they unquestionably impaired his usefulness. His connection with Wall-street speculation, on the one hand, and with what was asserted to be a lobby on the other, though doubtless innocent enough, were viewed with suspicion in some quarters, and it is better for a national chairman not to be open to suspicion. His successor will be under no such handicaps, which, justly or unjustly, must be held to attach to Huston, and would be certain to result disadvantageously to the party. Huston was right in not resigning until the Senate had adjourned and his attackers there had fired their last volleys, just as he is right in resigning now to save the President and the party embarrassment.

It is reported also that Senator Moses will be superseded as Senatorial campaign manager. His joking "sons of the wild jackass" remark at the beginning of the Congressional session and his fight against the London naval treaty at the end of it combine to make him not the ideal chairman for the various Senatorial contests with which the country and the party are faced. The Senatorial campaigns will do better in more discreet hands.

TOO MANY ALIBIS

Careful readers of the testimony now being given in the Supreme Court rehearing of the pardon application of Warren K. Billings must be impressed by the fact that Billings has several too many alibis. In particular, the effort to prove the witness, John McDonald, a liar has succeeded too well. McDonald twisted, squirmed and evaded, ducked, dodged and equivocated when confronted with the various versions of his story he has told at different times.

The one clear and consistent account he has given remains the one he told from the witness stand at the Billings trial, in which he positively identified both Mooney and Billings as having been in possession of the fatal suit case which blew up the Preparedness Day parade in 1916. This story was substantiated by circumstantial as well as direct evidence—and, though this is outside the court record, by the known familiarity of Mooney and Billings with dynamite. McDonald may have been lying then, but if so he did a much more skillful job than he appears at present capable of.

The latest alibi for Billings at the time he is said to have placed the bomb thoroughly complicates the situation and contradicts all the other alibi stories so completely that lawyers for both Billings and Mooney pronounce it false. Exhibiting Billings as a saboteur employed in damaging automobiles at the behest of striking mechanics, it explains his refusal to account for his activities on bombing day on the theory that he was engaged in another criminal enterprise about which he could not have told without convicting himself.

But this criminal enterprise was much less serious than murder and it is reasonable to suppose that if he had had any such defense he would have advanced it before this.

The LEE SIDE O' L.A.

BY Lee Shippey

THE peewee golf craze is about to meet its acid test. A course is being opened in Ourville. If it can keep anybody in Ourville out in the bright lights after 9 p.m. it certainly must be the game of games.

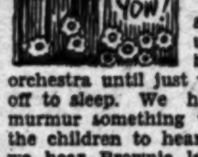
Ourville's World Titles

If Ourville weren't such a modest town it could claim at least two national championships. As we revealed recently, it was chosen for an important chess tournament because it is the quietest town in America, far from the noises which might madden chess players. The song of the steam riveter is never heard here, nor the screech of either the ambulance siren or the roadhouse siren. It is the habit of homeward-bound commuters to walk up from the street car in the middle of the street instead of on the somewhat uneven sidewalks. Need we say more?

Ourville's other claim to world fame is that we have more pets to the square head than has any other city. The census said we have 3500 people here, and as nearly as we can count, nights when we are sleepless, we have 9000 dogs. Unofficial estimates place the number of cats at 7000. The latter population is increasing rapidly, but not so rapidly as it would if it weren't for our faithful neardale, Brownie.

Night Life in Ourville

At 9 p.m. Ourville shuts up shop. Hartman's Pharmacy and Johnson's cigar, news and ice-cream emporium close their doors, following the example most of their neighbors set three hours before. In the homes, porch lights and radios are switched off and householders bedward plod their weary way. The curtain falls on human activities and a hush—an expectant hush—descends like a mist from the stars. And then, as if in answer to the waving of a fairy wand, romance and adventure creep out of bowers of wistaria and broom and bougainvillea. Swashbucklers loudly declaring their willingness to die for love, if need be, leap on gate posts and yell defiance to all comers. The 7000 cats are out—to do or die.



They do considerable tuning up and never burst out in full orchestra until just we have dropped off to sleep. We half awake and murmur something we wouldn't like the children to hear. But just then we hear Brownie leaping from the porch seat on which he sleeps in summer. Brownie never hurt a cat in his life, but he sounds as if the great ambition of his soul is to bite one in two with one snap. "Woof! Woof!" he exclaims, and so terrifically does he rush at the cats that there are seventy-five feet between woofs. The cats scatter to the tall trees or the next block. There hasn't been a cat fight in our block which lasted more than thirty seconds since we moved in. There is no telling how many times Brownie has saved the life of Minou, our impurebred Purrsian. And all our neighbors are so grateful to Brownie that they have quite relieved us of the bother of feeding him. When he passes we imagine they'll chip in to build him a monument to be inscribed: "RequieSCAT in pace."

The Ways of Home Builders

We could write whole pages about Brownie. Cats are all right, in their way, but who ever heard of a cat fighting for you or risking any danger for you or showing any sagacity about your interests?

Like all who build or remodel homes, we found our original estimates were exceeded. When it came time to check up—and check out—we found we were going broke by leaps and bounds. But we plunged recklessly ahead for one more improvement—a fence to keep baby Sylvia from running away.

The day after the carpenter had been paid and dismissed with our compliments we heard Brownie barking in a peculiar manner and looked out. We saw Sylvia, with all her clothes off, scooting across Grand View avenue, half a block away. She had cheerfully burrowed under the fence and, seeing some children in sun suits playing under a hose, had dis-slipped and joined them. Brownie had stood for that, but when she started away for parts unknown he had followed and barked.

We dropped everything and plugged the hole under the fence. For several days Sylvia was a prisoner, unable to get out except when the ice man, the milk man, the grocer or one of our twenty-mule-team quartet of boys absent-mindedly left it open—which was only a dozen or so times a day.

Soon, however, she learned that she could squeeze between some of the palings, so we bought laths and nailed them between the palings. Again she became almost a prisoner—until she discovered that she was a big girl, almost 3, and could climb clear over the old fence, anyway. So now we have to leave the gate open for fear she'll climb over the top and hurt herself, and the fence serves no purpose except to provide support for the roses we've planted beside it.

But every time Sylvia starts out to explore the world, Brownie, if he sees her, tags along and barks in that peculiar, unmenacing way we have learned to know means a warning.

Southern California's Most Wonderful

We often write of famous people, but there are many people here who are far more wonderful than those of whom we write. The proof of that is that there are so many beautiful lawns in Southern California.

For several weeks we have been trying to grow hair on a bald lawn. First we had the ground all leveled and derocked by some one who knew how, and then sowed about a peck of seed. Then we watered it assiduously—so assiduously that the whole lawn became a series of humps and gullies, of canyons and peaks.

We filled the canyons, deleveled, reseeded and watered some more. More canyons. We fairly fertilized the earth with grass seed, we raked it in and rolled it down. And we only hope our sins will wash away as easily as it did.

Finally a few little scattered tufts came up—but it was all devil grass, and we hadn't planted a seed of devil grass!

Quite a bit of the grass we had planted came up, too, though. It came up out in the street gutter and in the next-door yard.

When we meet a Japanese gardener on the street we take off our hat and feel like kowtowing.

Poems are written by fools like us, but only a genius can make a beautiful lawn in this unparalleled region.

UPSETTING UNCLE SAM

Uncle Sam does not seem to be greatly perturbed over the discovery of a Russian plot to overthrow the government of the United States. He is not so easily upset.

Russia has specialized in various regimes of late years. Like some others, she is happier when she is sad. Her regular diet is an irregular menu. Because her own systems have suffered so many reversals, she imagines that all rules are built upon the same unstable foundations.

Uncle Sam stands upon too broad a base to be easily overthrown. His two big feet are political and religious freedom. People of every clime and tongue may come to him and find asylum. Almost anybody may become a citizen as long as he behaves himself. As long as he is loyal no question is asked about his views. As long as he lets others exercise the same right, he may hold any form of faith. It is hard to topple over anyone with an understanding like that.

Sovietism may enjoy poising its pyramid of a government on its point: a small bloc of hand workers further narrowed by atheism. The great mass swaying above is normally brainy and irrevocably religious. The thing is bound to fall.

THE UNANIMOUS JURY

The American Law Institute has come out in favor of the majority jury, although a unanimous verdict is urged in cases of capital punishment. It suggests a judgment of eight jurors in misdemeanors and ten in felonies. They also approve the use of an extra juror or two in important cases—as is the custom here. Many of the miscarriages of justice are due to the fact that the jury of twelve must be unanimous in its verdict.

TOO MUCH GRAY MATTER

New skull of man who lived a million years ago shows very large brain capacity. Which is proof that he was not a politician of his time.

THE UNDER DOG

By James J. Montague

I do not want a mansion
With sixty-seven rooms,
Inside whose gates one vegetates
As in Egyptian tombs;
I want no hosts of servants
To serve me bread and meat,
And stand and sneer from ear to ear
The while they watch me eat.
I only want to have a small,
Convenient little flat,
With kitchenette, but darn it all,
I can't have that.

I do not want to travel
In private Pullman cars;
I'm sure I'd choke were I to smoke
Large fifty-cents cigars.
I do not want to worry,
As life I journey through,
About my blocks of dwindling stocks
As certain rich men do.
I do not care for quail and duck,
But leisure and repose,
And three square meals, but drat the luck,
I can't have those.

I do not pine for glory,
I do not envy fame,
Nor wish the crowd to cry aloud
If they should hear my name.
I've never craved position,
Nor great exalted place.
I am not keen upon the screen,
To see my pictured face.
I only want to get about
And have a little fun,
But to my sorrow I've found out
It can't be done.

BOYHOOD OF FAMOUS AMERICANS

III

GEN. JOHN J. PERSHING

BY J. V. FITZ GERALD

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

[This is the third of eighteen articles outlining the boyhood of famous Americans and telling how they got their start in life.]

The competitive examination for West Point was on. It was a close contest between two of the candidates. The Missouri Congressman, conducting the examination for his district, had a hard time grading them. Finally he decided that one of the two leaders rated just one point better than the other. He named John Joseph Pershing as the winner and appointed him as a cadet to the United States Military Academy.

It was by this narrow margin that Uncle Sam obtained the general who was to command the greatest armed host ever raised in the United States and to lead it to victory, with the Allies, in the greatest war in the world's history.

No ambition, nurtured from early boyhood, prompted John Pershing to seek admission to West Point. He had no set ideas on becoming a soldier when he was a little fellow. In fact, he was headed for a career as a teacher or a lawyer and was a student in the Kirksville Normal School when he won the appointment to the Military Academy.

He saw his Congressman's notice of the examination in a newspaper and asked his sister, who was also attending the Kirksville school, if she would advise him to try the test. She certainly would, she told him. This coincided with his own ideas on the subject, so his military career may be said to have had its first impetus in the reading of a newspaper advertisement.

Gen. Pershing was born in 1860 at Laclede, Mo., a hamlet of some 700 inhabitants. His father, whose ancestors had come from Alsace, had the general store at Laclede and also owned a farm on the outskirts of the town. The future commander of the A.E.F. was the oldest of six children. He assumed much responsibility in helping to care for them.

The Pershing youngsters spent considerable time on the farm. Young John developed into a capable worker in the fields even as a boy. The outdoor life and exercise made him a fine upstanding and vigorous youth. He was known as a good fighter when he had to use his fists, but he was never one to go out looking for trouble.

He could ride horseback, fish, swim and hunt when he was a little shaver. Such training fell to the lot of all boys in the West in those days. His mother taught him his first book lessons and instilled in him the desire for a good education.

If he wasn't a brilliant student, he was a conscientious one and stood well in his classes. Fellow-pupils of the Laclede days can recall that when John Pershing had a problem to solve he worked at it until he had the correct answer. While he was quiet as a boy, he was full of fun and enjoyed playing pranks with the youngsters of his own age.

Before he entered the Kirksville Normal School he taught for two terms at Prairie Mound, a few miles distant from Laclede. He was only 18 at the time. Some of his pupils were older than that. One day he had to chastise an unruly pupil. The lad's father, well over six feet tall and big in proportion, appeared the next day to demand satisfaction of the teacher.

He had a gun in his pocket. He stormed about and roared threats. First the young teacher took the gun from the man. Then he handed him a sound threshing with his fists.

Young Pershing was a leader among the students at Kirksville. He was equally prominent at West Point. They tell the story that when a group of hazers tried to put the new cadet through the mill he thrashing with his fists.

He was serious, persistent and determined in his efforts to become an excellent soldier during his student days at the Military Academy. He made a good record in his studies, ranking thirtieth in his class when he was graduated in 1886. He was senior cadet captain and was elected president of his class.

The newly made second lieutenant was assigned to the cavalry. He saw service as a young officer under Nelson A. Miles in the Apache, Geronimo and Wounded Knee campaigns. Then he taught military tactics at the University of Nebraska, also acting as assistant professor of mathematics there.

He studied law while assigned to Nebraska, was graduated with honors and admitted to the bar. Then he was ordered to West Point as an instructor. From there he was detailed to duty in Cuba, serving under Gen. Shafter in the Spanish-American War. He was promoted for bravery at the battle of El Caney.

He made a brilliant record in the Philippines and led the expedition into Mexico before being put in command of the A.E.F. Uncle Sam was fortunate, indeed, that John Pershing topped his rival in the West Point competitive examination for his district by the narrow margin of that single point.

CITY OF MANY NAMES

Named and renamed successively St. Petersburg, Petrograd and Leningrad, the erstwhile capital of the Russian empire is a city of interesting palaces and museums, most of which were former residences of the czars and the Russian nobility. Of these perhaps the most famous is the former Winter Palace. It is a striking specimen of the baroque style, and was built by Rastrelli during the period from 1754 to 1762. Adjoining the Winter Palace and, as a matter of fact, part of the palace itself, is the famous Hermitage, an art gallery and museum that ranks among the greatest in the world.

Dewey's Men Shot Straight

LOS ANGELES, July 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The Times today contains the following statement by Mr. Carr:

"That time when Dewey stopped the Battle of Manila to serve breakfast was a tiptop newspaper story; but the truth was the ships were not hitting anything and Dewey stopped the farce to find out why."

The writer arrived in Manila Bay about eight weeks after Dewey's gunners sank or destroyed every vessel in the Spanish fleet and the forest of maintops and hulks and dismantled batteries dotting the bay that met the eye were silent testimony that the gunnery was O.K.

It is true that at the time the United States fleet temporarily withdrew, the enemy's warships did not show the effects of the shells; but the "breakfast order" was due to a paucity of ammunition. Through no fault of Dewey, his fleet was not fully supplied with ammunition and it was necessary to reapportion the remaining shells.

And when the squadron again drew up in battle formation, behold! the ships of the enemy that Mr. Carr thinks were unscathed, one by one burst into flames and sank or drifted on shore. The shore batteries (Cavite) were blown to bits.

Poor Forms of Welcome

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Will you tell me why, in this chivalrous city of yours, the housewife must carry her garbage pail out to the curb for the convenience of your husky garbage collectors? It is often difficult and always undignified and I am sure that many women must resent it as I do.

I have never been asked to do it in any other city and although it may save a little money such petty economy seems unworthy of the great metropolis of the Pacific.

I was held up and robbed on the street a few evenings ago—another condition which the women, especially the elderly ones, must surely be beginning to resent—so I feel that a very pleasant welcome has been extended to a new arrival. I am a native Californian, however, strange as that may seem here, so claim the family privilege of registering a complaint.

Radio Discrimination Illegal

LOS ANGELES, July 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] As you pointed out in a recent editorial, free speech is not at issue in the question of the Shuler radio. But you might have gone even further, and shown that the reverend politician is violating the Federal radio law by failing to give opponents of his views the same facility in airing them that he has.

This law specifically forbids discrimination in facilities for political discussion by radio. Thus if a station permits one political orator to broadcast, it must permit any other political orator to broadcast on the same terms. Shuler, of course, pays nothing for the use of his station, and it accordingly follows that he must grant, free of charge, the use of his station to his opponents and for an equal length of time. If he does not do so there is ample ground for the cancellation of his license.

There is no need for Senator Rochester or Lloyd Nix to hire time on any other radio station. They are entitled by law to the free use of Shuler's. This is a tip that may save them money as well as a principle that will put the brake on Shuler.

WESTWOOD HILLS, July 29. [To the Editor of The Times:] After glancing through today's editorials I beg to call to your attention that you have misplaced the "World's Biggest Word." It is quite possible that antidisestablishmentarianistically may be the biggest English word, but I would like to have you try a bit of Spanish on your typewriter, namely this, Retequeanticonstitucionalisimamente. Let's see if you can get one over on me by producing a word with thirty-six letters.

Racing Dogs to Time Selves

The invisible-ray system, used in a number of London business houses as a burglar alarm, is to be adapted to the timing of greyhound races in England. The beam is focused across the winning line, on to a disc resembling a microphone, and the timing instrument, started by electrical contact from the starting trap, stops when the beam is broken by the head of the leading dog.

Seaplane Club in Singapore

Singapore, Straits Settlements, claims to have the only light seaplane club in the world. It recently completed 1000 flying hours without accident or injury. In the last year eighteen club members have qualified for licenses. The club maintains three planes, and members are given instruction by lectures and by flying. Formation flying is being taught the more advanced pilots.

TEACH CHILDREN CAUTION OF FIRE, NOT FEAR OF IT

Walking along an uptown street not so long ago my attention was drawn to a group of interested children. Something about their attitude indicated that they were into mischief. A collection of papers, refuse and excelsior had been stuffed into a gunny sack and dumped beside an apartment-house steps awaiting the garbage man. The children were huddled behind this sack, in the triangle made by it and the steps, industriously blowing upon a half-smoked cigarette hopefully trying to light the excelsior. They were about 7 years of age, seemingly old enough to know their danger, but there they stood unmindful of the fact that had the refuse ignited they would have been trapped behind a pillar of flame, helpless victims of their beautiful bonfire.

TEACH CHILD ABOUT FIRE

We know it isn't possible for parents to watch children of this age constantly, yet fire is a danger which some time or another every child is certain to meet. Like all dangers it should be known, understood and respected. It seems better to allow children to handle matches and learn their legitimate use than to arouse such a consuming desire to make use of them that they are compelled to hide behind inflammable objects to carry out their cherished project.

Always the carefully hidden match box at some unexpected moment falls into the child's hands and starts the devastating fire.

WATCH YOUR ACTIONS

Adults act too casually toward fire. They talk of its dangers and then dump kerosene on live coals, strike matches carelessly and ignite the turned-on gas, light cigarettes and cigars and puff them, indifferent to the flame so near their faces. Children are fascinated by these acts and at some propitious moment are certain to imitate them. The lighted cigarette probably dropped by a passerby, offered a tossed from some speeding car, or tempting opportunity to use it as a substitute for the matches which no doubt they had always been denied.

Fear and caution are two different emotions; one is paralyzing and the other a wholesome one which encourages the children to observe more keenly and act more carefully. Children must learn caution through knowledge of how carefully adults really handle matches, however careless they may seem. They learn this best by being allowed to ignite the gas after lighting the match, by shielding the flame preparatory to touching off the papers in the fireplace, all this with the greatest caution, and with mother or father standing right beside them. These acts satisfy the child's curiosity about matches and fire and prevent a constant temptation when he encounters them unexpectedly. Except for lucky interference, the perpetration of such a childish and thoughtless act as the one described might easily have resulted in tragedy.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

A Bedtime Story

JIM CROW'S RETURN

A scapegrace, do whate'er he may,
Will often have a winning way.
—Mother Brown.

For three nights and three days Jim Crow had been a member of the flock over in the Green Forest. For three nights and three days he has tasted the joys of freedom. And now he was ready to confess that this so-called freedom did not taste as sweet as he had expected. It would soon be time for the flock to seek a lonesome part of the Green Forest to go to bed for the night. Jim Crow didn't like to think of it. Never until he had left his home at Farmer Brown's had he known what fear was at night. Now, every night he was afraid. All the other Crows were afraid.

"I'm not going to do it," said Jim Crow, talking aloud, as it drew near to the time to seek their perches for the night.

"What is it you are not going to do?" inquired his father, Blacky.

"I'm not going back to the Green Forest to shiver and shake tonight," declared Jim Crow.

"What are you going to do?" inquired Blacky.

"Im going back where I was," declared Jim Crow. "I'm going back where I can have plenty to eat without working hard to get it; where I can sleep without worrying, and where I don't have to fly away from every man I see. What is more, I'm going right this minute."

Jim Crow was as good as his word. In spite of the taunts of the other Crows, he headed straight for Farmer Brown's cornfield, where Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's Boy were just making ready to leave for home. "My goodness!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy. "What are those Crows making such a fuss about?" He stood for a moment looking across the Green Meadows toward the big flock of Crows. They were cawing excitedly. As he looked, one of the flock separated from the others and headed straight toward him. The other Crows started in pursuit, then changed their minds. But the lone Crow came straight on.

"I wonder if that is Jim Crow!" exclaimed Farmer Brown's Boy. "I believe it is. I believe the rascal is coming home." He gave the call that he used to use when he wanted Jim Crow to come to him. There was an answering "caw,' and it seemed as if the lone Crow flew faster than ever. In a few minutes he was so near that Farmer Brown's Boy recognized him. There was no question but that it was his lost pet Crow. Straight to him flew the black bird and alighted on his right shoulder. Such a jabbering as there was then! Jim Crow, with his bill close to the right ear of Farmer Brown's Boy, jabbered Crow talk as fast as his tongue could go. Yes, sir, he did so. Now and then he would give Farmer Brown's Boy's ear a gentle tweak.

"What's the matter with you, you black scamp?" cried Farmer Brown's Boy. "What are you making such a fuss about? One would think you had been rescued from something. You could have come home any time you wanted to. Besides, you needn't have gone in the first place."

To all this, Jim Crow replied with Crow talk, not one word of which could Farmer Brown's Boy understand. But then, it wasn't necessary to understand the words. Jim Crow's actions were quite as easily understood as any words and it was very clear, indeed, that Jim Crow was delighted to be at home once more. So up the Long Lane he rode on Farmer Brown's Boy's shoulder, and across the dooryard to the back door. There stood Mother Brown.

"So that nuisance is back, is he?" she exclaimed. "I hoped he had gone for good."

Farmer Brown's Boy grinned. He knew that Mother Brown didn't really mean that. He knew that right down in her heart she was glad to see Jim Crow back again.

Chef Wyman's RECIPES

The Times' free cooking school conducted by Chef Wyman has been discontinued for the summer. Date for resuming has not been set but will be announced later.

KLONDIKE ICE CREAM

Four tablespoonfuls of flour, four tablespoonfuls of sugar, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, two cupfuls of milk, two cupfuls of thin cream, one-half pound of chocolate coated molasses chips. Mix the flour, sugar and salt together, add the milk slowly, and mix until smooth. Place in a double boiler, and cook until slightly thickened, remove and allow to cool. Add the cream, and the candy crushed fine, and freeze.

CREAM VEAL PATTIES

One and one-half cupfuls of diced cold cooked veal, one pimiento chopped fine, one cupful of cooked peas, three tablespoonfuls of flour, three tablespoonfuls of chopped olives, one and one-half cupfuls of milk, three tablespoonfuls of butter or shortening, a seasoning of salt and paprika. Melt the butter, add the flour, and seasonings and when melted, add the milk. Cook over a slow fire in a double boiler until thick, then add the diced veal, pimiento, olives and peas, and cook until thoroughly heated. Pour the mixture over hot biscuits that have been cut in two and buttered.

BLUEBERRY AND ORANGE PUDDING

Two cupfuls of blueberries, one tablespoonful of butter, one-half cupful of sugar, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one-fourth cupful of shortening, one-half cupful of sugar, one egg, one-fourth cupful of orange juice, one and one-fourth cupfuls of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one teaspoonful of grated orange rind, one cupful of whipped cream. Drain the blueberries, place them in a sauce pan with the one tablespoonful of butter, and the sugar, allow to heat for ten minutes, then add a little of the juice, if the berries are too thick, keep them warm, make the cake batter by creaming the one-fourth cupful of shortening, gradually adding the one-half cupful of sugar, beat the egg, and blend in with the creamed shortening and sugar. Sift the flour, salt, and baking powder together, add the orange rind, and mix into the creamed shortening, alternately with the orange juice. Oil a baking dish, pour in the warm blueberries and cover them with the orange cake batter. Bake in a moderate oven for about thirty minutes, serve hot with the whipped cream that has been flavored with two drops of almond extract.

ANGEL LEMON PIE

Three-fourths cupful of lemon juice, one tablespoonful of grated lemon rind, one cupful of sugar, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of salt, four eggs. Beat the egg yolks until thick, add the grated rind and juice of the lemon, salt, and one-half cupful of sugar, place in a double boiler and cook until thick, stirring constantly. Cool the mixture, beat the egg whites until stiff and dry, add the remainder of the sugar to them and beat until smooth, beat the sugar in a little at a time, then fold the whites into the cold custard. Pour into a baked pie shell and brown in a moderate oven about fifteen minutes.

KAY FRANCIS TO UNIVERSAL

Charles Winninger Cast in Hammerstein Piece

Paramount Prepares Version of "Tom Sawyer"

"Fifty Million Frenchmen" Loses Music

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

It is quite likely, we hear, that Kay Francis will be signed by Universal to play the leading role of Helene in "Boudoir Diplomat," left vacant when Mary Nolan was loaned to Warner Brothers for "Ex-Mistress."

KAY FRANCIS

Miss Francis is under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, with the latter loaning her to Universal for the important role.

The actress has played good roles of late, including, for one, a lead in Cecil B. De Mille's "Madam Satan." In fact, she has been uniformly successful in talking pictures.

CHARLES WINNINGER NOW WITH WARNERS

Hollywood seems destined to capture all the big-league comedians. Now Charles Winninger, comic in many a Broadway musical, is going to Warner Brothers to provide a share of the comedy in the Hammerstein-Romberg effort, "Children of Dreams."

And while there is no direct announcement about this, we hear a rumor that he may also appear in a musical which the Warners are planning to do on the stage.

The comedian in private life is the husband of Blanche Ring, Broadway luminary. Together the two have been starred many times.

Lasky Casts "Tom Sawyer"

When the beloved Mark Twain story, "Tom Sawyer," comes to life on the screen, for Paramount, it will have a cast worthy of its standing as a classic. Jackie Coogan, you may remember, has the name part, and Mitzi Green is Becky Thatcher.

MITZI GREEN

Aunt Polly is to be played by that very clever actress, Clara Blandick, former stage leading woman, now of the screen. This marks her third role with Paramount.

The most sought-for juvenile part in Hollywood among the past few months, that of Joe Harper, friend of Tom and Huck, has been won by Dick Winslow, 14-year-old actor. Winslow has been acting since he was a very small child, and shows great promise.

Eight-year-old Jackie Searl will play Sid Sawyer, Tom's younger brother.

Ethel Wales is to characterize Mrs. Harper, mother of Joe. Miss Wales has appeared in "The Covered Wagon," "The Doctor's Secret," "The Saturday Night Kid" and many other productions.

John Cromwell is directing from an adaptation by Sam Mintz, Grover Jones and William Slavens McNutt.

Jameson Thom Arrives

An actor said to be the highest paid screen thespian of the English screen, has arrived in our midst.

JAMESON THOM

He is Jameson Thom, who has been under contract to British International Pictures during the past three years. He has appeared opposite Alice Joyce, Gilda Grey, Maria Corda and Betty Blythe in pictures made on "the other side."

H. B. Warner Busy

H. B. Warner surely is one of the busiest actors in Hollywood. It seems that not only has he signed with Liberty Productions for two pictures, but he also has a contract with Warner Brothers for three films, and an agreement with Fox for two productions.

Ever since his success in "The King of Kings" and "Silence," Mr. Warner has deservedly known hardly an idle day.

Charles Murray Returns

The "cut-up" of "The Cohans and Kellys," Charlie Murray, has returned from his long trip abroad, and is scheduled to start work immediately on a series of short-reel talking comedies for Universal.

He will be cofeatured with George Sidney in them, and, we hear, there is also a new Cohan-and-Kelly story in the offing.

Chevalier Title Chosen

"Play Boy of Paris" has been chosen by Paramount as the final release title of Maurice Chevalier's new starring picture, formerly called "The Little Cafe."

Musical Without Music

The trend of pictures away from musicals is emphatically pointed out by the announcement that a production planned by First National as a big musical is now to be produced without lyrics.

The production in question is "Fifty Million Frenchmen," the musical hit of the year in New York. First National considers, however, it has a strong enough story to be put on without a single song.

MIKE MAKES NEW RECORD

Three Hundred Extra Players Speaking Nine Tongues Put "Box" to Test

A new record for microphone endurance is believed to have been established in Hollywood.

It was made during the filming of a North African street scene for "Morocco," Paramount picture featuring Gary Cooper, Marlene Dietrich and Adolphe Menjou.

There were 300 extra players in the street, chattering in nine different languages. Camels, donkeys, goats, sheep, chickens and geese added to the din. A bugle call rang out and 250 men marched through a gateway into the street, to an accompanying blare of martial music and clatter or arms.

And not a microphone light valve was broken.

R.-K.-O. Making Seven Pictures

There is no such thing as a "slack summer" period at R.-K.-O. studios. Late in July seven pictures will be in various stages of production—the Amos 'n Andy special, with Sue Carol as the feminine lead, directed by Mel Brown; "Cimarron," Edna Ferber's epic of Oklahoma, starring Richard Dix and directed by Wesley Ruggles; "Half Shot at Sunrise," directed by Paul Sloan with Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey in leading roles; "The Silver Horde," featuring Evelyn Brent and Joel McCrea, on location in Alaska with Director George Archainbaud; "Heart of the Rockies" and "Nick and Tony," featuring Henry Armetta.

Chaney Returns; Health Regained

Lon Chaney, the man of a thousand faces, returned to Hollywood yesterday completely recovered in health following two weeks of treatment by New York specialists. He intends to leave immediately for a brief fishing trip in the high Sierras before returning for his next picture at Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

Chaney went to New York for treatment for a throat disorder which set in following his attack of pneumonia some months ago. He was left with some throat growth for which he underwent an operation here before going east. Physicians who attended him in New York pronounced him fully recovered.

DRIVERS OF HEARSE ACQUITTED AT TRIAL

William Busick of 608 Soto street, and Joe Gwatkin of 227 West Third street, did not violate a city ordinance by transporting a hearse bearing advertising for a mass meeting over the city streets, Municipal Judge Egan ruled yesterday. They were charged with using a vehicle exclusively for advertising purposes in the city streets. The two men testified that they were merely taking the hearse to Trinity Auditorium for display at the mass meeting and that the banner advertising the meeting was incidental.

BREACH OF PROMISE SUIT ASKS $50,000

After waiting two years for Jack Krown to marry her, she says, Rose Joyce yesterday filed a $50,000 breach-of-promise suit against Krown, asserting that the last of his many nuptial promises was made March 24. Krown, said to be wealthy, always told the plaintiff he would marry her "soon," she declares. She adds that she now believes he never intended to.

MODERN MAIDS GLITTER AGAIN

'Our Blushing Brides' Brings Giddy Triumvirate

This Time, Though, They're Working Girls

Crawford - Page - Sebastian Trio at Criterion

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Young romance assumes its sway upon the screen again. "Our Blushing Brides," named as the successor of "Our Dancing Daughters" and "Our Modern Maidens," is showing at the Criterion Theater, and it is a gilded picture of a Cinderella and her friends. Those three musketeers, who garnered the laurels of modernity in "Our Dancing Daughters," are present in this film, and if you saw that earlier picture you may remember them as Joan Crawford, Anita Page and Dorothy Sebastian.

Though the title of this picture is "Our Blushing Brides," I defy you to detect the aroma of orange blossoms hovering over the screen. There is not a marriage that anyone can see. There is one ginned match to be sure, and there is the promise of another wedding at the close, but the manifestation of the chances for brides, let alone the blush, are nil.

This is really a great entertainment of its kind. It takes the ancient theme of "heaven will protect the working girl" (when she is doing right,) and dresses it up in entirely new guise.

The picture has the smartness and the up-to-dateness that was typical of the earlier films and it is a dazzler, at times, in its modernesque settings and its glitter of pageant and dance.

MEN SNAPPY, TOO

The men, too, are a polished and snappy lot, what with Robert Montgomery, Raymond Hackett and John Miljan playing the leading roles, while Edward Brophy dashes in here and there for comedy.

As usual in these pictures, Miss Page seems to be the outshining brightener. She hasn't as much footage as the moralizing Miss Crawford, but her role is the more colorful of the two. As in both earlier pictures, she is the weaker character. She takes the glitter for gold and eventually manages to lend a heart throb to the story.

It is Miss Crawford who really does the acting that conveys the pathetic side of this film, but to Miss Page will go a large share of the sympathy.

Miss Crawford is really fine in a role that regrettably does not always avoid the platitudes. She has enough scenes, though, that are inherently clever to make her performance gleam out. It is an exceedingly difficult role to play, in a way, because it is almost that of a motherly type. She essays to guide the frequently faltering steps of the two girls who are her pals.

It is the snap and go of this picture that particularly please. The scenes in the department store where the three girls work are unusually well staged, and there are light touches of humor throughout.

One wouldn't give one-two-three for the plot were it not so effectively presented both in the story and dialogue of Bess Meredyth and John Howard Lawson, and in the direction by Harry Beaumont. Here and there the mere words let down, but the situations are generally pat.

PICTORIAL RAZZLE-DAZZLE

The picture indulges in the scenic and spectacular exaggerations which used to make for the popularity of the Cecil De Mille films in the good old days. That setting of the house up in the tree is a whirlwind. It must have been the original Charter Oak on which it was built.

All through this picture girls flutter. One catches glimpses of Mary Doran and Gwen Lee. Hedda Hopper is viewed for a scene or two. Martha Sleeper is another.

Then one sees Albert Conti as a sartorial master of ceremonies, with three fantastic assistants, Robert Emmett O'Connor as the detective who pinches one of the girls and various others.

However, it is the smooth and amiable Mr. Montgomery, the idle rich young Mr. Hackett, and the witty Mr. Hiljan (I am speaking of the characters they play) who are most important aside from the girls themselves. It looks as if this superserial of the modern maid could go on indefinitely.

Mickey Mouse bursts forth in a barn dance affair called "Shindig," that is generously amusing, and there is a Tom Terris Vagabond scene of the Ganges called "Sacred Flame" that has charm.

TRIO WILL APPEAR AT EL CAPITAN

Henry Duffy Presents "Tea for Three" at Tomorrow Matinee

Henry Duffy will present Tom Moore, Ernest Glendinning and Gladys George as the co-starring trio in "Tea for Three," opening tomorrow matinee at the El Capitan Theater.

This Roi Cooper Megrue society comedy is a modern treatment of the "eternal triangle" situation with an unusual plot twist and a surprise ending.

The return of Tom Moore and Ernest Glendinning, two popular Henry Duffy guest stars, is being hailed enthusiastically by El Capitan patrons, judging from advance reservations for the opening day. It is said that Tom Moore's following among theatergoers is growing to equal his screen admirers, following his return to the stage recently in "The Boomerang" and "This Thing Called Love." Ernest Glendinning was a success as the comedian in "Nancy's Private Affair," the part for which he was brought to Hollywood by Duffy.

Gladys George, who portrays the sophisticated young wife in "Tea for Three," was formerly leading woman in Salt Lake City, Denver and Kansas City.

Eric Snowden, Dorothy Cecil and Donald Campbell are others of the cast.

PORTIA AT BAR SAVES DAUGHTER

"Scarlet Pages" Puts Elsie Ferguson in Legal Robes; Dialogue Clever

BY WHITNEY WILLIAMS

The spectacle of a lawyer conducting a dynamic fight against the District Attorney in the courtroom is not new to motion-picture audiences, but the situation gains new emphasis as presented in "Scarlet Pages," the current attraction at Warner Brothers, Downtown Theater. Elsie Ferguson, its star, portrays the figure at grips with the court, in her attempt to save the life of her daughter on trial for murder. She interprets the character intelligently and well, though it must be admitted that small interest will attend her reception as the brilliant criminal lawyer.

"Scarlet Pages," its sensationally flamboyant title belying the true nature of the plot, interests in its courtroom sequences, but is dull in the opening and closing episodes. The film is a picturization of the play by Samuel Shipman and John B. Hymer, in which Miss Ferguson also appeared on the stage.

The plot is builded on the ancient formula of mother and daughter, after a separation of many years, meeting one another, ignorant of their respective identities. In the picture in question, the courtroom, where the mother is defending the girl, serves as the jousting place.

Action in the courtroom has been treated with skill and the dialogue is both witty at times and clever. Reserve characterizes Ray Enright's handling of scenes, particularly in the more dramatic ones.

John Halliday gives a remarkably smooth performance, as the District Attorney in love with Miss Ferguson. His acting is the most outstanding in the film and no doubt he will achieve a large following. It will be recalled that he appeared on the local stage last season with Fay Bainter in "Jealousy."

Marian Nixon acquits herself nicely in a dramatic role, though she is called to overact slightly on several occasions. Grant Withers plays opposite her and De Witt Jennings, Charlotte Walker and Wilbur Mack complete the cast.

The stage presentation this week has been transported from the Warner Brothers Hollywood Theater of last week, with only Olsen and Johnson's antics and presence missing. "On the Levee," it is called, a Larry Ceballos review. Pert Kelton, in "A Few Minutes of Foolery," is an addition, however, as, too, are Fortunado and Chunelli, European clowns. Fast dancing highlights the stage offering.

CONTINENTAL MOOD ACHIEVED IN DRAMA

"A Loving Wife," at Play Shop, Strikes Daring Note in Dialogue

BY KATHARINE VON BLON

Quite continental in manner of approach and treatment, George De Porto-Riche's "A Loving Wife" (L'Amoureuse) is giving a decided fillip to the jaded palate as played by a cast schooled in the sophisticate mode at the Play Shop.

Unconventional and daring in its frank revelation of the intimate moments of a married couple, it manages to achieve a certain poignancy which through the deft manipulation of the playwright never becomes tiresome, but follows rather a delightfully satirical vein. The repartee written for mondaines, is sparkling, lightly effervescent, yet beneath the evanescence one senses certain deep truths anent life and the marriage estate.

As "L'Amoureuse," Miami Alverez is alluring and gives charming account of herself. It is a subtly limned delineation, imaginative and tender in concept. Dayton Lummis, a recruit from the eastern stage, as the bachelor friend, acts with finesse and fine poise. As the adored husband, Paul Spier seemed slightly miscast, though he plays the part in an interesting manner. Carmen Matthews, Lucille Morrow, Betty Boswell and Rose Apell: please in small parts.

MANY SHEEP USED

Thirty-five hundred sheep are used in sequences of "The Law Rides West," Paramount's filmization of "Spanish Acres," in which Richard Arlen, Rosita Moreno, Eugene Pallette and Mitzi Green have featured roles.

COMEDY OF MATRIMONY GAY, WITTY

French Flavor in Farce at Warners Hollywood; Frank Fay Featured

BY ELENA BOLAND

Gay, sophisticated and quite sharply witty is the feature which yesterday had its premier at Warner Brothers Hollywood Theater.

Still smacking somewhat of its original French flavor, "The Matrimonial Bed," through adroitness and its flair of wordy brilliance, is the unusual combination of box-office and clever entertainment.

Credit for its finished success may be equally distributed between three parties. To the author, Ives Mirande, is given praise for a play of swift, ingenious situations brought to life by dialogue, whose sparkle is typical of the Parisian. And Michael Curtiz is to be congratulated for having turned a stage vehicle of extremely limited action into a picture whose suspense increases to practically the final "shot." Curtiz has also managed to preserve the essential tone of a delicate indelicacy which is the play's charm.

Had they been less understanding or less schooled in subtle shadings, the cast might easily have made of this another rather foolish farce. Instead, through a joint feeling for the fun of the thing and a sensitive reserve which prevented anyone from overstepping the bounds of humor, the players have kept the story always alive and progressive.

Confusion is the keynote to this plot, which transpires around the embarrassing return of a believed-deceased husband. And to further complicate matters, the husband had no idea he had been dead, having gone his way for five years with a comfortable case of amnesia. He had become a barber in that spare time and through his radiant personality had built up an amazing feminine clientele.

It would be impossible to go into details as to what befalls the unhappy group of participants. All concerned seem to have two or three wives and even several sets of twins.

Frank Fay plays the dual role of Leopold (the amnesia victim) and Adolphe, his former self. He makes nice discrimination between his two personalities and appears, in fact, at his best. Two distinct moods are felt in this: The first being purely farcical and the latter bordering closely on real tragedy. For the difficulty is that Adolphe, when his memory is restored, still loves Florence Eldridge, his first wife. But she has acquired another husband in the meantime whom she is not willing to give up. Therefore, living up to a line often repeated, "What a Man" Mr. Fay pretends a return to forgetfulness and goes back to a wife and four children he couldn't remember having met.

Miss Eldridge exercises her thorough stage training and obtains more than a little variety from a part that could have been simply atmospheric. She is photographed better than usual, which is a decided advantage to her forceful personality.

There are others in this large assemblage of talent who contribute outstanding performances. James Gleason is Miss Eldridge's second husband, an unhappy man for awhile. Beryl Mercer is delightful in a small role and favored cook. Lilyan Tashman and Arthur Edmund Carewe also do their bits in excellent fashion.

Larry Ceballos, as his contribution, stages "The California Collegians" in "Words and Music," an elaborate review of Ceballos's customary standard. Miss Florence Robinson is featured in a number entitled "Cannibal Love." Miss Robinson is late of George White's Scandals. The "California Collegians" hold the distinction of having opened Rudy Vallee's club and of having played through the entire run of "Fifty Million Frenchmen," the New York sensation.

HEAT PROVES TRIAL

The current heat wave is proving a real trial to Evelyn Brent. Garbed in heavy outdoor clothing including close-fitting knee-length laced boots and mackinaw jacket, Miss Brent is enacting interior scenes in her current R.-K.-O. vehicle "The Silver Horde." The company only recently returned from filming exteriors in Alaska and immediately upon their return went to work under studio lights wearing apparel created for zero weather.

WOMAN SCORES AS CONDUCTOR

Enormous Crowd Packs Bowl for Antonia Brico

California Girl in First American Bow

Rasch Ballet Excels in Showmanship

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

It was a woman's night at the Bowl and the program, Antonia Brico conducting with the Albertina Rasch Ballet as soloists—drew a record-breaking audience—an audience so large that there were not enough seats and many people sat on the hillsides, as they did the night Ethel Leginska conducted several summers ago. It was a thrilling reception for Miss Brico, who made her first appearance as conductor in America on this occasion. The Rasch Ballet has earned a reputation in pictures and prologues and justified the admiration of a throng of admirers.

Miss Brico, who is from Berkeley and a graduate of the university there, chose the overture to "Der Freischutz" the fifth symphony by Tschaikowsky and the prize song to "Der Meistersingers" for her program. She displayed a stick technique and grasp of the fundamentals which promise much when experience shall have given her assurance and freedom. Unfortunately her rehearsal time at the Bowl was so limited as to prevent her being at ease with the players and the interpretations were of necessity, rather stereotyped.

Brico has been well schooled, is a very serious student of the orchestra and her work commands respect. There is no feminine softness about her, she is most decidedly the masculine type and marked repression characterizes her conducting. Her achievements in Europe and now in America deserve admiration, and if she encourages an evident smoldering fire of temperament which is within her and adds color and personality to her work the future may bring greater success. At any rate, the Bowl audience was interested and applauded warmly after the creditable performance of the Tschaikowsky.

The Rasch Ballet danced to a composition by Mme. Rasch's husband, Dimitri Tiomkin, which had been written for the occasion and was conducted by Arthur Lange, of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. The sixty girls with solo dancers, Dorissa Nelova and Portia Grafton, were effectively costumed in green and purple and their performance was well timed. The choreographic design was up to the Rasch standard and that is placing it high. The moods were variously Russian and modern American and the pervading atmosphere that of the motion-picture or musical extravaganza type. The girls were also up to the Hollywood standards of beauty.

Dorissa Nelova, although not programmed as premiere danseuse, was unmistakably the most interesting solo dancer, displaying in the jazz, a fine abandon and self-forgetting magnetism.

The Tiomkin music, orchestrated principally for harp and woodwinds, was characteristic New York stage music, rather thin at times but a fair vehicle for this sort of dancing which is a combination of toe dancing and show-girl stepping. The audience was transported to the Hippodrome.

Tonight's program at the Bowl will witness the return of Molinari and he will conduct Beethoven's sixth symphony, and Arne Oldberg of Chicago will play his symphonic variations.

REIGN OF BORGIAS MAKES BLOODY TALE

New Filmarte Production High in Atmospheric Value; Locale Entirely Authentic

A production whose value is atmospheric is that which opened last night at the Filmarte. Reawakening the reign of terror during the Italian Renaissance, "Lucrezia Borgia" is important because it has a story to tell, a story from the dark pages of history.

In order to enjoy this example of Richard Oswald's direction, it must be realized first that foreign tempo chooses a pace far more leisurely than ours. And it must likewise be acknowledged that the European story-teller, as a rule, dwells primarily on incident. His camera gathers together a string of happenings, and how logically they are connected, if connected at all, is a matter too trivial for his attention.

"Lucrezia Borgia" was filmed in Italy, and therein lies its chief charm. The settings, both exterior and interior, have a beauty seldom found in the average film. There is an atmosphere of realism so dominant that it is believed the company actually used ancient palaces for its scene of action.

Another note of authenticity is a sequence photographed in the Coliseum at Rome. This depicts a lady being thrown to the lions with all the gusto of the ancient times and also makes a moment very decorative to the eye.

Conrad Veidt is the star in the role of Cesare Borgia, the chief poisoner of all Italy. His performance is carefully shaded into light and shadow. His touch is subtle, but in the mood of the whole his work is leveled almost to monotony without the final fire of climax.

Working under the handicap of being miscast, Lina Haid really accomplishes much with Lucrezia. Partly because that fiery lady's character was changed to sympathy for box-office reasons, Lucrezia appears the soul of girlish honor. Only once, in fact, does she appear to relish the sight of a good poisoning.

The spirit of adventure runs high, if a trifle slow, through this romance of one of Italy's famed families to whom the doing away with life was just a day's sport.

Others seen in the cast are Paul Wegener in a small bit as one of three chosen killers, and James Winship, who is killed off in the flower of his youth.

Copyrighted in 1906 was "A Beast at Bay," an early D. W. Griffith epic starring Mary Pickford. Besides being unusually funny, this serves as a nice study in contrast.

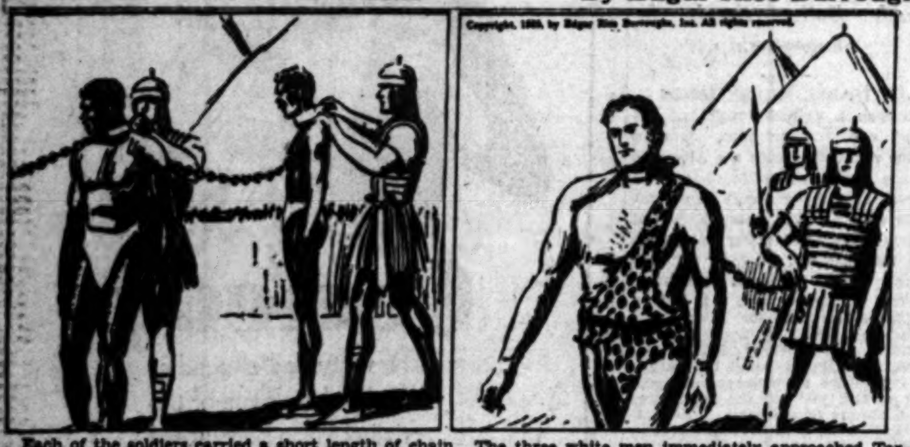
TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE

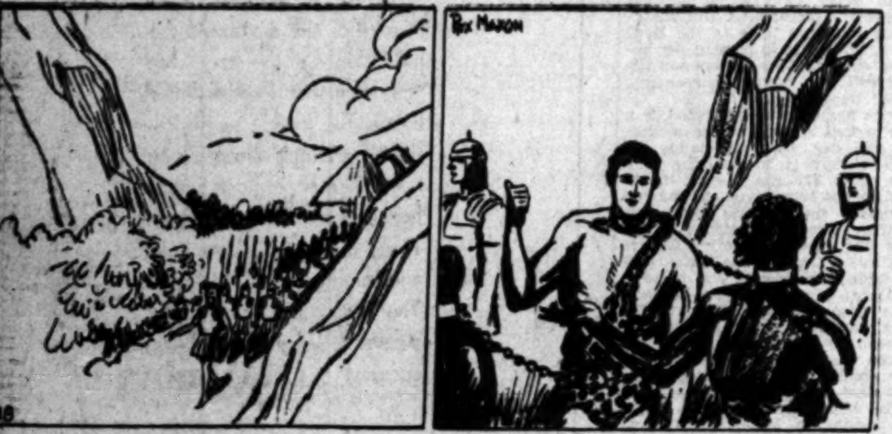
By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Copyright, 1930, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

Each of the soldiers carried a short length of chain, at one end of which was a metal collar and a padlock. Rapidly, they chained the Bagego prisoners, neck to neck. While they were thus occupied, the white man, evidently an officer, was joined by two other whites who were dressed as he was.

The three white men immediately approached Tarzan and questioned him, but they could not make their language understood. The commander issued some instruction and turned away. The result was that Tarzan was not chained to the file of black prisoners, but, though he again wore the iron collar, his chain was held by a legionary.



Rex Maxon

As the raiders marched away from the village, one of the officers and a dozen legionaries marched in advance. These were followed by a line of prisoners, accompanied by another officer and a small guard. Behind the prisoners came a contingent of soldiers herding the cows, goats and sheep of the villagers. The third officer led the rear guard.

The march led along the base of the mountains and presently upward across the rising slopes at the west of the Wiramwazi range. Tarzan's position was at the rear of the line of prisoners, at the end of which marched Lukedi. "Who are these people?" Tarzan asked. "The ghost people of the Wiramwazi," Lukedi replied.

SCIENCE MADE CHURCH AID

Chicago Pastor Will Tell Baptists Significance of Intellectualism to Christianity

The criticism, voiced often by Christians as well as non-Christians, to the effect that the spirit and effectiveness of true Christianity have too little chance of manifestation between the upper and nether millstones of icy intellectualism and unbridled emotionalism, is not without justification, in the opinion of Dr. Herbert Whiting Virgin of Chicago, who will preach at Temple Baptist Church tomorrow morning on "Is Your Christianity a Convenience or a Passion?" Dr. Virgin also will preach in the evening.

"True Christianity has nothing to fear from the advancement of true science," said Dr. Virgin. "On the contrary, Christianity welcomes all intellectual progress, while realizing, at the same time, that the mind is incapable of penetrating into that spiritual realm reserved for the investigation of the soul. Neither does Christianity discount the value of the emotions, so long as they are not allowed to govern life. True Christianity sponsors the development of body, mind and soul, regulates the emotions and the mind and expresses its faith by noble action."

DR. E. E. HELMS

"Judas Iscariot of Palestine and Los Angeles" will be discussed by Dr. E. E. Helms in his sermon tomorrow morning at First Methodist Church. Frank Reyes, Native Son of City, Succumbs

Frank L. Reyes, native Angeleno and veteran county probation officer, died early yesterday at his Puente ranch after a lingering illness. He was 65 years of age.

Mr. Reyes was born in a homestead at what is now Seventh and Main streets, his parents having been among the Spanish settlers. As a young man he engaged in the hay, grain and feed business, which he left in 1905 to become a guardian of children in the county's first Juvenile Hall. With the organization a few years later of the County Probation Department he was made a probation officer, being given badge No. 1. He remained active until stricken with his fatal illness.

Mr. Reyes leaves his widow, Mrs. Marie Reyes; two daughters, Mrs. Emily Brocksieper and Mrs. Birdie Cooke, both of Los Angeles; three sisters, Mrs. Sadie Stoll, Beverly Hills; Mrs. Rose Vejar, Hollywood, and Miss Emma Reyes, Los Angeles, and two brothers, John Reyes, Taft, and Thomas Reyes, Atlantic City, N. J.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at the Ivy Overholtzer mortuary, 1719 South Flower street, at 1:30 p.m. and at St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, Twelfth and Los Angeles streets, at 2 p.m. Interment will be in Calvary Cemetery.

BOARD AUTHORIZED TO EXECUTE CONTRACT

The Board of Public Works was authorized yesterday by the City Council to execute the contract for the improvement of streets in the Barrington avenue and Rochester avenue district, the contract already having been awarded for $88,489.

Taxi Companies Battling Over Board Ruling

The meeting of the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation yesterday developed a battle between representatives of the Yellow Cab Company and the Red Top Cab Company, the former of which operates more than 300 taxicabs in the city and the latter about 170.

The first point of controversy was the board's recent order specifying that at Olympic Auditorium the ratio of taxicabs allowed to get into line at the entrance shall be two Yellows to one of all the other companies. Elmer Robinson, attorney, appearing for the Red Top Company, complained that his company had been given only twenty minutes' notice of the hearing, which resulted in this ruling being made, and he also insisted the ruling is illegal. Meyer M. Willner, attorney for the Yellow company, upheld the legality of the ruling.

After considerable argument the board decided not to grant Robinson's demand for an immediate abrogation of the ruling, but it promised to go further into the question and asked both sides to present written briefs on it. The board also will obtain an opinion from the City Attorney on the legality of its ruling.

MOTHER OF BUYER TO BE BURIED TODAY

The funeral services for Mrs. Maria A. Harms, mother of Miss Anna W. Harms, assistant buyer for the B. H. Dyas Company, will be conducted today at 2 p.m. in Pierce Brothers Chapel, 720 West Washington street. Interment will be made in Inglewood Park Cemetery. Mrs. Harms died at her home at 1036 West Fifty-fifth street, at 83 years of age. She lived in California twenty-five years. She leaves two other daughters, Miss Minnie M. Harms and Mrs. Helen L. Hoff.
